Johnson Proposes Sweeping Revisions In Draft System

College Student Callups Undecided

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson told Congress today he will curb unfairness in the draft by ordering callups of 19-year-olds first, picking them by lottery, and tightening deferments.

While announcing sweeping revision of the Selective Service System, he pput off a decision on whether college undergraduates should be deferred. Their deferments wll continue, he said, while he awaits more congressional and public debate of this politically thorny issue.

Johnson told the House and Senate in a special message that he will halt deferments for graduate students, except those in medical and dental schools. He said many post-graduates "have managed to pile deferment on deferment until they passed the normal cut-off point for induction."

Officials said it will take at least a year and probably longer for the lottery system to come into effect because so many details have to be worked out. Johnson set a Jan. 1, 1969, deadline for completing the overhaul.

Administration experts said it also will take some time —how much, they do not know —for Johnson to issue new orders on deferments, since this too carries many unsolved complications.

NO DEFERMENTS

But in essence, they said, there would be no marriage deferments or deferments for fatherhood except in hardship cases. Other hardship deferments also would continue but on a "tightened" and nationally standardized basis.

The heart of the new system will be what Johnson called "a fair and impartial random system of selection" —a method still to be devised by a special task force but one which officials said would resemble a lottery.

Men of 18 who are classified 1-A would be placed in a "selection pool" from which the needed number would be chosen when they are 19. Since this pool would be replenished annually with new 18-year-olds, men who are not called would be less vulnerable to induction as each year passes.

College students or others with deferments would be placed in the current year's selection pool when their deferments expire if they are under 35 years of age and they could be picked as if they were 19-year-olds in that particular year.

AGE BRACKET

For non-deferred men in the 19 to 26 age bracket now subject to induction, the order of call would be reversed from its present "oldest first" concept. Officials said this would not mean a significant change now, with draftees averaging 20½ years of age, but it would be important in later years.

In adopting the "youngest first" and lottery concepts, Johnson went along with his 20-member National Advisory Commission on Selective Service whose report he made public Saturday. But in deferring action on college deferments, he shelved the commission's majority view that these should be abolished.

He also decided to order a detailed study —rather than acceptance —of the commission's proposals to wipe out the nation's 4,100 volunteer-operated draft boards and set up 300 to 500 area offices where civil servants would register and classify registrants.

Johnson wrapped his draft package into a message asking Congress to extend for another four years the Selective Service law which is scheduled to expire June 30.

Voters At Polls Tomorrow In Hotly Contested Issue

Sausalitans will vote tomorrow on a $250,00 bond measure for a new waterfront library.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and city hall expects to have partial returns available by 8 p.m. Deadline to return absentee ballots is 5 p.m. today.

The proposed 10,500-square-foot library would replace the present aged library jammed upstairs above city hall. The new library would be built northeast of Vina Del Mar Plaza.

The $446,716 library would be financed by the bonds, a $148,906 federal grant and $82,885 already accumulated for the building from a five-cent tax. Proponents of the measure argue that a three-cent increase in the five-cent tax will finance re-payment of the bonds.

The 14,000-square-foot site is owned by the city, but 8,342 square feet are leased until 2002 to Madden and Lewis and subleased to Mac-Marin, operator of the Spinnaker Restaurant. The city has an agreement with both to buy back the lease for $20,000, if the bond measure passes.

The library would hold about 40,000 volumes, feature a special section for children and space for cultural exhibits. Opening off the main room would be a broad terrace for outdoor reading and boat-watching.

The question of where to put the library has been controversial for 55 years, and selection of the waterfront site is the principal source of opposition to the bond measure. Opposing it are the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, a majority of the planning commission and an informal group of 42 citizens. All object the library would spoil waterfront views and add to traffic congestion.

Opposition also centers on the size of the library, opponents arguing it would be too large for the city's needs. The size was determined by state and federal guidelines that a library provide one square foot of space per person expected to live in the city in 20 years. By 1987, 10,000 to 12,000 persons are expected to live in Sausalito.

Urging passage of the bond measure are the city council, library board, Sausalito Woman's Club, many residents active in the citizens committee for the new library and the city's "701" planners, William Spangle and Associates.

Members of the Sausalito Foundation and Sausalito Citizens Council split on the measure, and failed to take positions on it.

Chance Arrest Reveals List Of Violations

A Sunday shopping trip and an alert off-duty policeman combined yesterday to put 18-year-old Michael Edward Overstreet in Marin County Jail on $14,000 bail.

Patrolman Paul Robin of Novato police was in the Nave Shopping Center yesterday afternoon when he saw Overstreet, wanted on a series of Novato traffic violations with bail totaling $250.

Robin arrested Overstreet, who gave his address as 1309 Leafwood Drive, Novato, and took him to the county jail.

There, he discovered arrest warrants were outstanding against the youth, with a San Rafael address, charging burglary of the Montgomery Ward and Co. store in Corte Madera on Jan. 4, passing worthless checks at the same store, and conspiracy to defraud through use of a joint checking account established with Gordon Keith Jennings at Crocker Citizens National Bank in San Rafael.

Bail on the series of charges totaled $14,000, Novato police reported.

Nelson Eddy, Screen Radio Idol, Dies In Florida Of Stroke At 65

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Nelson Eddy, the blond baritone whose ringing songs of love made him an idol of motion pictures and radio three decades ago, died today of a stroke.

Eddy was 65, and his career had survived temporary eclipse when his many movies made as co-star with the late Jeanette MacDonald became something for a younger generation to laugh at. He formed a new partnership with Gail Sherwood, and became a top attraction in night clubs.

A trouper, he failed to make his last singing engagement. He had just been introduced at the Sans Souci Hotel last night, for a one night stand, when he collapsed.

"Oh, I can't talk," he gasped. "Something's wrong! I can't see!"

The six-foot singer was caught by others on the stage before he fell to the floor. They helped him to a chair to await an ambulance.

The tall, wavy-haired masculine half of the "America's Sweethearts" team of the great days of Hollywood musicals—willowy Miss MacDonald was his partner-was rushed to a hospital where his illness was at first announced as minor.

Death was due to a stroke, doctors said, caused by a blood clot on the brain. He died about 8 a.m. at Mount Sinai Hospital.

The handsome baritone said in a recent interview, "I'm working harder than I ever have in my life. I love it.

Intelligence Operators Fear CIA Exposure Blunts Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials active in United States intelligence operations have expressed fear that some of their most effective weapons have been blunted by disclosures of the secret financial support provided by the Central Intelligence Agency to other groups, the New York Times said today.

The story also said in part:

These officials, in this country and abroad, argued in defense of the controversial CIA programs. They said the funds involved amounted to "only a fraction" of investments by Communist nations in covert attempts to penetrate Western and neutralist governments.

An intricate web of underground political activities and propaganda by American intelligence has been exposed to public view since disclosure last month of the CIA's support for the National Student Association.

New York Times correspondents in various capitals interviewed U.S. officials and other qualified people not normally available to be questioned.

Among the points that emerged are these: U.S. aid to student and youth groups around the world has been effectively halted by the disclosures: and American intelligence officials see a sense of false security in this country — what one officials called "a misunderstanding of the arena of conflict."

REAGAN GIVES REAGAN AIDE SPEED TICKET

Officer Ronald Reagan — badge No. 130.

Philip M. Battaglia, Reagan's (the governor) executive secretary, was cited by Reagan the officer) for going 43 miles an hour in a 25-mile-an-hour zone. The speed was clocked by radar.

Officer Reagan and Governor Reagan are no relation.

Battaglia agreed to appear in court on the speeding charge within 11 days. The fine would be $32. Normal procedure, a court official said, is to post bail and then forfeit it by not appearing in court.

Hoffa's Jail Plea Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal appeals court brusquely denied another effort by Teamster President James R. Hoffa to prevent being taken to jail tomorrow.

A three-judge panel heard arguments by Hoffa's attorneys asking a delay of his imprisonment, then ruled against him only minutes later.

The powerful $100,000-a-year union chief was expected to carry his last-ditch struggle to the Supreme Court immediately but with little chance of success.

U.S. Lifts Secrecy On Yank Casualties

SAIGON (UPI) —Military spokesmen today for the first time lifted the secrecy curtain over exact daily U.S. combat losses and revealed American troops killed at least 80 Communists at a cost of 24 Americans slain and 74 wounded in jungle fighting throughout South Vietnam.

They said the United States lost six helicopters and listed four crewmen missing.

The spokesmen also confirmed that two U.S. Air Force F4C Phantom jets were responsible for the bombing and strafing of a friendly village that killed 83 Vietnamese and wounded 175 more in the war's worst accidental air raid.

Until today U.S. military officials classified exact American casualties daily as secret, saying such date was valuable to the Communists. But they announced exact figures will now be given to avoid the confusion of the former "light," "moderate" and "heavy" casualty reports and to undercut Communist claims of greater U.S. losses.

According to the exact report, the Marines suffered the most American casualties the past 24 hours—15 men killed and 38 wounded. But they also killed the most Communists—35.

The Leathernecks battled the Communists in a series of firefights in the deep jungles just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) dividing South and North Vietnam.

The fighting there followed by two days the Marines' slaying of 300 Communists, part of three North Vietnamese army divisions trying to push south through the Leatherneck defenses.

The other major casualties came in two other former Communist strongholds. In War Zone C, the Cambodian border jungles 70 miles northwest of Saigon, U.S. Army troops killed 25 Viet Cong while suffering one man killed and 28 injured, 20 of them in a pre-dawn sneak guerrilla mortar attack on a 25th Infantry Division company today. Deep in the Mekong Delta, the heartland of guerrilla recruiting, U.S. Army 9th Infantry Division troops killed 20 Viet Cong while suffering five men wounded.

Two U.S. helicopters plumeted to earth over the Marines battling in the north. Another pair went down while aiding the 9th Division in the Delta.

The major helicopter loss, the downing of a big Army Chinook choper last night, came over the guerrilla-infested coastal plains 280 miles north of Saigon. Eight Americans were killed and three injured.

The sixth lost helicopter went down from unknown causes in the Saigon River just two miles from the capital. The four men aboard, listed as missing, were feared dead.

Other U.S. losses included the wounding of seven Americans in a guerrilla mortar attack early today against the giant U.S. Air Force bast at Chu Lai, 330 miles north of here.

Teens Cited For Marijuana At School Dance

Two Tamalpais Valley teenagers were cited Friday night by police for possession of marijuana at a junior high school dance at Mill Valley Community and Youth Center.

One, a 14-year-old girl, told police that a girl friend gave her two hand-rolled marijuana cigarettes to give to a boy at the dance. An adult chaperone found the boy, 13, smoking marijuana in the boys' room. Both were cited to appear in Junvenile Court and released to custody of their parents.

The 14-year-old girl who reportedly supplied the cigarettes, also a resident of Tamalpais Valley, told police Saturday that she bought three marijuana cigarettes last month from an unidentified man in Sausalito. She was not cited.

The dance was for Edna Maguire School students.

Nose Count Formula Is Explained

BERKELEY (UPI)—The difficult art of crowd counting has received some refinements lately, thanks to the efforts of a University of California journalism lecturer and long-time newsman.

Herbert Jacobs unveiled his "Jacobs Crowd Formula" during the weekend in the hope of bringing some degree of accuracy to the size estimates of rallies, demonstrations and just plain crowds.

The formula calls for walking off the width and length of a gathering and adding to two figures. The total is then multiplied by ten for tightly packed crowds or seven for loosely gathered crowds.

Jacobs perfected his formula by studying crowds at the university, including a student strike rally last Dec. 1. The strike committee said 8,000 students voted to boycott classes. Other observers placed the figure at between 5,000 and 10,000.

Jacobs enlarged a photo of the gathering and counted a total of 2,804 heads.

Crash Of Jet Kills 56 At Africa Village

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (UPI) —A Brazilian Varig Airlines DC-8 jetliner crashed into a native village yesterday while attempting to land at a fog-shrouded airport in Liberia. Forty-six persons were reported killed.

Reports radioed here from the crash scene said 51 of the 90 persons aboard the four-jet, U.S.-built plane were killed, including one American. Five villagers also were killed.

Varig Airlines said the plane, en route from Beirut, Lebanon, to Rio de Janeiro, slammed into the sleeping West African village just off the runway at Robertsfield Airport, about 40 miles from the Liberian capital of Monrovia. Investigators sought today to find out how it happened.

Burning wreckage ploughed 500 yards through a maize field and stopped just short of a munitions factory, reports said.

$50,000 Damage In Mission Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A three-alarm fire in San Francisco's Mission District did an estimated $50,000 damage yesterday Two persons overcome by smoke were rescued by firemen.

Investigators said they believed the fire started in the lint traps of self - service laundry dryers at 3560 20th St.

The fire spread to adjoining flats and rooming houses.

All 38 Aboard Die In Ohio Plane Crash

KENTON, Ohio (UPI) — Residents of this northwestern Ohio farm area said they heard one or more explosions last night before a Lake Central Airlines passenger plane plunged into a bean patch, killing all 38 persons aboard.

The airline, which never before had a fatal crash, received a telephone bomb threat last week against another airliner. That threat proved unfounded.

The FBI, which joined other agencies at the crash scene, usually is called in to help make identification of bodies and to investigate the possibility of a bomb explosion. There was no fire at the crash and identification was not expected to be difficult.

Investigators today combed a snow-covered soybean field for pieces of wreckage and clues to determine why the twin-engine prop jet slammed to earth in a freezing rain.

The crash occurred about eight miles northeast of here on a farm owned by Charles Redding. The scene was sealed off while the wreckage, scattered over an area a mile wide, was searched by FBI agents, the state highway patrol and a 12-member team from the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB).

Most of the dead were still strapped in their seats. The bodies were taken to a temporary morgue at Mifflin TWP High School in nearby Marseilles.

The crash was the first major air disaster in the United States since Aug. 6, 1966, when a Braniff Airlines BAC111 went down near Falls City, Neb., killing all 42 aboard.

The Lake Central Flight No. 527 had originated in Chicago, departing 15 minutes late, and made stops in Lafayette, Ind., and Cincinnati before the stop at Columbus. It left Columbus about 7:20 p.m. EST bound for Toledo and Detroit.

Hardin County Sheriff James Baldridge said the pilot was last heard from when he radioed Indianapolis and said he was climbing from 8,000 to 10,000 feet but gave no reason.

At 8:17 p.m. Mrs. Norman Cochran telephoned the sheriff's office to report she had heard a plane in trouble "and the next thing we heard was an explosion."

Guards Defect

BERLIN (UPI) —Two East German border guards, aged 20 and 21, slipped safely into West Berlin in full uniform and carrying their weapons last night, Western police said. Their fellow guards did not spot their flight across the Communist wall, the police said.

De Gaulle Given Confidence Vote

PARIS (UPI) —A record turnout of French voters gave President Charles de Gaulle today the national vote of confidence he demanded for his "strong man" rule.

Results of yesterday's first-round polling for a new 486-seat national assembly assured the 76-year-old general he will have the majority he wants for the next five years of making France "great."

It indicated De Gaulle will continue his policies of personalized nationalism including his self-styled role as world peacemaker and critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

"De Gaulle appealed to the country to return a Gaullist majority and the country has heeded his call," Premier Georges Pompidou said after 22.8 million voters turned out to make it France's greatest postwar parliamentary election.

GOP Will Expand Governing Body

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Top Republicans are willing to expand the already large GOP State Central Committee —but they may tighten the reigns on the relatively independent volunteer political groups.

The Republican Executive Committee, major ruling body of the official party, agreed at a Saturday closed-door meeting to boost membership in the 900-member State Central Committee by:

NEW LINEUP

Changing a 1964 anti-Goldwater law giving incumbents eight appointments to the central committee while party nominees get only three. Under the suggested new lineup, newly elected Republicans would also be able to pick eight committee members. Presently, for example, Gov. Ronald Reagan can appoint only three members.

HALLEY ELECTED

chairmen to nominate up to three members for the central committee on a sliding scale basis, depending on the county's population and number of seats in the state legislature.

PROPOSED CHANGES

Republican State Chairman James Halley disclosed the proposed changes to newsmen. He said they were "not munumental" and they may not even be proposed as laws during the 1967 legislature.

But a 1964 law expanding the number of apointments for incumbent legislators and congressmen played a key role in keeping avid backers of U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater from taking control of the central committee that year.

Party regulars, primarily legislators, congressmen and their appointees, won a test vote in the central committee in August 196 4by a 150-vote margin, almost precisely the number of additional appointments their beefed-up power had given them.

HALLEY ELECTED

As a result, Halley was elected vice-chairman and a full slate of party moderates followed him into office. His opponent, backed by Goldwater's key supporters, was Vern Cristina of San Jose, recently appointed to the State Highway Commission by Reagan.

The 75-member executive committee took no action in its Saturday meeting on a move to give the party more power to discipline the volunteer groups, but Halley said this was one of the topics under study.

'66 Birth Rate Takes Deep Dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) —During 1966 the U.S. birth rate declined to the lowest level since the depression year of 1936 and total births were the lowest since 1950, according to the U.S. Public Health Service.

In a report issued during the weekend, the service said the birth rate last year dropped to 18.5 births per 1,000 population, continuing the decline from 1957, the most recent peak year, when the rate was 25.3.

Births totaled 3,629,000 during 1966, down 131,000 from 1965, and the fertility rate also declined to 91.8 births per 1,000 women, the lowest since 1957. The only rising statistic, the service said, was the number of marriages —1,844,000 in 1966.

3,000 Sing Praises For Ousted Powell

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 3,000 persons jammed into Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church yesterday, shouting praises of their pastor, Adam Clayton Powell, and roaring protests over his exclusion from his congressional seat.

The three-hour rally threatened to break up in disorder at the very beginning. When called upon to open the meeting with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," cries of "no, no, no" began drowning out those in the audience who were singing.

Cleveland Robinson, a rally sponsor, reminded the congregation: "This is a house of worship. Don't let's lose our heads."

Robinson is president of the Negro American Labor Council and a member of the City Commission on Human Rights.

Powell sent a message from Bimini, the Bahamas, saying Congress was "determined to show the people of Harlem that they can't have a congressman until they find one who will shuffle a little."

Powell is charged with misusing public funds while chairman of the House Labor and Education Committee.

Commercial Nuclear Plant Safety Called 'Inaccurate'

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An Assembly committee report saying that California's commercial nuclear plants are "superlatively safe" has been challenged as "useless" and "inaccurate."

David Peosnen, executive secretary of the Northern California Association to preserve Bodega Head and Harbor, voiced criticism during the weekend of the findings of the two-year study on probable public exposure to dangerous amounts of radiation from operation of power plants.

"Informed laymen in search of a comprehensive analysis of the present administrative setup of agencies charged with responsibility for nuclear reactor will find the report useless due to its superfaciality," he said.

Pesonen said the report, released during the weekend by the Assembly Committee on Industrial Relations, contained a number of "factual errors."

"Were it without errors," he said, "all the information given already is contained in more readable form in pamphlets prepared by the Atomic Energy Commission, the Atomic Industrial Forum and the various utilities," he said.

Pesonen said Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, would not sign the report. Dymally was chairman of the committee when he was an assemblyman.

Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, also disagreed with the report's findings, he said.

Pesonen pointed out that a letter sent to Dymally last month by the Los Angeles chapter of the Federation of American Scientists labeled the report "dangerously inaccurate."

The report concluded it "can find in the AEC's regulatory process, its safety standards, and in the history of nuclear power plant operation nothing that would lead a reasonable man to doubt that nuclear plants are 'safe enough'."

It noted that power plants are in operation in Eureka and San Clemente and two others are planned for the Los Angeles area along with one in San Luis Obsipo county.

'Big Three' Rejects Auto Safety Details

DETROIT (UPI)—The "Big Three" automakers told the federal government today they cannot comply with the new federal car safety standard which details how passengers should be protected in case of a crash.

General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. urged the government to change the standard, considered by many the most important of the government's 20 car safety rules.

G.M. and Chrysler said the rule was not only impossible to meet but also illegal.

G.M. said the "interior impact" rule was not "practical, reasonable or appropriate." Ford said the "substantial engineering changes required cannot be made for 1968 models and probably not in time for 1969 models."

Chrysler said the standard would require so many changes in design, tooling and factory alignment that it "cannot be accomplished by Jan. 1, 1968" when the new rules go into effect.

Chrysler also said the rule violates a section of the new federal safety law which requires the federal standards to be based "upon existing safety standards." G.M. took a similar position.

G.M. said its 1968 models could meet 18 of the 20 standards and could meet a 19th—one prescribing seat anchorages and locks—if the government would exclude limousine jump seats.

Ford proposed minor changes in several other standards but indicated the one on "interior impact" was the only one it considered hopeless.

G.M. said "major revisions" would have to be made in the standard, which many consider the most important of all. The standard prescribes how occupants should be protected from the so-called "second collision" following a wreck.

All auto makers, domestic and foreign, must give Haddon their replied by midnight Tuesday. He then will issue a final set of rules, which go into effect when 1968 model cars begin rolling off assembly lines this summer.

A car maker violating any of the rules faces a $1,000 fine for each substandard car.

EDDY

"I hope to keep on going 'til I drop."

Eddy made many motion pciture musical comedies in the 1930s, most of them based no stage hits of an even earlier era —"Sweethearts," "Rose Marie," "Naughty Marietta," "Maytime," "The Chocolate Soldier" were among them.

Often he was in uniform, of a Canadian Mountie, a German university student, a royal figure in a mythical country. His well-built figure as well as the blond hair—which turned gray in recent years—made him a favorite of women, and men found his charm easy to accept.

If some of his movies were stuffy and stilted, he showed another side in frequent radio appearances with ventriloquist Edgar Bergen and his dummy, Charlie McCarthy.

The concert stage added to his income in the years before World War II. But he never did become a singer of grand opera. Some critics said his voice was too lush, and that he had chosen the easier course of Hollywood money.

Fans often thought that he and the late Miss Mac Donald were married because of the apparent sincerity of their love scenes together. But they were only goods friends and strong admirers of each other. Eddy was married in 1939 to Ann Denitz Franklin.

Miss MacDonald died in January, 1965. She was the wife of actor Gene Raymond.

He was born June 29, 1901, in Providence, R. I. He began singing in a boy's choir and later studied under well-known teachers.

Weird-Looking Flying Device Lost In Sea

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A wingless flying device—that looks like a flatiron with fins—made a successful flight down the Pacific Missile Range, then sank in the sea and was lost, the Air Force reports.

Officers said the second version of the prime maneuverable lifting body re-entry vehicle was boosted aloft from this West Coast missile complex yesterday aboard an Atlas rocket.

BODY LIFT

The vehicle is designed to obtain aerodynamic lift from the shape of its body, allowing higher speeds for re-entering the atmosphere than normal winged craft could withstand.

An Air Force spokesman said the 890-pound test vehicle sped down the 5,000-mile range at about five times the speed of sound before it re-entered the atmosphere and was lost.

"We like to recover the craft, but if you've got good telemetry, you've got 90 per cent of the program," he explained.

The first craft in the Prime series was also lost at sea. Spokesmen blamed a malfunction in the parachute recovery operation for the loss.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is also experimenting with similar lifting bodies at Edwards Air Force Base. Several successful manned flights have been made in shapes designated the M2F2 and HL10.

Reagan, Unruh Sure To Collide Over Withholding Tax Policies

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, possibly the legislature's most powerful Democrat, were on a collision course today over the issue of withholding tax.

Reagan said he would never reconsider his opposition to use of the payroll withholding system for collecting the state income tax.

ESSENTIAL PART

But Unruh, in a speech today in Chicago, made it clear he considers withholding to be an essential part of any major tax program. By making it more difficult to cheat on state income tax payments, a withholding system would produce an estimated $75 million a year without an increase in the tax rate.

Reagan plans to send his tax program to the legislature Wednesday. Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, will introduce the measure.

Finance Director Gordon P. Smith said last week the tax package would total almost $900 million, four times as large as the biggest tax boost ever enacted by a California legislature.

REAGAN'S PLAN

Philip Battaglia, the governor's executive secretary, told the Republican Executive Committee in San Francisco Saturday that Reagan would propose $215 million in direct and indirect property tax relief as part of his tax program.

Of that total, he said $120 million would go to direct property tax relief while $50 million would be ticketed to added state support to local school districts and $45 million to keep the state's medicare program in the black.

He said the tax relief would jump to $425 million in the 1968-69 budget year.

The governor's program was denounced by a fellow Republican even though it has not yet been officially unveiled.

Sen. John G. Schmitz of Tusentin, a member of the John Birch Society, said a tax program of the size outlined by Smith would mark "a tragic end to the brightest hope on the American political scene today."

TUITION HIT

He said 3.75 million voters "put their faith in Ronald Reagan to lead them out of the endless spiral of spend and tax.

The legislature began its 10th week today following the usual weekend recess.

The speaker denounced Reagan's plan to charge tuition at the University of California and the state colleges.

Unruh said he was not opposed to "a tuition proposal per se." But he said Reagan should not to try to use tuition as a source of state revenue.

"There are other, thoroughly-studies revenue sources available in California," Unruh said. "The withholding of income taxes, for example," would produce more new revenue each year than the governor's proposed tuition would produce for many years to come."

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post said withholding would produce a windfall of $203.1 million the first year it is imposed in addition to the continuing revenue it would produce by collecting from persons who now escape paying.

But Reagan contends taxes should hurt and withholding makes payment too easy.

'FREE TICKET'

"It's just a free ticket for future bureaucrats to drain the people's resources a little more quickly and a little easier," he said recently.

Unruh also charged Reagan was trying to win support for his tuition plan by appealing "to an incipient distrust of high- were on a collission course to-

"This administration is attempting to justify tuition as a punishment for student activists," Unruh said. "Even if it were just to use taxation for this purpose, the tuition method is both unfair and illogical.

"It is unfair because it is, in effect, a fine on all students levied for the real and imagined infractions of a small minority.

LOGICAL PLAN

"The logic of tuition as a device for weeding out undesirables is contradicted by the facts," he added. "The students who demonstrated recently at Stanford in opposition to Vice President (Hubert) Humphrey's appearance there, pay a tuition of some $1,800 a year."

The governor admitted last week that the tuition plan was dead for the coming school year. But he vowed to continue campaigning for imposition of tuition beginning in the fall of 1968.

Salinger Enters JFK Book Report

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger says author William Manchester thought Mrs. John F. Kennedy was "'entitled to protection" during the preparation of his book "Death of a President."

Salinger's version of negotiations for the book appeared yesterday in the Los Angeles Times' "West" magazine.

Salinger said he contacted Manchester early in 1964 to begin negotiations for the book, while he was still handling press relations for the Kennedy family. He is now a vice president of Continental Airlines.

Of the negotiations with Manchester, Salinger said, "He told me that Mrs. Kennedy was entitled to protection, that he was confident he would do nothing that would offend her sensibilities, but that she and Robert Kennedy (the late president's brother, then attorney general and now U.S. senator) would and certainly should have the right of review."

Salinger quoted from a letter he said Manchester wrote to Robert Kennedy: "I agree that it is important that Mrs. Kennedy and you should review the manuscript. If you had not suggested this, I would have."

More State School Fund Controls Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — States may soon have increased control over the spending of of federal aid to education, according to U.S. Office of Education officials.

Wayne O. Reed, associate commission for federal- state relations, told a meeting of the Education Commission of the States yesterday general aid eventually will supplant "categorical aid."

"Many voices from many quarters are calling now fow general aid—some of them the very same voices that once spoke against it," said Reed.

Regardless of who decides how the money is to be spent, Reed said it carries with it a restriction against segregation in the school district.

Roger W. Heyns, University of California Chancellor at Berkeley, told the educators the university is "under severe attack" from persons who dislike the school's role of "conserving and preserving."

"One group fears change and the other group resents university ties to the establishment," said Heyns.

Highway Division To Junk Magazine

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state Division of Highways is going out of the business of publishing a slick-paper magazine.

Gordon D. Luce, administrator of the state transportation agency, has announced publication of the "California Highways and Public Works" has been suspended. He said more than $150,000 will be saved by the move.

The magazine had been in black and white, although a multi-colored issue yas printed late last year dealing primarily with scenic areas in California. The administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan has issued an order banning all multi-colored state publications.

Luce said the magazine has been mailed free of charge to about 80,000 persons and he pointed out the unfairness of the state subsidizing such a publication for the benefit of a very small percentage of the population.

"There are more pressing duties requiring the services of the employees now involved in writing, printing and publishing the magazine," Luce said. "We are getting excellent coverage right now on those aspects of highway planning, construction and maintenance that are of public interest from all elements of the California news media."

Luce said it was determined that, if subscribers to the magazine were charged enough to pay publication costs it would be prohibitive. He said the January-February edition of the magazine, all ready for the printer, will be published and that will be the last.

Alert Woman Cabbie Halts Bridge Leaper

An alert woman cabbie turned her fare over to California Highway Patrol Saturday when he announced he intended to jump from the Golden Gate Bridge.

Glen Mae Skutt, an Oakland cab driver, told the patrol she picked up George Joseph Trante, 28, of Alameda, in Oakland at 4:30 p.m. He said he wanted to go sightseeing at the Golden Gate Bridge but, she stated, as the cab approached the toll lanes, Trante said, "I hate to tell you this but I don't have any money. I came over here to jump off the bridge.

Trante told patrol officer Merlyn I. Baarts he was an unemployed lithographic photographer with a "drinking problem." He was taken to San Francisco General Hospital.

Frederick R. Osborne, 77, of Garrison, N.Y., was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with back injuries after his car ran off Wharf Road in Bolinas at 4:30 p.m. yesterday.

California Highway Patrol reported Osborne's car hit a parked car belonging to M. A. Dowdall, 386 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael.The patrol said the driver reported his gas pedal stuck.

Osborne has been visiting relatives at 38 Peninsula Road, Belvedere.

The patient is described as five-feet, seven-inches, weighing 112 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes. When last seen walking from the rest home toward Frontage Road at 10:30 a.m., Howell was wearing a plaid shirt and brown pants, coat and shoes.

It's Bicycle Weather; Observe Safety Rules

After a long siege of rain, floods and cold weather, the current stretch of spring-like weather is bringing the youngsters out into the streets in hordes.

Days are getting longer, and that magic period between the end of a school day and suppertime finds children hopping onto their bicycles to release some of that pent-up exuberance.

This is the time for parents to remind children again of the importance of observing traffic laws and safety precautions.

The California Newspaperboy Foundation Inc. has published some bicycle safety suggestions that should be useful to youngsters in general:

Always use a headlight and red reflector at night. Be seen, not hurt.

Keep your mechanical equipment in A-1 order, brakes in particular. Stop, don't flop.

Use caution at open intersections. The right-of-way is not important to a doctor.

Ride on the right, in a straight line. Fancy riding is a straight line to the hospital.

Never criss-cross busy streets. Drivers may zig while you zag.

Turn blind corners with caution, particularly hedge-hidden driveways and corners of buildings. Someone may be there ahead of you.

Watch for pedestrians and children playing They do some silly things sometimes.

Never carry more than you can control safely on a bike.

Motorists, too, should not let good weather lull them into a sense of false security. Slick pavement and fogged windshields no longer haunt the driver, but these dangers are now replaced by hazards that are even more unpredictable—youngsters who dart into traffic on impulse or thread their bicycles through busy streets and make sudden turns without signalling.

Weekend driving in spring weather can be a pleasure, if the motorist cyclist and pedestrian remain constantly on the alert for each other's welfare.

A Spring Cold

With spring bursting out all over, we go about our work with reddened eyes and a runny nose. Is there no justice, no sense of the season in our physical system that it is so out of touch with its surroundings that it becomes ill while Nature rejoices?

That's how we feel about our spring cold. To think, with every sneeze a hundred flowers open.

Lagunitas School's Problems Discussed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On behalf of the Committee for Sensible School Construction, please accept my thanks for your editorial, for the fair presentation of the portable classroom situation as written by Pat Perry, and for the comments of Bryce Anderson in his column, "The People's Schools", all of which appeared on February 10.

When enrollment in the Lagunitas School District began to exceed the capacity of the school several years ago, it was suggested that primary grades be placed on double sessions again . . . As a parent and former school trustee, I have had ample opportunity to learn that double sessions actually provide only half as much education and contribute greatly in later years to school dropouts and juvenile delinquency . . .

I urged the board to use portable classrooms as I believe them to be a most practical solution on a temporary basis . . .

Unfortunately, portables are only intended to be a temporary solution but soon become accepted as permanent . . . They also often multiply so fast within a quickly growing district that their economy value vanishes . . .

In Lagunitas . . . the 20-cent override tax voted two years ago to cover ALL the expenses of three now does not even cover the rental and utilities of the seven in use here . . .

It will be necessary to use the portables in Lagunitas until new classrooms are built; probably this will take up to two years.

Your efforts on behalf of our bond election have been greatly appreciated.

How Many Other Marin 'Mansions'?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Fire at 1364 Grand Avenue (San Rafael) — No serious injuries! No fatalities! Incredible!

How many other 1364 Grand Ave. houses do we have in Marin and will we be as lucky in the future?

. . . our . . . regulatory agencies should . . . take the necessary joint actions to be sure that rooming houses (apartments?) are thoroughly inspected . . . and most important to be sure the facility is not overcrowded.

We own and have lived at 1360 Grand Ave. for seven years and the burned "mansion" and our home are about 50 feet apart . . .

. . . With all the cut-up rooms in three floors of the "mansion" the firemen had to approach the fire from many locations, some of which were extremely dangerous to them.

Certainly a fireman's job is hazardous and their fine performance in the rescue operations and in fighting and controlling this fire deserve the highest compliments, but I know we and they would rather not have had this situation or others like it in the future.

I don't know how often 1364 Grand Avenue was inspected by the fire department, health department or building inspectors but we have become "waving" acquaintances with most of the police department. It seems that police cars made at least a weekly trip to 1364 Grand Avenue . . . Do these departments keep each other advised about these situations, if not, why can't they? I ask this question because in your article about the fire — "Morrison Green, assistant building inspector, was checking into reports that 28 persons should not have been accommodated in a building that size."

Vietnam Warrior Challenges Pacifists

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There is a loud cry from America that reaches each of us stationed in Viet Nam. It is the hurt, prideless, gutless cry of the "pacifist." It is a dissonance to our ears. The cry is peace. But what quality of peace do they ask? Is it the peace the colonists fought for in the eighteenth century or the first and second world wars? I doubt it. The peace our dissenters seek is not a peace America gained but a peace resigned to our adversaries. We must fight for peace. It is one of life's most perplexing paradoxes.

I would like to pose a few questions to our well-meaning pacifists. Where were you 190 years ago when America won her independence from Great Britain? How many of you pioneered the length and width of a virgin land paving roads to America's future? How many of you devoted your lives to the progress of our country? How many of you can claim any responsibility for making America the richest most powerful nation in the world in the shortest span of time in the history of civilized man? You were not there. You have not sacrificed. And you have shown no devotion.

And, yet, you want America to lay down her arms and open her arms to her adversaries. You want us to abandon those countries that now have the same hopes and dreams that America had 300 years ago. You want us to stand up and say, "Take it. It's yours. I'll not sacrifice anything for it."

My friends, if that day should ever come when America is abandoned to her adversaries, you shall then know sacrifice. You shall then realize why we are in Viet Nam helping these people in their brave struggle for freedom and independence.

I am proud to be here and I thank God that the cry of the pacifists is a mere mumble of the minority. I would be interested in reading your answers to this letter. My family shall send any letters that appear in this paper.

Council Candidate Omitted From List

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In a recent article naming San Rafael City Council candidates you omitted mention of one man — John A. Miskimen. I'm sure it was a simple oversight, but one that should be corrected.

Miskimen has given distinguished service to San Rafael as a member of the Planning Commission since 1964. He has consistently worked to bring order and direction to the city's growth and development. As a councilman he would be in a position to lend a strong and thoughtful voice in solving the complex problems facing our city.

We are fortunate in having such a well qualified, competent man seeking office.

Congrss Must Not Stop Now In Dealing With Offenders

IRONTON, OHIO — Congress is on notice.

It needs to realize — before it is too late to redeem itself — that taking deserved action against Adam Clayton Powell will be inadequate and will do it harm if it fails to take action to punish and to prevent similar offenses by other members of Congress.

The Bobby Baker case and the Powell case must be the beginning, not the end, of Congressional self-reform.

It isn't enough to punish them without putting an end to the system which made their abuses possible and which tolerates unjustifiable practices by Congressmen.

Voter opinion isn't going to stand for it — and shouldn't.

NEGRO OPINION isn't going to stand for it — and shouldn't.

When I say that Congress is on notice that half a reform, that punishing one or two individuals and then thrusting the rest under the rug, is not good enough, I think I know what I am talking about.

Most people are revolted by Powell's conduct, but they are not going to be amused one little bit if Congress, after dealing with one or two offenders, fails to investigate thoroughly other possible offenders and fails to take strong measures to police the conduct of all its members.

THERE IS AMPLE evidence that the public is alert to the implications of the Baker and Powell misconduct and is not going to be fooled into accepting the idea that they are just two wayward individuals; the public knows full well that their offenses reflect a lax and wayward tolerance of dubious ethics by Congress itself and that something needs to be done about it.

I have been facing public audiences of adults and voting-age students for several days in the Midwest and, while there is anxiety over Vietnam and concern over many other things, a persistent question is: After dealing with Powell, is Congress going to leave it there?

FROM MY assessment of voter opinion, this won't go down and Congress will be well advised to put patty-cake measures behind it.

The Senate Ethics Committee has been dawdling over the Dodd charges.

The House Democratic leadership is talking about turning over future supervision of technical conduct — or misconduct — to the House Administration Committee which never showed any enthusiasm to do anything about it until the Powell offenses became so egregious they couldn't be avoided.

Nepotism is widespread in Congress and nothing has been done to set any standards.

THE CONTROL of committee expenditures by House and Senate chairmen has long been loose and whimsical and unverified.

And one of Bobby Baker's worst offenses seemed to be that the tainted lobby money he raised stuck to his own hands instead of being distributed to the designated Senators.

Powell is not being put upon because he is a Negro; in fact, he is the one who has practised racism by trying to escape the consequences of his misuse of public funds and his contempt of the New York courts by crying racism whenever he was caught in the act.

BUT ROY WILKINS, the wise and responsible leader of the NAACP is absolutely right in saying that, unless the House sets up standards for judging and policing the conduct of members, it will persuade most Negroes — and many others — that Powell really is being singled out because of his race.

Rep. John Conyers Jr. D., Mich., a Negro who voted for the committee resolution to punish Powell, also rightly warns that there must be no double standard.

For all of these reasons, Congress is on notice — and should be.

LBJ Faces Pressure On Surcharge Tax

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Congressional pressure is mounting for President Johnson to shelve his six per cent surcharge tax proposal.

Democratic legislative leaders have reported to the President that the ranking members of the House Ways & Means Committee are opposed to a tax increase this year and want him to drop his proposal.

THIS GROWING bipartisan opposition to the President's proposed tax boost was revealed at a White House legislative meeting by Speaker John McCormack, Mass., and Senate Democratic Whip Russell Long, La., who is also chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

In discussing the prospect of his tax proposal, the President asked the legislators for their views on Sen. William Proxmire's announced opposition to a tax increase this year, stating:

"Senator Proxmire wants me to shelve the six per cent surcharge because of the changing economic climate. Is there any support for this position?"

"I should say there is," replied Senator Long. "In addition to Senator Hartke (Ind.) and myself on the Senate Finance Committee, Senators John Williams (Del.) and Frank Carlson (Kan.), the ranking Republicans, are opposed to any tax increase this year."

SENATOR LONG also reported that Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., had cooled on the idea of boosting taxes, quoting him as saying: "I was for a tax boost last summer, but I am not sure now."

After hearing Long's report, the President turned to McCormack, asking: "What is the situation in the House Ways and Means Committee? I haven't heard anything from Wilbur (Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman)."

While the President gave no hint that the reports of Long and McCormack had caused him to change his plans to push for a tax increase this year, he concluded the meeting by stating: "We can talk some more on taxes later. Hearings won't be for several months. By then we should have more information on the economy."

SECRET CIA REPORT — An affidavit is on file in the National Archives documenting that the State Department received a Central Intelligence Agency report on Lee Harvey Oswald's "current activities" just six weeks before President Kennedy was assassinated.

The affidavit is signed by James D. Crowley, State Department security officer, who reported receiving the document on October 10, 1963, from the CIA.

His statement of the CIA report was turned over to the Warren Commission but never published.

SUBSTITUTE MOTHERS MAKE BIG HIT

An English housewife started an "Emergency Mother Service" which has mushroomed after seven years into an army of 2,621 "substitute mothers."

Hundreds of calls come in from mothers who must go into the hospital, look after sick relatives or make emergency trips. For a moderate salary, plus room and board, a stand-in mother takes care of the family.

"My substitute mothers are basically lonely women who want very much to be needed," the 47-year-old mother of six said. "After 40 or 50 they can't get other jobs, but they are well-trained to run a home and cope with domestic crises. In fact, my major problem is that I can't get enough of them. The demand is greater than the supply."

There are numerous ways in which you can be of service to persons who need the personal attention that you can provide. God has imbued you with the urge to be of use to others.

Seek to fulfill this noble trait and you will both give and receive many blessings.

"Let our people learn to apply themselves to good deeds." (Titus 3:14)

May I find myself through service to others, O Lord.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan Finally Realizes He Can't Beat The Establishment

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The facts of life have caught up with Gov. Ronald Reagan rather soon. With only two months of office behind him, he's found he can't beat the Establishment.

Under the stimulus of just a mild spanking, the Establishment recoiled with the fury of a stallion denied its oats, and charged into the field of taxpayer hay to strip clean the remaining meager stalks from the public pocket.

GORDON SMITH, the governor's director of finance, says the inevitable tax bite, in new or increased taxes this year, will amount to some $865 million. Phil Battaglia, Reagan's top secretary, says this may be wrong.

Smith, appearing before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, admitted the governor's proposed 10 per cent cut in state expenditures couldn't be met. Battaglia, at a subsequent press conference, says the administration is still working on it.

Smith also said tuition charges at the university and state colleges won't be pursued this year, but maybe next.

ALL OF WHICH gives the Establishment time to muster its forces in a propaganda campaign the like of which never will have been seen before. For the Establishment's easy way of living off the largesse of the taxpayer is threatened, and that will never do, no never.

Those who never have heard of the Establishment might well ask just what it is. It's a nebulous term, but nevertheless a reality, something like city hall, which you can't fight and win, but have to join to get what you want.

It is the vast complex of education, with its administrators, professors, teachers, classified employees, non-essential course and monumental buildings used only 75 per cent of the year.

IT IS THE welfare program, dishing out taxpayer dollars to people who could earn a living, but prefer the more enjoyable way of living without toil, both on state aid and unemployment insurance.

It is the formidable army of do-gooders, which insists on the outlay of millions for projects taxpayers no longer can afford.

In short, it is government itself, an army dedicated to mulcting the citizen out of every thirty-cent dollar possible, to maintain and increase its empire in the style to which its bureaucracy is accustomed.

The style gets fancier as the citizen gets poorer.

SMALL WONDER then, that a citizen backed up with a million vote majority, comes to Sacramento as governor for a frontal attack on the Establishment, and suffers major set-backs in the battle before it's hardly begun.

It took the Establishment a good many years to entrench itself with the protective armor of civil service, teacher's tenure, liberal retirements, workmen's compensation, long vacations, extra holidays, munificent expense accounts, and all the other advantages of working for the government. And apparently, it will take a lot longer, much more than a million majority, and the will of the people to break it up.

AS GOV. REAGAN said some weeks ago, "bluntly, we have gone to the fiscal well once too often in California, and that well has run dry."

HARRY LAUDER, the beloved Scottish commedian, used to tell about a compatriot whose wife glanced out of the window one Sunday just as the family was going in to dinner and wailed, "Och, Sandy, here come guests — and I'm sure they haven't eaten yet." Sandy, equal to the emergency, ordered, "Quick, everybody, out on the porch—chewing a toothpick."

"For a long time," recalls Delvin, "he was far left politically and economically. Really far out. But recently he expressed such opposite views that I was startled. 'How come?' I asked him, 'that you've so drastically changed your tune? Why no longer a super-liberal?' 'I found out,' explained the student calmly, 'that they're counting on ME to pay YOUR old age pension.' "

Just Imagine Our Enlightened Leaders Depending On Oracles

Long, long ago when the world was in the cruel grip of ignorance, man would not act without first seeking advice from oracles, or seers, or medicine men or witch doctors.

Sometimes he would not act at all, because he could not understand the advice of the oracles. This meant that he had to find some other oracle to interpret what the first oracle said. If the oracles played their cards right, the thing could go on forever.

THIS IS WHAT we moderns refer to as a racket. You wonder how anyone could be so ignorant as to fall for it.

It is also surprising for those of us living in enlightened times that the people would actually pay money to the oracles. True, they would sometimes put up an old ewe or an ox, which was fairer exchange for the bull they received.

Even more surprising is that the advice of the oracles was taken seriously, and the more expensive it was and the harder it was to understand, the more seriously it was taken.

The trick of being a good oracle was to phrase the obvious in such a way that it could not be understood without further advice. This is what kept an ancient going from one oracle to the next.

Thank goodness such a foolish practice no longer plagues mankind!

CAN YOU IMAGINE what would happen in our own modern and enlightened Marin County if our leaders depended on the words of oracles or the shape of a sheep's liver? Why it might take months before some of our most basic problems were solved.

One insight into human nature the oracles capitalized upon was that they could serve as scapegoats for mistakes. A man could blame his errors on the oracle that told him to act.

Suppose our county leaders fell into such a trap everytime something controversial arose! Suppose with such a question as the location of Highway 17, they said, "Oh we cannot act on this without advice of oracles. We must have a study, take up the whole problem of transportation."

Wouldn't that be tragic? Fortunately, most modern men have more backbone than that. They do not have to rely on oracles.

ANOTHER TRICK the oracle used to stay in business was to keep giving the wrong advice. The poor ancient would keep going to an oracle until he got some advice he could accept. It shows you how stupid people used to be.

Now suppose in our very own Marin, some clever oracle kept telling our leaders that the county ought to get into the public transportation business. "Buy buses," the oracle would say. Can you imagine intelligent men of today, going from one oracle to the next, hearing the same thing, but hoping all the time they would hear some other advice?

You simply cannot imagine modern men trying to operate under such a handicap, but there was a dark time when this was done.

AS YOU KNOW, the oracle, seer, witch doctor and medicine man was protected by the vanity of man he served. How could a fellow have doubts about the sincerity or veracity of an oracle after he had put up so much money to hear the oracle's advice? To have doubts would be to have self doubts.

Thus it was pride and vanity which allowed the oracles and others to obtain for generation after generation.

In some backward countries there are savages who still have witch doctors. Naturally we look down on such people. They are ignorant, backward and uneducated and I can cite several consultants who will back me up on this.

How To Solve A Crime? Just Keep The Facts Deep Secret

WASHINGTON — The New Orleans TV drama titled "Mr. District Attorney" has been playing nightly on all the news shows.

The district attorney of New Orleans, Jim Garrison, keeps holding news conferences announcing that he has solved the Kennedy assassination. Since Garrison has produced no evidence or information to back up his news conferences, many publicity-hungry district attorneys have been angered by all the space Garrison is getting.

I RECEIVED a call the other day from the district attorney of Total Swamp, La., who told me that he had startling information concerning "another crime of the century," and I immediately flew out to see him.

"What is your startling information?" I asked.

"I can't reveal it at this time, but I believe everyone is going to be terribly surprised when I do."

"Well, can you tell me what kind of crime it was?"

"I'd rather not say until I've made my arrests. If I talked about it the people involved might get away."

"CAN'T YOU GIVE me some clue?"

"All I can tell you is that I have a witness who will reveal all the details in due time."

"Where is this witness?" I asked.

"He's dead. The coroner said he died of natural causes, but I insist it was suicide."

"But what good is the witness if he's dead?"

"Ah, that's just the point. Why is my witness dead?"

"I don't follow you."

"WHY DID MY witness die just at the time I was going to pick him up for questioning?"

"I really don't know."

"Wouldn't you say it strengthens my case?"

"It might if I knew what your case was," I said. "Have you told the FBI what you know?"

"Why should I tell the FBI? They'll only take the glory away from me. I'm trying to make a name for myself, boy."

"I can see that. Let me ask you this. Why do you claim to know something nobody else knows about this startling crime?"

"BECAUSE I'VE solved the case. It's that simple."

"But if you have solved the case, why don't you make the arrests?"

"I don't have the evidence. How can I make arrests if I don't have any evidence?"

"It beats me, and probably the Supreme Court, too."

"But I'm not defeated. The fact I don't have any evidence makes me even more certain I've solved the crime."

"How do you figure that?"

"If you have evidence some smart wise guy lawyer can disprove it. But if you don't have any evidence they can't lay a glove on you."

"DON'T YOU THINK it's premature to make these startling revelations?"

"I should say not. Some of the leading businessmen in this town are giving me money to continue my investigation. It isn't going to be easy because I may have to go out on a lecture tour. Did you want to take my picture?"

"I'd like to very much. Are you wearing TV make-up?"

"Of course. You never can tell when CBS, ABC or NBC is going to show up," he replied.

"What you've told me is dynamite. I only hope you're as successful in prosecuting the case as you've been in solving it."

"I probably said too much already, but all I'm trying to do is serve justice in the best possible way I can."

The Mercedes-Benz 250S: the $6500 car that steers without guessing, corners without wallowing and stops without panic.

At last, a $6500 car that puts efficiency above status. The 250S is no soft-sprung dreamboat. It's built to be pounded over murderous back roads, flicked through rain-slicked curves, slammed to sudden stops—all with unflappable calm. Its body is 10,000 welds tight and armored with 48 lbs. of rustproofing. Finish is impeccable; even the underside of the dash is fully trimmed. For more impressive facts, keep reading.

IF you have never driven a Mercedes-Benz before, you'll find the road manners of the 250S exhilarating.

This 1½-ton sedan handles very much like a sports car. It should: that fully independent, rear swing-axle suspension design beneath you first appeared on a world-championship Mercedes-Benz sports-racing car.

Road grip is tenacious. With individual rear wheel springing instead of a conventional rigid beam-axle, ride is actually smoother than in those spongily sprung "luxury" cars.

Four of the many reasons the Mercedes-Benz 250S outperforms its $6500 rivals: a disc brake at every wheel.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785* to $4,189*

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 8 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
300 SE Coupe	11,916
230SL Roadster	6,262
250S Sedan	5,998
230S Sedan	5,018
230 Sedan	4,386
200 Diesel Sedan	4,418
200 Sedan	4,189

West Coast port of entry, exclusive of transportation charges, options, state and local taxes if any.*

One reason: Before installation, this suspension's four coil springs undergo 16 tests to ensure that each is perfectly tuned to the others.

You maneuver the 250S with a knife-sharp, recirculating-ball steering mechanism. It doesn't require endless tugs at the wheel to merely turn a corner. In fact, the wheel turns only 3¼ times, full-left to full-right. Fitted into the steering system is an ingenious miniature shock-absorber, to reduce pummeling on washboard roads.

Incredible stopping power

Not even a 150-mph sports car stops quicker or smoother than the 250S.

While front disc brakes are just now appearing on many luxury cars, your 250S employs disc brakes at all four wheels.

This superior stopping system throws off heat instead of storing it up as in drum brakes. Fade—the menace of brakes suddenly "going soft"—is almost eliminated.

Tires: Your 250S is shod with 4-ply, 7.35x14-inch tires at the factory as standard equipment. Terms such as "premium" or "super-premium" are virtually meaningless, but here is reassurance: these tires have been tested—and found safe—in steady 100-mph cruising, with full passenger and trunk loads, and running at normal air pressures.

Make it a fivesome

The 250S provides capacious space for five adults and 25 cubic feet of their luggage in the trunk. But many other cars do as well. The genius of the 250S is that it offers this generous room while measuring a full two feet shorter overall than its major $6500 rivals. Mercedes-Benz efficiency triumphs again. You'll appreciate it the first time you have to park in close quarters.

You'll lack for nothing in terms of comfort in the 250S. "The seats are the equal of any in the world," writes the Publisher of Car and Driver. The backs of both front seats recline. By simply clicking a lever, the driver can raise or lower his position. No complex power mechanisms needed.

Showroom snoopers: Note that flawless finish. The underside of the dash is fully trimmed. The glovebox interior isn't just a stapled cardboard box. Small strips of hand-fitted walnut adorn the insides of the side window frames.

You're likely to be still enjoying this comfort a decade from now. That "unit" body is made up of steel panels up to 1 millimeter thick, welded in 10,000 places, completely primer-coated, slathered with 24 pounds of plasticized undercoat, and painted three times.

Thump the roof and your confidence is complete. It feels like banging your fist on a granite block.

A word on safety

Mercedes-Benz has received widespread publicity on its safety engineering achievements over the past several years.

Work continues to make Mercedes-Benz cars even safer, both in avoiding trouble, and in protecting you if trouble should occur.

For sane drivers, Mercedes-Benz cars can help reduce the hazards of driving—without dulling its pleasures.

But however well engineered it may be, no car can entirely defend against the show-off, the drunkard, or the neurotic bent on self-destruction. Safety depends on you, too.

Going to Europe?

You can order your 250S here, pick it up while on vacation in Europe, enjoy the convenience of private motoring abroad—then bring it home when you return. Having your own car in Europe is a guarantee of greater enjoyment. No crowded buses, no awkward train schedules. And by arranging overseas delivery, you stand to save hundreds of dollars. It's Bicycle Weather; Observe Safety Rules

After a long siege of rain, floods and cold weather, the current stretch of spring-like weather is bringing the youngsters out into the streets in hordes.

Days are getting longer, and that magic period between the end of a school day and suppertime finds children hopping onto their bicycles to release some of that pent-up exuberance.

This is the time for parents to remind children again of the importance of observing traffic laws and safety precautions.

The California Newspaperboy Foundation Inc. has published some bicycle safety suggestions that should be useful to youngsters in general:

Always use a headlight and red reflector at night. Be seen, not hurt.

Keep your mechanical equipment in A-1 order, brakes in particular. Stop, don't flop.

Use caution at open intersections. The right-of-way is not important to a doctor.

Ride on the right, in a straight line. Fancy riding is a straight line to the hospital.

Never criss-cross busy streets. Drivers may zig while you zag.

Turn blind corners with caution, particularly hedge-hidden driveways and corners of buildings. Someone may be there ahead of you.

Watch for pedestrians and children playing They do some silly things sometimes.

Never carry more than you can control safely on a bike.

Motorists, too, should not let good weather lull them into a sense of false security. Slick pavement and fogged windshields no longer haunt the driver, but these dangers are now replaced by hazards that are even more unpredictable—youngsters who dart into traffic on impulse or thread their bicycles through busy streets and make sudden turns without signalling.

Weekend driving in spring weather can be a pleasure, if the motorist cyclist and pedestrian remain constantly on the alert for each other's welfare.

A Spring Cold

With spring bursting out all over, we go about our work with reddened eyes and a runny nose. Is there no justice, no sense of the season in our physical system that it is so out of touch with its surroundings that it becomes ill while Nature rejoices?

That's how we feel about our spring cold. To think, with every sneeze a hundred flowers open.

"I couldn't resist it, love! But I'll get the housework done and fix you a good meal someday."

Congrss Must Not Stop Now In Dealing With Offenders

IRONTON, OHIO — Congress is on notice.

It needs to realize — before it is too late to redeem itself— that taking deserved action against Adam Clayton Powell will be inadequate and will do it harm if it fails to take action to punish and to prevent similar offenses by other members of Congress.

The Bobby Baker case and the Powell case must be the beginning, not the end, of Congressional self-reform.

It isn't enough to punish them without putting an end to the system which made their abuses possible and which tolerates unjustifiable practices by Congressmen.

Voter opinion isn't going to stand for it — and shouldn't.

NEGRO OPINION isn't going to stand for it — and shouldn't.

When I say that Congress is on notice that half a reform, that punishing one or two individuals and then thrusting the rest under the rug, is not good enough, I think I know what I am talking about.

Most people are revolted by Powell's conduct, but they are not going to be amused one little bit if Congress, after dealing with one or two offenders, fails to investigate thoroughly other possible offenders and fails to take strong measures to police the conduct of all its members.

THERE IS AMPLE evidence that the public is alert to the implications of the Baker and Powell misconduct and is not going to be fooled into accepting the idea that they are just two wayward individuals; the public knows full well that their offenses reflect a lax and wayward tolerance of dubious ethics by Congress itself and that something needs to be done about it.

I have been facing public audiences of adults and voting-age students for several days in the Midwest and, while there is anxiety over Vietnam and concern over many other things, a persistent question is: After dealing with Powell, is Congress going to leave it there?

FROM MY assessment of voter opinion, this won't go down and Congress will be well advised to put patty-cake measures behind it.

The Senate Ethics Committee has been dawdling over the Dodd charges.

The House Democratic leadership is talking about turning over future supervision of technical conduct — or misconduct — to the House Administration Committee which never showed any enthusiasm to do anything about it until the Powell offenses became so egregious they couldn't be avoided.

Nepotism is widespread in Congress and nothing has been done to set any standards.

THE CONTROL of committee expenditures by House and Senate chairmen has long been loose and whimsical and unverified.

And one of Bobby Baker's worst offenses seemed to be that the tainted lobby money he raised stuck to his own hands instead of being distributed to the designated Senators.

Powell is not being put upon because he is a Negro; in fact, he is the one who has practised racism by trying to escape the consequences of his misuse of public funds and his contempt of the New York courts by crying racism whenever he was caught in the act.

BUT ROY WILKINS, the wise and responsible leader of the NAACP is absolutely right in saying that, unless the House sets up standards for judging and policing the conduct of members, it will persuade most Negroes — and many others — that Powell really is being singled out because of his race.

Rep. John Conyers Jr. D., Mich., a Negro who voted for the committee resolution to punish Powell, also rightly warns that there must be no double standard.

For all of these reasons, Congress is on notice — and should be.

Lagunitas School's Problems Discussed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On behalf of the Committee for Sensible School Construction, please accept my thanks for your editorial, for the fair presentation of the portable classroom situation as written by Pat Perry, and for the comments of Bryce Anderson in his column, "The People's Schools", all of which appeared on February 10.

When enrollment in the Lagunitas School District began to exceed the capacity of the school several years ago, it was suggested that primary grades be placed on double sessions again . . . As a parent and former school trustee, I have had ample opportunity to learn that double sessions actually provide only half as much education and contribute greatly in later years to school dropouts and juvenile delinquency . . .

I urged the board to use portable classrooms as I believe them to be a most practical solution on a temporary basis . . .

Unfortunately, portables are only intended to be a temporary solution but soon become accepted as permanent . . . They also often multiply so fast within a quickly growing district that their economy value vanishes . . .

In Lagunitas . . . the 20-cent override tax voted two years ago to cover ALL the expenses of three now does not even cover the rental and utilities of the seven in use here . . .

It will be necessary to use the portables in Lagunitas until new classrooms are built; probably this will take up to two years.

Your efforts on behalf of our bond election have been greatly appreciated.

How Many Other Marin 'Mansions'?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Fire at 1364 Grand Avenue (San Rafael) — No serious injuries! No fatalities! Incredible!

How many other 1364 Grand Ave. houses do we have in Marin and will we be as lucky in the future?

. . . our . . . regulatory agencies should . . . take the necessary joint actions to be sure that rooming houses (apartments?) are thoroughly inspected . . . and most important to be sure the facility is not overcrowded.

We own and have lived at 1360 Grand Ave. for seven years and the burned "mansion" and our home are about 50 feet apart . . .

. . . With all the cut-up rooms in three floors of the "mansion" the firemen had to approach the fire from many locations, some of which were extremely dangerous to them.

Certainly a fireman's job is hazardous and their fine performance in the rescue operations and in fighting and controlling this fire deserve the highest compliments, but I know we and they would rather not have had this situation or others like it in the future.

I don't know how often 1364 Grand Avenue was inspected by the fire department, health department or building inspectors but we have become "waving" acquaintances with most of the police department. It seems that police cars made at least a weekly trip to 1364 Grand Avenue . . . Do these departments keep each other advised about these situations, if not, why can't they? I ask this question because in your article about the fire — "Morrison Green, assistant building inspector, was checking into reports that 28 persons should not have been accommodated in a building that size."

Vietnam Warrior Challenges Pacifists

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There is a loud cry from America that reaches each of us stationed in Viet Nam. It is the hurt, prideless, gutless cry of the "pacifist." It is a dissonance to our ears. The cry is peace. But what quality of peace do they ask? Is it the peace the colonists fought for in the eighteenth century or the first and second world wars? I doubt it. The peace our dissenters seek is not a peace America gained but a peace resigned to our adversaries. We must fight for peace. It is one of life's most perplexing paradoxes.

I would like to pose a few questions to our well-meaning pacifists. Where were you 190 years ago when America won her independence from Great Britain? How many of you pioneered the length and width of a virgin land paving roads to America's future? How many of you devoted your lives to the progress of our country? How many of you can claim any responsibility for making America the richest most powerful nation in the world in the shortest span of time in the history of civilized man? You were not there. You have not sacrificed. And you have shown no devotion.

And, yet, you want America to lay down her arms and open her arms to her adversaries. You want us to abandon those countries that now have the same hopes and dreams that America had 300 years ago. You want us to stand up and say, "Take it. It's yours. I'll not sacrifice anything for it."

My friends, if that day should ever come when America is abandoned to her adversaries, you shall then know sacrifice. You shall then realize why we are in Viet Nam helping these people in their brave struggle for freedom and independence.

I am proud to be here and I thank God that the cry of the pacifists is a mere mumble of the minority. I would be interested in reading your answers to this letter. My family shall send any letters that appear in this paper.

Council Candidate Omitted From List

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In a recent article naming San Rafael City Council candidates you omitted mention of one man — John A. Miskimen. I'm sure it was a simple oversight, but one that should be corrected.

Miskimen has given distinguished service to San Rafael as a member of the Planning Commission since 1964. He has consistently worked to bring order and direction to the city's growth and development. As a councilman he would be in a position to lend a strong and thoughtful voice in solving the complex problems facing our city.

We are fortunate in having such a well qualified, competent man seeking office.

SUBSTITUTE MOTHERS MAKE BIG HIT

An English housewife started an "Emergency Mother Service" which has mushroomed after seven years into an army of 2,621 "substitute mothers."

Hundreds of calls come in from mothers who must go into the hospital, look after sick relatives or make emergency trips. For a moderate salary, plus room and board, a stand-in mother takes care of the family.

"My substitute mothers are basically lonely women who want very much to be needed," the 47-year-old mother of six said. "After 40 or 50 they can't get other jobs, but they are well-trained to run a home and cope with domestic crises. In fact, my major problem is that I can't get enough of them. The demand is greater than the supply."

There are numerous ways in which you can be of service to persons who need the personal attention that you can provide. God has imbued you with the urge to be of use to others.

Seek to fulfill this noble trait and you will both give and receive many blessings.

"Let our people learn to apply themselves to good deeds." (Titus 3:14)

May I find myself through service to others, O Lord.

Reagan Finally Realizes He Can't Beat The Establishment

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The facts of life have caught up with Gov. Ronald Reagan rather soon. With only two months of office behind him, he's found he can't beat the Establishment.

Under the stimulus of just a mild spanking, the Establishment recoiled with the fury of a stallion denied its oats, and charged into the field of taxpayer hay to strip clean the remaining meager stalks from the public pocket.

GORDON SMITH, the governor's director of finance, says the inevitable tax bite, in new or increased taxes this year, will amount to some $865 million. Phil Battaglia, Reagan's top secretary, says this may be wrong.

Smith, appearing before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, admitted the governor's proposed 10 per cent cut in state expenditures couldn't be met. Battaglia, at a subsequent press conference, says the administration is still working on it.

Smith also said tuition charges at the university and state colleges won't be pursued this year, but maybe next.

ALL OF WHICH gives the Establishment time to muster its forces in a propaganda campaign the like of which never will have been seen before. For the Establishment's easy way of living off the largesse of the taxpayer is threatened, and that will never do, no never.

Those who never have heard of the Establishment might well ask just what it is. It's a nebulous term, but nevertheless a reality, something like city hall, which you can't fight and win, but have to join to get what you want.

It is the vast complex of education, with its administrators, professors, teachers, classified employees, non-essential course and monumental buildings used only 75 per cent of the year.

IT IS THE welfare program, dishing out taxpayer dollars to people who could earn a living, but prefer the more enjoyable way of living without toil, both on state aid and unemployment insurance.

It is the formidable army of do-gooders, which insists on the outlay of millions for projects taxpayers no longer can afford.

In short, it is government itself, an army dedicated to mulcting the citizen out of every thirty-cent dollar possible, to maintain and increase its empire in the style to which its bureaucracy is accustomed.

The style gets fancier as the citizen gets poorer.

It took the Establishment a good many years to entrench itself with the protective armor of civil service, teacher's tenure, liberal retirements, workmen's compensation, long vacations, extra holidays, munificent expense accounts, and all the other advantages of working for the government. And apparently, it will take a lot longer, much more than a million majority, and the will of the people to break it up.

AS GOV. REAGAN said some weeks ago, "bluntly, we have gone to the fiscal well once too often in California, and that well has run dry."

LBJ Faces Pressure On Surcharge Tax

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Congressional pressure is mounting for President Johnson to shelve his six per cent surcharge tax proposal.

Democratic legislative leaders have reported to the President that the ranking members of the House Ways & Means Committee are opposed to a tax increase this year and want him to drop his proposal.

THIS GROWING bipartisan opposition to the President's proposed tax boost was revealed at a White House legislative meeting by Speaker John McCormack, Mass., and Senate Democratic Whip Russell Long, La., who is also chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

In discussing the prospect of his tax proposal, the President asked the legislators for their views on Sen. William Proxmire's announced opposition to a tax increase this year, stating:

"Senator Proxmire wants me to shelve the six per cent surcharge because of the changing economic climate. Is there any support for this position?"

"I should say there is," replied Senator Long. "In addition to Senator Hartke (Ind.) and myself on the Senate Finance Committee, Senators John Williams (Del.) and Frank Carlson (Kan.), the ranking Republicans, are opposed to any tax increase this year."

SENATOR LONG also reported that Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., had cooled on the idea of boosting taxes, quoting him as saying: "I was for a tax boost last summer, but I am not sure now."

After hearing Long's report, the President turned to McCormack, asking: "What is the situation in the House Ways and Means Committee? I haven't heard anything from Wilbur (Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman)."

While the President gave no hint that the reports of Long and McCormack had caused him to change his plans to push for a tax increase this year, he concluded the meeting by stating: "We can talk some more on taxes later. Hearings won't be for several months. By then we should have more information on the economy."

SECRET CIA REPORT — An affidavit is on file in the National Archives documenting that the State Department received a Central Intelligence Agency report on Lee Harvey Oswald's "current activities" just six weeks before President Kennedy was assassinated.

The affidavit is signed by James D. Crowley, State Department security officer, who reported receiving the document on October 10, 1963, from the CIA.

His statement of the CIA report was turned over to the Warren Commission but never published.

Just Imagine Our Enlightened Leaders Depending On Oracles

Long, long ago when the world was in the cruel grip of ignorance, man would not act without first seeking advice from oracles, or seers, or medicine men or witch doctors.

Sometimes he would not act at all, because he could not understand the advice of the oracles. This meant that he had to find some other oracle to interpret what the first oracle said. If the oracles played their cards right, the thing could go on forever.

THIS IS WHAT we moderns refer to as a racket. You wonder how anyone could be so ignorant as to fall for it.

It is also surprising for those of us living in enlightened times that the people would actually pay money to the oracles. True, they would sometimes put up an old ewe or an ox, which was fairer exchange for the bull they received.

Even more surprising is that the advice of the oracles was taken seriously, and the more expensive it was and the harder it was to understand, the more seriously it was taken.

The trick of being a good oracle was to phrase the obvious in such a way that it could not be understood without further advice. This is what kept an ancient going from one oracle to the next.

Thank goodness such a foolish practice no longer plagues mankind!

CAN YOU IMAGINE what would happen in our own modern and enlightened Marin County if our leaders depended on the words of oracles or the shape of a sheep's liver? Why it might take months before some of our most basic problems were solved.

One insight into human nature the oracles capitalized upon was that they could serve as scapegoats for mistakes. A man could blame his errors on the oracle that told him to act.

Suppose our county leaders fell into such a trap everytime something controversial arose! Suppose with such a question as the location of Highway 17, they said, "Oh we cannot act on this without advice of oracles. We must have a study, take up the whole problem of transportation."

Wouldn't that be tragic? Fortunately, most modern men have more backbone than that. They do not have to rely on oracles.

ANOTHER TRICK the oracle used to stay in business was to keep giving the wrong advice. The poor ancient would keep going to an oracle until he got some advice he could accept. It shows you how stupid people used to be.

Now suppose in our very own Marin, some clever oracle kept telling our leaders that the county ought to get into the public transportation business. "Buy buses," the oracle would say. Can you imagine intelligent men of today, going from one oracle to the next, hearing the same thing, but hoping all the time they would hear some other advice?

You simply cannot imagine modern men trying to operate under such a handicap, but there was a dark time when this was done.

AS YOU KNOW, the oracle, seer, witch doctor and medicine man was protected by the vanity of man he served. How could a fellow have doubts about the sincerity or veracity of an oracle after he had put up so much money to hear the oracle's advice? To have doubts would be to have self doubts.

Thus it was pride and vanity which allowed the oracles and others to obtain for generation after generation.

In some backward countries there are savages who still have witch doctors. Naturally we look down on such people. They are ignorant, backward and uneducated and I can cite several consultants who will back me up on this.

How To Solve A Crime? Just Keep The Facts Deep Secret

WASHINGTON — The New Orleans TV drama titled "Mr. District Attorney" has been playing nightly on all the news shows.

The district attorney of New Orleans, Jim Garrison, keeps holding news conferences announcing that he has solved the Kennedy assassination. Since Garrison has produced no evidence or information to back up his news conferences, many publicity-hungry district attorneys have been angered by all the space Garrison is getting.

I RECEIVED a call the other day from the district attorney of Total Swamp, La., who told me that he had startling information concerning "another crime of the century," and I immediately flew out to see him.

"What is your startling information?" I asked.

"I can't reveal it at this time, but I believe everyone is going to be terribly surprised when I do."

"Well, can you tell me what kind of crime it was?"

"I'd rather not say until I've made my arrests. If I talked about it the people involved might get away."

"CAN'T YOU GIVE me some clue?"

"All I can tell you is that I have a witness who will reveal all the details in due time."

"Where is this witness?" I asked.

"He's dead. The coroner said he died of natural causes, but I insist it was suicide."

"But what good is the witness if he's dead?"

"Ah, that's just the point. Why is my witness dead?"

"I don't follow you."

"WHY DID MY witness die just at the time I was going to pick him up for questioning?"

"I really don't know."

"Wouldn't you say it strengthens my case?"

"It might if I knew what your case was," I said. "Have you told the FBI what you know?"

"Why should I tell the FBI? They'll only take the glory away from me. I'm trying to make a name for myself, boy."

"I can see that. Let me ask you this. Why do you claim to know something nobody else knows about this startling crime?"

"BECAUSE I'VE solved the case. It's that simple."

"But if you have solved the case, why don't you make the arrests?"

"I don't have the evidence. How can I make arrests if I don't have any evidence?"

"It beats me, and probably the Supreme Court, too."

"But I'm not defeated. The fact I don't have any evidence makes me even more certain I've solved the crime."

"How do you figure that?"

"If you have evidence some smart wise guy lawyer can disprove it. But if you don't have any evidence they can't lay a glove on you."

"DON'T YOU THINK it's premature to make these startling revelations?"

"I should say not. Some of the leading businessmen in this town are giving me money to continue my investigation. It isn't going to be easy because I may have to go out on a lecture tour. Did you want to take my picture?"

"I'd like to very much. Are you wearing TV make-up?"

"Of course. You never can tell when CBS, ABC or NBC is going to show up," he replied.

"What you've told me is dynamite. I only hope you're as successful in prosecuting the case as you've been in solving it."

"I probably said too much already, but all I'm trying to do is serve justice in the best possible way I can."

The Mercedes-Benz 250S: the $6500 car that steers without guessing, corners without wallowing and stops without panic.

Four of the many reasons the Mercedes-Benz 250S outperforms its $6500 rivals: a disc brake at every wheel.

At last, a $6500 car that puts efficiency above status. The 250S is no soft-sprung dreamboat. It's built to be pounded over murderous back roads, flicked through rain-slicked curves, slammed to sudden stops—all with unflappable calm. Its body is 10,000 welds tight and armored with 48 lbs. of rustproofing. Finish is impeccable; even the underside of the dash is fully trimmed. For more impressive facts, keep reading.

IF you have never driven a Mercedes-Benz before, you'll find the road manners of the 250S exhilarating.

This 1½-ton sedan handles very much like a sports car. It should: that fully independent, rear swing-axle suspension design beneath you first appeared on a world-championship Mercedes-Benz sports-racing car.

Road grip is tenacious. With individual rear wheel springing instead of a conventional rigid beam-axle, ride is actually smoother than in those spongily sprung "luxury" cars.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785* to $4,189*

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 8 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
300 SE Coupe	11,916
230SL Roadster	6,262
250S Sedan	5,998
230S Sedan	5,018
230 Sedan	4,386
200 Diesel Sedan	4,418
200 Sedan	4,189

West Coast port of entry, exclusive of transportation charges, options, state and local taxes if any.*

One reason: Before installation, this suspension's four coil springs undergo 16 tests to ensure that each is perfectly tuned to the others.

You maneuver the 250S with a knife-sharp, recirculating-ball steering mechanism. It doesn't require endless tugs at the wheel to merely turn a corner. In fact, the wheel turns only 3¼ times, full-left to full-right. Fitted into the steering system is an ingenious miniature shock-absorber, to reduce pummeling on washboard roads.

Incredible stopping power

Not even a 150-mph sports car stops quicker or smoother than the 250S.

While front disc brakes are just now appearing on many luxury cars, your 250S employs disc brakes at all four wheels.

This superior stopping system throws off heat instead of storing it up as in drum brakes. Fade—the menace of brakes suddenly "going soft"—is almost eliminated.

Tires: Your 250S is shod with 4-ply, 7.35x14-inch tires at the factory as standard equipment. Terms such as "premium" or "super-premium" are virtually meaningless, but here is reassurance: these tires have been tested—and found safe—in steady 100-mph cruising, with full passenger and trunk loads, and running at normal air pressures.

Make it a fivesome

The 250S provides capacious space for five adults and 25 cubic feet of their luggage in the trunk. But many other cars do as well. The genius of the 250S is that it offers this generous room while measuring a full two feet shorter overall than its major $6500 rivals. Mercedes-Benz efficiency triumphs again. You'll appreciate it the first time you have to park in close quarters.

You'll lack for nothing in terms of comfort in the 250S. "The seats are the equal of any in the world," writes the Publisher of Car and Driver. The backs of both front seats recline. By simply clicking a lever, the driver can raise or lower his position. No complex power mechanisms needed.

Showroom snoopers: Note that flawless finish. The underside of the dash is fully trimmed. The glovebox interior isn't just a stapled cardboard box. Small strips of hand-fitted walnut adorn the insides of the side window frames.

You're likely to be still enjoying this comfort a decade from now. That "unit" body is made up of steel panels up to 1 millimeter thick, welded in 10,000 places, completely primer-coated, slathered with 24 pounds of plasticized undercoat, and painted three times.

Thump the roof and your confidence is complete. It feels like banging your fist on a granite block.

A word on safety

Mercedes-Benz has received widespread publicity on its safety engineering achievements over the past several years.

Work continues to make Mercedes-Benz cars even safer, both in avoiding trouble, and in protecting you if trouble should occur.

For sane drivers, Mercedes-Benz cars can help reduce the hazards of driving—without dulling its pleasures.

But however well engineered it may be, no car can entirely defend against the show-off, the drunkard, or the neurotic bent on self-destruction. Safety depends on you, too.

Going to Europe?

You can order your 250S here, pick it up while on vacation in Europe, enjoy the convenience of private motoring abroad—then bring it home when you return. Having your own car in Europe is a guarantee of greater enjoyment. No crowded buses, no awkward train schedules. And by arranging overseas delivery, you stand to save hundreds of dollars. Stocks Down In Active Swapping

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today in fairly active trading.

Not until final dealings did losers outnumber gainers in the over-all list. The margin was slight.

The market rose at the start but blue chips were laggard and the popular averages underwent gradual erosion. Gainers and losers were about in balance late in the day, losing an upside edge.

Benguet, a fractional gainer, packed the list on volume, followed by American Motors, up nearly a point, and Pan American World Airways, ahead about 1½.

Losses of a point or so were taken by a variety of leading issues including American Smelted Aircraft, Avco and McDonnell Co.

Down fractionally were General Motors, U.S. Steel, International Harvester, Ford and Sears, Roebuck.

Polaroid jumped 9 points, IBM 4 and Xerox 2.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Blue Cross Cites Record Year Of Signups, Help

OAKLAND—At no time in the past, has Blue Cross served more people than in the past year, according to J. Philo Nelson, president of the Northern California Blue Cross Plan.

The number of persons protected by Blue Cross in Northern California increased by more than 65,000 to a total of 1,188,445 subscribers and family members.

"A record amount of nearly $74 million was paid by Blue Cross for hospital and medical care last year," Nelson said. For every dollar paid into the plan, 93 cents was used to pay hospital and medical bills."

INCOME TAX FACTS

Rules Governing Sick Pay Policies

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Sick pay is sometimes taxed, sometimes partially taxed and sometimes tax free. Here are the rules:

The amount you received because of accident or sickness, if received from an insurance company where you paid the premiums either directly or through payroll deductions is not taxed.

Wikel

The amount you received because of accident or sickness where your employer paid the premiums to the insurance company, or where your employer himself paid your wages while you were off sick is taxed as follows:

No sick pay exclusion is allowed for wages received for the first 30 days of absence if the wages are over 75 per cent of the regular weekly rate. Sick pay received after the 30 day waiting period is over is excluded, but not more than $100 per week.

If your sick pay is 75 per cent or less of your regular weekly pay and if you are in the hospital at least one day while you are off, you can exclude the payments for the first 30 days up to $75 per week. But, if you are not in the hospital at least overnight, there is no exclusion for the first seven days and the $75 maximum will apply only to the balance of the first thirty days you are off.

If you can use the sick pay exclusion, you should get a Form 2440 from your local Internal Revenue Service office and attach it to your tax return. This form will help you compute accurately the amount of sick pay you can exclude.

Pedigreed animals exported by England for breeding include 20 varieties of cattle, sheep, pigs and farm horses.

BAAAAAAAH! DEPUTIES BUTT OF A JOKE?

It was roundup time at the county courthouse lawn yesterday.

Sheriff's Deputies Angelo J. Mecchi and Michael Hicks corraled a "prisoner" who tried to butt and kick his way out of custody.

He was easily identified as a white "Billy Goat," about 200 pounds, of unknown address, whose only statement was "baaaahh."

Deputy Hicks grabbed him by the horns and led him to the safety of the sheriff's office, but the booking procedure broke down when it was decided there was no room at the jail for him.

The goat was taken into custody by the Humane Society.

Rolling Manhole Lining Injures Man, Hits Auto

A 700-pound concrete cylinder rolled down Elder Court and Tamarack Drive, San Rafael at 11:45 a.m. Saturday, injuring one man, knocking down two trees, and hitting a car.

San Rafael police reported the rocking motion made by two boys, 6 and 9, teeter-tottering, started the cylinder on its roll.

Starting at the east end of Elder Court, it went down a 30-foot embankment and traveled 180 feet east on Elder to Tamarack Drive, police said.

It knocked down two street trees, crossed the property of John Burton Wasley Jr. at 704 Tamarack Drive, and continued 225 feet to the south.

Everett Thomas Robinson, 46, of 24 Lenglen Avenue, attempted to stop the cylinder, but was thrown aside and suffered cuts of his right arm, police said.

The cylinder then hit the curb and a car registered to Patrick M. Cronin, 712 Tamarack Drive.

Police said the cylinder, a manhole lining, was owned by Kenny Corp. of San Lorenzo.

Clyde Brodie of Petaluma, who reported the incident, later told police that he had permission to break up the cylinder and five others, weighing up to two tons, that were at the site. Police said the breaking started Saturday.

Brodie said that the cylinders had been left at the site about a year ago.

Unpublished Twain Is Out

BERKELEY (AP) — The University of California Press today issues three volumes of previously unpublished writings of Mark Twain.

They are titled, "Satires and Budlesques," "Letters to Publishers," and "Which Was the Dream."

The books are the first of a 14-volume series of Twain's works to be culled from the university's Twain's collection which has been at Berkeley since 1949.

English Prof. Henry Nash Smith, who helped edit the new series, said the book "Which Was the Dream" exemplifies Twain's despondency in his last years. It deals with a man who dreams his wife and daughter are "taking a trip to nowhere" in a raindrop.

Card Game Study On Council Agenda

San Rafael could outlaw cardrooms, but not by simply repealing the city ordinance which requires their licensing, in the opinion of City Atty. David Menary Jr.

The city council on Feb. 20, after denying an application by Irving Litchfield for eight card tables at Bermuda Palms, directed Menary to look into state law to see what would be necessary to ban cardrooms from San Rafael entirely. At present, they are permitted with a license which must be granted by the council.

The city attorney will report tonight that draw poker and low-ball are legal games under California state law, so if the city simply repealed its licensing ordinance, they could be played in a card room without any city control.

However, says his letter to the council, the city could repeal the licensing and control provisions, then outlaw card rooms. This would leave playing of draw poker and low-ball in private homes legal, as it is throughout the state.

Also set for tonight's council meeting, starting at 8 o'clock in the new city hall, are two related rezonings: Francisco Boulevard property which the city wants to sell, to commercial, and the county courthouse block which the city wants to buy, to a special "C-3" closely restricted district.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen is scheduled to report on possibility of dredging of San Rafael Canal by the Army Corps of Engineers during the next fiscal year. Considerable silt has been deposited in the canal since it was last dredged in 1961 in a $140,000 Army Engineers project.

Charge for towing away cars parked in city tow-away zones, which has been repeatedly postponed, is scheduled to be taken up again.

Applications for encroachment permits by rival community television antenna companies are to be before the council, one being sought by Cable Television of Marin and the other by Televue Systems, Inc.

Resolutions appointing election boards and designating polling places for the municipal election on April 10 will be submitted by City Clerk W. C. Cornwell.

Scars are a mark of beauty among women of the Nuba tribespeople in Central Sudan.

Church Architecture Will Be Discussed

Displays of fresh developments in church design and equipment will be featured tomorrow and Wednesday at the Church Architectural Conference at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry.

NO CAREER WORRIES

Royal Teens Are Growing Up With Future Roles In Mind

LONDON (UPI) —The two most looked-at—and looked after—teen-agers in Britain undoubtedly are Prince Charles, 18-year-old heir to the throne, and his sister, Princess Anne, 16.

A common question among other youngsters their age, and among some curious adults, is how do their lives compare with those of other teen-agers?

Has Prince Charles ever kissed a girl? Is Princess Anne "sweet 16 and never kissed?"

No one outside the royal family could answer that one, but it is all too obvious there's little room in their lives for teen-age romance. Neither is allowed out alone with a member of the opposite sex. Any "dating" requires a minimum group of six.

Even at dances their partners are pretty much chosen for them. Wherever they may go at least one detective always has them under his shadow. And whatever they do, publicly, has the whole country watching. They don't even have much elbow room.

QUEEN ELIZABETH and Prince Philip have tried to give their children as ordinary an upbringing as possible. But because they are royal, they simply do not have the same opportunities as others youngsters to meet, see, do and understand all the people and things ordinary ilfe is made up of.

Their parents are strict disciplinarians in the belief that the royal children have to learn the value of self-discipline from the start to mould them for their future roles.

Their circles of friends or "set" is limited. It is composed of teen-agers of very similar backgrounds — the sons and daughters of friends of their parents.

Even so there is a big difference between them and previous royal children. The Queen and Prince Philip broke the tradition of education at home and sent Charles and Anne off to boarding schools—Gordonstoun, a character-building, sports-emphasizing boys' school for Prince Charles, and Beneden, a typically "upper drawer" though not snobbish girls' school for Princess Anne.

WHEN IT COMES to sports and other leisure pursuits, the royal children can do just about anything they like to do. At school and away from it Prince Charles can ride, go sailing, play polo, fool around with musical instruments (he plays the piano, guitar and trumpet), indulge in winter sports, go fishing and camping. Princess Anne rides, loves country walks and picnics, paints, swims, sails and plays tennis.

AT THEIR OWN parties they can twist, frug and the like. They can indulge—within limits—their likes and dislikes in teen-age styles. Princess Anne has her mini-skirts, lacy stockings and boots. Prince Charles, disallowing some of the present day extremes, dresses much as other boys his age.

And there are many teen-age "worries" that cannot worry the prince and princess.

They need have no concern about "making it" into college. They don't hage to worry about where to live, and they live in high style and comfort. After all, their family has Buckingham Palace, Windsor and Balmoral castles and various other places.

THEY DON'T have to worry about money. Their mother is immensely rich and Prince Charles now gets an allowance of 30,000 pounds ($84,000) a year all of his own, although he must not splash it around.

Princess Anne just might worry about a career. Having been to school with girls who can go off and become anything they want from lawyer to secretary, she might want to rebel against the royal round of making speeches, opening hospitals and laying foundation stones.

San Domenico Sets Camping Program

June 25 will mark the 1967 opening of the San Domenico Summer Adventure in San Anselmo, for girls from nine to thirteen. Residents and day campers will look forward to five weeks of participating in creative experiences, conversing in French or Spanish and vying in competitive sports activities.

Under the direction of the Dominican Sisters of San Rafael, 12 college counselors and five professional instructors will direct a program which includes creative art, music (choral, recorder, guitar), drama, modern dance and fold dances; nature study, which will not only increase awareness of animal and plant life, but also inspire painting and writing; swimming and water ballet, tennis, golf, archery, badminton and horseback.

The new San Domenico campus sheltered by oak-dotted hills, has developed its area with an Olympic-size swimming pool, tennis courts, riding ring and trails, nature trials and scenic campsites. Weekly campouts, sing-a-longs at the campfire, entertainment by the three age groups will vary each evening. Weekend excursions to Point Reyes, Drakes Bay, Angel Island and San Francisco will be held.

A horseshow, swimmmeet, ballet and drama demonstration will bring the adventure to a close on July 29. The San Domenico Summer Adventure is open to all campers. For information write the San Domenico Adventure Secretary, San Domenico School, San Anselmo.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Mother Suspects Son Who 'Reels' Home From Fishing Club Meeting

DEAR HELEN:

I am a girl of 25 with five lovely kids. I left my husband about a year ago and he only sends enough support to feed half of them. I'm very lonely and met a wonderful guy who says he loves us all. He's willing to give us a nice home we never had.

But my family is against it. They can't help me support the children. I need someone, and this man seems so right. Is it wrong?—P.H.

DEAR P:

Your family has a point, so long as there's only a separation — not a divorce, Why not make everything nice and legal? If this man is as wonderful as you say, he'll go for marriage too.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our son, age 19, says he belongs to a fishing and gun club, where he goes every weekend, and sometimes on week nights too, when they "study guns" etc. But I'm not so sure. I was cleaning out his sports car today and found five speeding tickets, plus quite a lot of personal things belonging to females.

Also, his club must serve something stronger than coffee, as he comes in very late and very far from sober. He has a good job, but he may not keep it long at this rate. What kind of rod and reel club would you call this anyway?—WISE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

I'd say it was a (hot) rod and reel (ing drunk) club, and your son may be sporty, but he's not an outdoor sportsman. When a 19-year-old comes home drunk two or three nights a week, it's time for parental action. Tell him a minor, under your roof, conforms to your rules — or else!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have a drinking problem, but who wouldn't, having to work in an office with 15 females! On weekends, I hit the vino, get along fine without it through the week, except on Mondays when I fight a hangover.

I hate my job, dislike dames, think life isn't worth the effort. The only person I ever loved was my mother.

There's something very wrong with my life. I think I'm only happy when I'm blotto. Yet nobody knows this but me — and now you.What would you recommend?—JACK

DEAR JACK:

. . . A good psychiatrist. He would be the best investment you ever made.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband has his meals on a TV tray, so he can watch the sports or news broadcasts. He won't eat with the family — we make too much noise. When we're in the living room and say even a word he's all over us. One night he threw a beer can at our son and raised a welt. Another time he emptied a whole glass of beer over our daughter's head because she asked me something about school work. He lives for that TV. We only talk when we go into the bedrooms. Don't tell me to leave him. I love him, but: Is it right to have to talk in whispers or not at all in your own house?—TIRED OF "SHUT UP!"

DEAR TIRED:

It certainly isn't right! And I wouldn't do it. There's three of you to one of your beer-guzzling, TV-addicted husband, and if you can't educate him into normal viewing habits, you deserve all the browbeating you get. Next time he throws a beer can, I hope he misses and breaks the tube!—H.

CONCERT REVIEW

Joel Andrews Gives Harp Added Depth

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Master harpist and composer Joel Andrews' program last night presented at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse as the second in the concert series of the new Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts was a superlative demonstration of all the resources of the harp.

The setting was perfect for this delicate music — which can, however, as Andrews showed, be surprisingly robust, especially in modern effects which his famed teacher Carlos Salzedo increased to 30 with Andrews himself adding 15 more.

What can be monotony in a single-instrument concert was avoided by the richly varied program and Andrews' witty and informal discussion of the harp's history and demonstration of its resources apart from actual performance. He has a decided gift as a lecture-recitalist.

Often a harp concert includes mainly the kind of equisitely melodious music that makes it easy to see why the instrument has been traditionally associated with angels. Though there was no lack of this in the first half of the program, interest in the second half centered in impressionistic and contemporary effects not so well known.

After the opening group of three selections from some of the earlist music for the harp at the end of the 15th Century, a chaconne written in the 1800s by August Durand was enchanting, as were a theme and variations by Haydn.

The first indication of Andrews' skill as a composer came in variations he wrote on Purcell's "Come Ye Sons of Art" as a commission for a wedding. The variations were more beautiful than the theme itself.

Expressive effects of the harp were highlighted in Salzedo's "Chanson Dan La Nuit" and "La Desirade."

Up to the minute in contemporary sound and techniques — and far more agreeable than some electronic compositions which it can surpass in new and exciting sonorities without nerve-jarring results — was Andrews' one "Sea Suite." This is a master piece of impressionistic vignettes inspired by the sea which we have heard several times. One finds new things to admire in it each time.

After this the three carols were something of an anticlimax, though they had their own appeal.

A delighted audience that filled the room insisted on several encores. The most interesting was a new work written for Andres for the famed California composer Lou Harrison. In a Korean mode and bearing the title of a Bodhisattva, the piece revealed an unsuspected affinity of the harp for oriental moods and sounds.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Romeo' Is Excellent Production

By KARL BARRON

An exciting, compassionate, literate production of "Romeo and Juliet" went begging for audiences Friday and Saturday in Marin City, despite the fact that it is a truly integrated play, numbering three talented Negroes in a cast of 12.

The New Shakespeare Company brought Shakespeare's tragedy into St. Andrew Presbyterian Church fo a three weekend run. On Saturday night there were 25 patrons, one of whom was a Negro. Is Saturday night's television that good?

This "Romeo and Juliet" is good. The direction of Margrit Roma, who has worked with both Max Reinhardt and Bertolt Brecht, uses the emotional grandeur of the former and the hard attack of the latter to compress her cast into a spare, deeply touching story of young love and senseless tragedy.

Since Romeo is black and Juliet white, a racial tension may be read into the age-old feud of the Montagues and Capulets, the reason for which Shakespeare never bothers to define. Miss Roma wisely does nothing to further the idea, but leaves it to the individual viewer.

Personally—and this is the most important and exciting thing about the project—after five minutes I forgot that the young lovers were of different color. I also forgot for most of the play that they were actors.

The play is staged in the chapel of St. Andrew's, with two simple white background flats with black designs carrying out a high-beamed ceiling theme.

The young lovers are played with gentle understatement by Sydney Daniels as Juliet and Ted Lange as Romeo.

Highlighting the acting company is the Mercutio of Wallace Gorrell, hot-tempered as a wasp and brimming with bawdy humor.

Supporting these three with no less total involvement are the earthy nurse of Kay Stuntz; the haughty yet warm Lady Capulet of Maria Lakkala, and William Exley as Friar Laurence.

Enos Baker deserves special mention for his double as handsome, young Benvolio and the elderly Montague, while Tanya Rentz frenetically plays most of the servants with speaking lines.

Miss Roma draws the audience into the play by having the servants offer them refreshments during the ball at Capulet's home, and Lange plays his farewell to Juliet kneeling in the aisle between two rows of spectators. All this is in line with the New Shakespeare Company's stated purpose of having theater "reach the consciousness of the audience."

"Romeo and Juliet" will play this weekend and next, Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. St. Andrew is just off the freeway at the entrance to Marin City. You'll not see anything to equal this on TV Friday or Saturday.

Moliere Production To Open On Friday

Moliere's "A Doctor in Spite of Himself," produced by the College of Marin drama department, will open Friday at 8:30 p.m. in room 1 of Harlan Hall on the Kentfield campus.

Director Robin Jackson, a member of the drama faculty who will be directing his first production at the college, described the play as a biting satire on the medical profession done in the Italian "commedia dell' arte" style.

A play within a play, the production casts actors as a touring Italian comedy troupe performing in a French market place. The plot involves a woodcutter who is made to believe he is a doctor.

The play will include original music written by William Nelson, a part-time College of Marin student.

It will be repeated Saturday, Sunday, and March 15 through 18. A special dress rehearsal performance for high school drama students will be given Thursday.

Project 17 Discussion Set Tonight

A joint Mill Valley city-school contract with landscape architects Royston, Hanamoto, Mayes and Beck to plan the Project 17 area for a "middle school" and city recreation facility will be considered by the Mill Valley City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

School district trustees signed the contract early in January, but councilmen have delayed action on it pending estimates on cost of engineering data necessary to master plan the site. City Engineer Stanley M. Bala last week estimated data requested by the landscape architects would cost $10,700, but that a property map without survey, adequate for preliminary master planning, would cost $1,050.

School district trustees last week voted to hold an election June 13 on a bond measure of more than $3 million to build the "middle school" and improve existing schools.

Also on the council agenda are discussions of future city limits and of remodeling the old library for city offices.

Remember when you used to pay $33.00 to fly to Los Angeles?

Well, PSA changed all that. Now it's $11.43.

It's true. PSA pioneered low air fares. And what did it get us? Well, lots of passengers for one thing. Oh yes, and some competition from other airlines who were forced to lower their fares from time to time.

So what do we want—a medal? No, but it might be nice if you bought a ticket sometime. Especially since we still have the lowest air fares.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

PEACE AND LIBRARY CAMPAIGNS JOINED

There may be no connection for most people between the Vietnam war and Sausalito's library bond issue, to be voted on tomorrow. But apparently there is for George C. Hoffman, one of the minority of the planning commission that favored the proposed library location on the sandspit. Hoffman put this sign atop his car to promote passage of the $250,000 bond issue. GENE F. O'CONNOR IN COUNCIL RACE

Former City Planning Commissioner Picks Up His Papers For Candidacy

San Rafael insurance broker Gene F. O'Connor, 54, today joined the race for two contested seat on the City Council.

O'Connor, a former city planning commissioner, picked up candidacy papers from City Clerk W. C. Cornwall.

He urged that the city solve problems on consolidation, beautification, development of the courthouse property and sewerage and drainage.

A lifelong resident of San Rafael, O'Connor was a founder and first president of the San Rafael Beautiful Committee and the San Rafael 20-30 Club, belongs to local Elks Lodge and American Legion post, and is a director of the Marin County Association of Insurance Agents.

He maintains his home and business at 150 Forbes Avenue. He has a wife, Rosemary, and a daughter, Colleen.

O'Connor said, "Commuter transportation is bad and getting worse. Any sound proposal to improve it should be supported by our city government, Fire and police protection deserve ever increasing consideration, and improvement of these services should be given a thorough review."

In another development in the council race, service station operator Charles Swanfelt today returned petitions to Cornwell. A total of seven candidates have announced for the seats now occupied by Councilmen Chester W. Aby and Fred E. Jensen.

Jensen is seeking re-election, but Aby is not. Other candidates are attorney Joseph D. Dahlman; George S. Burton, a used car dealer; plumbing contractor Orlando Conti, and Planning Commissioner John A. Miskimen.

Deadline for filing papers is Friday.

Coast Guard Rescues Four Off Cruiser

Four men, stranded on a beach at Tennessee Point after their 25-foot cabin cruiser ran ashore, were rescued by the Coast Guard yesterday afternoon.

The Coast Guard reported that the men were hoisted aboard a helicopter and flown to a waiting 44-foot patrol boat from Fort Point.

The area was practically inaccessible by land, so the helicopter lift was used, the Coast Guard reported. The boat reportedly was high and dry and the four men uninjured.

Rescued were T. G. Anthony, 35, of San Pablo; Jerry Anger, 44, and J. H. Payne, 42, both of Richmond, and Chief Petty Officer Martin W. Helton, 2c, of the vessel Leonard F. Mason.

The Coast Guard received the call reporting the stranded boat at 12:47 p.m. The four men were taken to Fort Point.

Zucker Submits Budget Increase

Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker today submitted a proposed planning department budget of $383,915 for next fiscal year, up $3,366 from the current year.

In presenting the proposal to the planning commission, he aaid that the emphasis on advanced planning would change from 25 per cent of staff time to about 45 per cent.

He said the proposed budget did not include all figures for the county general plan, proposed to start in the coming fiscal year. This would be financed largely through federal funds.

Zucker said the commission did not have to act on the proposal, but could endorse it if it wished.

This left commissioners in something of a dilemma, since they thought they should review it item by item if they were to recommend the budget to supervisors.

Commission Chairman Margaret Azevedo suggested the commission go on record "in sympathy with the proposed budget."

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty protested, saying the commission should approve the budget. He later softened his phrasing to say the commission should say the budget "appears reasonable" and the increased emphasis on advanced planning was sound.

This got a 6-0 vote from the commission. Commissioner Claude Stoller was absent.

Trusty Back In Jail— Marijuana

Merton Wesley Spaulding, 21, should have walked away from Marin County Jail at 8 a.m. today a free man after serving nine months for car theft.

"You won't be seeing me again," he told jailers yesterday as he cleaned up the parking lot where he had been put to work as an outside trusty because of good behavior. But he made one mistake.

At 2:40 p.m. he put away his brushes and walked across to a garbage can, stooped down and picked up a package.

It was what Inspector Kenneth and Deputy Frank Kane had been waiting for. They had staked out the can since seeing the package there at 1 p.m.

They took the package out of the front pocket of Spaulding's jail jeans and asked him what was inside it. He said he did not know. Deputies said it contained marijuana.

At 8 a.m. today, Spaulding was back inside a cell booked on a charge of conspiracy. Sheriff's officers said they were questioning other inmates of the jail today.

Trials On Robbery, Bad Checks Docketed

Jury trials for Paul E. Bradley, charged with armed robbery, and Marie Della Maderios, accused of possession of worthless checks with intent to defraud others, were scheduled on the master calendar of Marin Superior Court today to start at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Bradley, 34, and Thurman Levi Thompson, 36, of 88 Rocca Road, Fairfax, allegedly used a knife on Jan. 8, 1966, to rob Harold E. Pennington at the Standard Service Station, 7417 Redwood Highway, Novato, of about $75.

Thompson originally was also scheduled for the jury trial but failed to appear for court proceedings Jan. 24 and is a fugitive.

Trial for Bradley, of 103 Redwood Road, Fairfax, will be before Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court, sitting in extra sessions court for the superior court. The trial is expected to last three days.

Mrs. Maderios, 31, of Oakland, allegedly had three checks in her possession in San Rafael and Corte Madera last Nov. 6-7 with intent to defraud others. Her trial is scheduled for four days before Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Two Finish Their Naval Training

Two Navy men from Marin have completed recruit training at the U.S. Naval Training Center in San Diego and four others are taking technical training, the Navy has announced.

Any Parking Beefs? Survey Is Launched

What do you think of the parking situation in San Rafael?

You'll have a chance to state your opinions in a survey which San Rafael Chamber of Commerce started today "to assist San Rafael City Council in establishing a realistic parking program."

Five thousand printed questionnaires will be left on parked cars around the city and distributed through shops for six weeks, said chamber manager Jack Alvarado.

The survey includes questions like: "Are you an all-day parker?" and "Would you prefer a two hour meter limit using pennies, nickels and dimes on Fourth Street?"

Question No. 9 is, "Approximately how many violations have you received for overtime parking while shopping?"

The questionnaires are accompanied by a self-addressed envelope, and when results have been computed the chamber will make a presentation and recommendations to the city council, Alvarado said.

Judge Orders Hospital Stay

John C. Livesay, 44, who was returned to Marin County Jail Friday after a 90-day observation period at Atascadero State Hospital, has been ordered by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court back to the hospital for an indeterminate period as a sexual psychopath.

Livesay, of Petaluma, was convicted by jury Nov. 9 of committing lewd and lascivious behavior with children aged 7 to 9 last July in San Anselmo. He also was found guilty of committing an unnatural sexual act.

The new commitment suspends further court proceedings.

Marin Planners Continue Almonte Zoning Discussion

The Marin County Planning Commission today heard two hours of discussion on commercial zones in Almonte before setting new hearings for further discussion on March 20.

The commission at one point adopted a change from commercial to duplex and single-family zoning at Almonte Boulevard and Stadium Way, but rescinded this later, agreeing to hold a hearing on rezoning for apartments rather than duplexes on the west side of Stadium Way. The change from commercial to single-family on the east side of Stadium Way stood.

Getting more discussion were proposed changes from commercial zoning at Wisteria Way and Almonte Boulevard.

The commission agreed that three lots at the northwest corner of the intersection should remain commercial, rather than go to single-family residential as earlier recommended. It recommended change from comrecial to single-family zoning on a parcel just west of these lots and another parcel just south bounded by Wisteria, Sending and Wembury ways and Lavender Lane.

Hearing was set March 20 on rezoning a parcel at the southwest corner of Almonte Boulevard and Wisteria Way from commercial to apartments, rather than single-family as originally recommended.

Allison Hana had asked a permit to build an eight-unit apartment with shops beneath on this parcel. This was protested by neighbors today.

Hana agreed to continue his application until March 20 to see what zone is adopted. He said he would agree to drop the idea for the shops and reduce the number of units to four if the commission wants.

Napa Hospital Patient Taken From Gate Span

An out-patient from Napa State Hospital was rescued by California Highway Patrol and four bridge workers when he climbed over a Golden Gate Bridge railing Friday.

Patrol officer George J. Sharp was notified shortly after noon that a man had climbed over the rail above the south anchorage of the bridge cables. Officer Sharp joined maintenance Supt. Bud Mullins, electrical foreman Martin Siem, tollman Raymond Parker and toll foreman Paul Itanen in pulling the man back to safety on the sidewalk.

The man was identified as Robert Frank McNally, 49, with an out-patient pass from the state hospital.

Officer Sharp said it was McNally's fourth attempt to jump from the bridge, his last previous try having been last November 4. He was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

Caller Is Right, Auto Stolen One

A Novato housewife, suspicious about a car parked in front of her home, telephoned police Friday.

The car turned out to be stolen, and police began questioning several Novato High School pupils about the theft.

The woman, who lives a block from the high school, first noticed the car parked in front of her home at 2 a.m. Later, a group of youths drove it away and returned it just before school, she told police.

The car, a 1964 model belonging to Marjorie R. Smith of 700 Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael, was stolen Thursday from Macy's department store lot in San Rafael.

Corte Madera Buys Mural Of Town's History

The Town of Corte Madera has purchased a $750 mural depicting the town's history for display at Town Hall, Mayor Edward W. Colthurst announced today.

Kenneth Potter of 105 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, painted the mural for the town's 50th anniversary last year. An unveiling ceremony is scheduled at the Town Council meeting March 20 at 7:30 p.m.

The eight by eight and one-half foot mural is done in India ink and acrylic paint with washes of golden ochre and sepia.

Potter has been an exhibitor in major art competitions since 1948 and has won more than 35 awards.

Floor Plans On Agenda For Council

Belvedere City Council will take a look at architect Allan Steinau's rendering and floor plans for proposed city hall offices at its meetin gat Community Hall at 8 p.m. today.

City Mgr. William L Cavalli said there may be a recommendation on the granting of a community antenna television franchise by the council committee of Mayor John R. Moore, Thomas S. Price and Cavalli.

Cavalli and Police Chief William S. Woodington will report on an investigation of the Cove and Lagoon roads intersection which some residents want reopened.

Cavalli said he intends to ask the council to retain an engineer to study the sewer problem on San Rafael Avenue.

The council will discuss a proposal by Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, for a senior citizen recreation program, in which the county would participate with 50 per cent matching funds, up to $2,000.

Bad Check Brings Year

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court today gave James Allen Calkins, 22, a year in county jail and placed him on three years probation in separate actions involving revocation of probation and possession of a check with intent to defraud.

Calkins, of San Jose, was convicted by jury Jan. 13 of attempting to cash a worthless check for $126 at Value World in Larkspur last Oct. 8. He already had been placed on three years probation and given 60 days in jail on Jan. 11 for forgery.

Judge Keating revoked the probation today, sentenced Calkins to the year in jail, then placed him on a new three-year probation term on the check possession conviction.

A co-defendant in the check possession case, Gilbert Lucas Bernal, 22, of San Jose, was given a 90-day jail term and placed on a year's probation Feb. 27 after pleading guilty.

'Save Kent Island' Chairman Is Named

Today is Monday, March 6, the 65th day of 1967 with 300 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new stage. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Italian painter Michelangelo was born on this day in 1475.

On this day in history:

In 1836, after a siege of 13 days, the Mexican forces of Santa Anna finally captured the Alamo in San Antonio, Tex. All 87 Americans were killed, including Davey Crockett.

In 1857, the Supreme Court handed down its famed Dred Scott decision. It ruled that Scott, a Negro slave, could not sue for his freedom in a federal court.

In 1947, the Supreme Court upheld a lower chamber ruling that fined John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers $710,000 for an illegal strike the year before.

In 1964, King Paul of Greece died at the age of 62 and his son Constantine became ruler.

A thought for the day—British author George Meredith once said: "I expect that women will be the last thing civilized by men."

Opening lead — ♡ 9

Declarer covered the nine of hearts with dummy's ten and captured the jack with the king.

He continued with a diamond, winning with dummy's queen when West played low.

SHORTEST WAY

Since the shortest way back to the South hand was by way of trumps, declarer next led a trump from dummy, losing the king to the ace. West led a heart to dummy's ace, and South drew two rounds of trumps and led his other diamond.

It was all very brisk and straightforward, but South was already dead.

West stepped up with the ace of diamonds and led a club to East's king.

East then took the setting trick with the queen of hearts.

CUT COMMUNICATIONS

South threw his contract away by leading a trump from dummy after taking the queen of diamonds.

Instead of taking the shortest route to his hand he must first lead a club.

This takes the only possible entry out of the East hand before East is ready to cash a heart trick.

No matter what the defenders do, South can proceed with his plays in trumps and diamonds.

The best defense is for West to win the club trick and lead another heart to dummy's ace.

South ruffs a club high and leads a diamond. West steps up with the ace of diamonds and leads another club, which South again ruffs with a high trump.

Now South still has the deuce and six of spades and can reach dummy with the seven or eight of spades to cash the king of diamonds and thus get rid of his losing heart.

It's a long road, but it gets you home.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ K Q J 10 9 6 2
♥ K 5 4
♦ K 5 4
♣ 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade. You would jump at once to four spades if you did not have the king of hearts. Since you actually have second-round control in both hearts and clubs, it is foolish to make a shutout bid and thus discourage partner from making a slam try.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Nine Out Of 10 Persons Suffer More Or Less Motion Illness

VAN DELLEN

Motion sickness is a common disturbance and more than 90 per cent of our population is susceptible in the right circumstances. Only a few become ill when traveling by plane if the air is mildly turbulent. But in a real storm when the craft bounces about like a toy balloon, few are likely to escape. The situation is the same on an ocean liner.

Some travelers have a phobia about ships and become seasick walking up the gangplank. We all have heard of rough crossings where three-quarters of the passengers hugged the rail or stayed below.

ANYONE WHO is susceptible to motion sickness should avoid heavy and greasy foods before starting on a trip; a small meal with a moderate amount of liquid is preferred.

An untroubled mind also helps and, after entering the conveyance, the individual should relax in a place where the ventilation is adequate. A soft cushion or pillow will absorb vibrations and if noise is bothersome, cotton earplugs may be used.

BUT THESE aids have their limitations and a motion sickness remedy is suggested to play safe. There are many drugs of this type; some require a prescription; others can be bought over the drugstore counter.

Motion sickness usually begins with nausea and increased salivation. The victim swallows as fast as he can, breaks out in a cold sweat and becomes weak and dizzy. If nausea leads to vomiting, temporary relief may ensue. Others encounter headaches or are forced to lie down.

OCCASIONALLY symptoms persist after reaching the destination, especially in those who have been tossed about in a plane. This discomfort can be alleviated by inhaling 100 per cent oxygen for

Mill Valley Artist Sued For Divorce

A divorce suit alleging cruelty and adultery has been filed in Marin Superior Court against Mill Valley mosaic artist Alfonso Pardinas, 43.

Christina R. Pardinas asks her share of community property, custody of the two daughters, aged 4 and 2, and $1,000 monthly support for herself and the children

She alleges that Pardinas, owner of Byzantine Mosaics, in San Francisco, indulged in adultery Feb. 15 in San Francisco.

The complaint says Pardinas has a $12,000 interest in a mosaic factory in Mexico, and $10,000 in a San Francisco waterfront project, and is worth about $166,000, she alleges.

The couple wed in Germany Nov. 8, 1961, and reside at 442 Panoramic Highway, Homestead Valley.

School Sites To Be Viewed

The purchase of additional school sites will come before the Novato Unified School District Board when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the administration building.

It will consider the application to purchase an elementary school site in San Marin and purchase of additional elementary and junior high school sites.

Other items to come before the board include air conditioning of schools, evening classes in the adult high school for the spring term, and setting holidays for next school year for non-teaching employees.

Trio Is Accused Of Shoplifting

Employees of Mac Disco Store, 555 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, accused a boy and two girls, all from San Rafael, of shoplifting in the sundries department Saturday afternoon.

Police said the boy, 13, took a carton of cigarettes and the girls, ages unknown, each lifted a lipstick. The youth was booked at Juvenile Hall and the girls were released to their parents.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Excellent Series Carries Bad Title

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —I find it very depressing that NBC-TV has named its new Sunday series "Experiment in Television." Whenever a network labels a show with a title like that, you can be sure it airs on Sunday afternoons—which this does—and that it has a creepy flute theme, and that about 10 persons watch, eight of them critics.

Every viewer should, of course, be pleased the series is on the air—two of the three shows have been effective—but the title strikes an observer as a high-toned copout that justifies keeping the programs out of prime time. The two effective shows, both dramas—one set in the Negro Watts area of Los Angeles, the other an off-Broadway play—were hardly experimental at all, unless one is naive or provincial, and I give NBC-TV more credit than that.

EASY WAY OUT

No—it is all too easy to take a couple of plays that might stir up the animals if shown in prime time, and send them off to the vast no-man's-land of Sunday afternoons, and that way one avoids headaches with sponsors—who, in fact, are unfortunately discouraged from participating because of the "experiment" tag. I must say I admire ABC-TV all the more for putting its so-called experimental series, "Stage 67," in prime time, come what may, and with pretty certain knowledge the ratings would be thin.

NBC-TV tried to maintain its "experiment" gimmick yesterday by introducing Emanuel Peluso's one-act drama, "Good Day," as "a new play by a new playwright." Well, it wasn't a new play at all. As the network previously noted in its own press released, it was a 1965 off-Broadway work that attracted considerable attention. And it would have been a welcome entry in prime time.

ACTING EXERCISE

It was, in fact, less a drama than an odd yet intriguing acting exercise concerning a smug, stuffy and eventually cruel young man who comes to the strange home of a regal, well-to-do old woman in reply to a job ad in a newspaper.

The woman was portrayed by the accomplished performer Jo van Fleet, and the young man by a talented fellow named Frank Langella. Mr. Langella seems to be one of the few young American actors who appreciates the grace and effect of refined diction.

THE PLOT

As it turns out, the old woman is willing to pay a lot of money just to be talked to, and before you know it we are involved in that favorite tactic of the Edward Albee-inspired new American theatre—people sitting around tearing each other to shreds with words. If the ending—the young man's complete capitulation and misery—was less than convincing, the exercise was still diverting.

What aroused the old woman's latent hatred for the young man and his self-proclaimed dignity was his story of the way he cruelly used a sickly girl who loved him—manipulating her merely to get material for a book he was writing, until she died. As the old woman brought the young man to heel in retribution, we once again recognized the theme—we are all murderers if we live within the walls of our smug self-satisfaction and fail to give to those who need us, and sooner or later we will pay.

Tracy Smith Steals Show With Record Run

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Mon., March 6, 1967 25

OAKLAND (AP)—A terribly frustrated man — so dejected that he quit college to report for military service "to get it over with"— is the new world three-mile record holder—and possibly the United States' brightest hope for a distance winner in the 1968 Olympics.

He is Tracy Smith, 21, of Arcadia, Calif. He raced to such a smashing three-mile victory at the AAU national indoor track and field meet that a crowd of nearly 10,000 stood and cheered madly at the final quarter-mile.

"I couldn't understand why they were so wild," Tracy said. "I had no idea I had a chance to break a world record.

"Then I began to see people's eyes popping out all around the track."

13:16.2

Tracy's long sprint lowered the record to 13:16.2 Saturday night in Oakland's new Coliseum Arena. That's 2.2 seconds below the 13:18.4 which Australian Ron Clarke ran in 1964.

That earned him the newsmen's vote as Outstanding Athlete of the meet.

Miss Madeline Manning of Tennessee State, who won the 880 in world record - equaling time of 2:08.4, was voted Outstanding Woman Athlete. She also ran the 440 leg Friday night as Tennessee State set a world record 1:46.6 in the sprint medley relay.

Tennessee State ran away with the women's team title with 33 points to runnerup Los Angeles Mercurettes' 14.

Defending champion Southern California Striders had to share the men's team title with the Long Beach 49er Track Club because of a dropped baton. Each scored 33 points. The Striders lost a precious 34th point for fourth place in the mile relay because the team was disqualified. The wrong runner picked up the dropped baton.

WILL RETURN

Oakland will host the AAU meet again Feb. 23-24, 1968, under sponsorship of Athens, Inc., which brought this meet to the new Arena.

Tracy Smith, a blond, 5-11, 162-pounder, has been trying to find himself in three years in college.

As California state interscholastic mile champion at 4:13, he was welcomed to Oregon State. An injury as a freshman set him back in training. Discouraged, he quit and the next year transferred to Pasadena City College.

There he caught the measles, missed 10 days of training, got discouraged and left school.

He returned to Oregon State and as a sophomore placed in three events at the 1965 NCAA meet in Berkeley, the three-mile, six-mile and steeplechase.

The injury jinx hit again early in January — a strained hamstring muscle. He lost four weeks of training.

"I couldn't concentrate. I felt bogged down . . . like I was just spinning my wheels. I wasn't getting anywhere. I felt sick.

"Finally, I decided to go in the Army and fulfill my military requirement. Maybe I can handle school better after two

Ten-Year Veteran Status More Than Honorary, It's Monetary

HANLEY

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. — Jim Davenport becomes a 10 year major league veteran this season. Being a 10 year man in baseball isn't just an honorary status. Indeed not. Ten year status qualifies players for substantial benefits.

BENEFITS OF THE baseball players pension plan were doubled this year for five and 10 year men. A five year man now is entitled at age 50 to $250 a month for life. A 10 year man's pension at 50 is $500 a month.

"That's a pretty nice fixed income to look forward to," said Davenport who now is 33.

INSURANCE AND medical benefits also were substantially increased this year. Life insurance ranges from $12,000 for a first year man to $50,000 for a 20 year veteran.

Medical and hospital expenses are covered in full for the first $1,000 and 80 per cent of all over $1,000. Maternity allowances were upped from $350 to $500.

"FOR $180 A YEAR or $15 a month a ball player may continue the medical and hospital plan after his playing career ends," said Tom Haller, player representative of the Giants.

"Our pension plan with its accompanying insurance and medical features was used as a model by the football pros when they set up their plan. Baseball takes care of its own."

HALLER REPORTED THAT player representatives who met last week in Miami voted unanimously for the increased pension plan benefits. They now will be referred to the players for approval. An informal poll of the Giants disclosed unanimous approval of the new benefits.

It would be difficult to understand anything but a unanimous vote of approval, especially since the pension plan is free to the players. They used to contribute $2 a day to its support but no longer.

"THIS ACTUALLY IS the first year players will not contribute to the plan," said Haller. "The $2 a day fee will be used toward operation costs of the players own office headquarters."

The pension fund, now $33 million, will receive another $4.1 million infusion this year from the 1967 World Series and All-Star game. All but five per cent of the All-Star receipts go to the pension fund. Sixty per cent of the World Series television fee goes to the fund.

THE FUND IS administered by a Cleveland corporation of retirement experts under the overall supervision of the baseball commissioner.

A Lefthanded Double For Giant Hal Lanier

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—Tom Haller's squad got a homer from rookie Bill Sorrell while winning the San Francisco Giants' first intra-squad game, 3-1, yesterday over Willie Mays' contingent.

Sorrell, drafted from the Pacific Coast League, hit his roundtripper off right hander Frank Kasheta. Six pitchers, each working one inning, took the hill.

Ray Sadecki, pitcher who gave up the other two runs to the Haller club, allowed a single to Frank Johnson, a walk to Ken Henderson and a double to Frank Hiatt, a powerful right handed pinch-hitter.

Hal Lanier, who teamed with Tito Fuentes for a doubleplay, scored the only run for Mays' squad. He doubled, went to third on a passed ball and came home on a sacrifice fly by Mays.

Lanier was batting left handed at the plate in an attempt to establish himself as a switch hitter. He usually bats from the right side. In his other plate appearance he struck out.

Lanier tossed to Fuentes who relayed to the first baseman for the twin killing.

Henderson displayed a fine early season eye by walking three consecutive times, one of them resulting in the Haller squad's final run.

San Francisco Mayor John Shelley, who had been visiting the training site since Friday, left camp yesterday and returned to business at City Hall. He had been discussing expansion of Candlestick Park, the Giants' home grounds, with Giant officals.

The city and team officials were trying to work out financial details that would clear the way for expanding the stadium from its present 45,000-seat capacity to 66,000 capacity. Also the expansion would make the park suitable for professional football.

Neither Mayor Shelley nor Giants' president Horace Stoneham would comment on the developments of the talks, but sources close to the two men said red tape had been cleared away that could make the project possible.

Warriors May Win Title While Sitting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors, who need only one victory to clinch the National Basketball Association's Western Division championship, are getting a rest before they meet the second place St. Louis Hawks.

Rick Barry's jammed thumb should heal before the confrontation Friday with the hungary Hawks. Barry, bothered by the thumb, sat out the fourth period and scored only seven points in the Warriors' 115-103 loss to New York yesterday.

That loss and St. Louis' 132-103 victory over Baltimore left the Hawks eight games behind San Francisco. The Warriors have just eight games remaining.

New York's Willis Reed with 43 points and ball hawk Emmet Bryant with several ball thefts prevented the Warriors from icing the title. They also revenged the Warriors' Saturday victory over the Knicks 111-102 in Fresno.

With the Warriors hitting only 30 per cent of their shots from the floor in the first half, the Knicks started for their victory by building up a 71-57 halftime lead. The Warriors pulled to within 85-80, but Bryant swiped two San Francisco passes and assisted in two quick New York layups.

Without Barry in the game, the Warriors were unable to score consistently and the Knicks won easily.

The seriousness of Barry's stubbed thumb was not known, but it was thought he would play Friday.

Trojans Again Win Swim Title

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Before the Pacific - 8 swimming and diving meet at the University of Oregon, experts predicted this might be the first year since 1961 that Southern California was toppled as the conference champion.

It wasn't.

The Trojans piled up seconds and thirds in the semifinals and added three first in Saturday's finals in the 25-yard Oregon pool, winning with 295 points.

Stanford, which was expected to give the Trojans competition, finished second with 229 points, followed by UCLA with 138, Oregon, 111, Washington, 66, California, 27, Oregon State, 7, and Washington State, 6.

The Trojans now go after their fifth straight NCAA title March 23-25 at Michigan State.

Four meet records and one NCAA mark were set in the finals.

The USC 800-yard freestyle relay team of Russ Kidder, Tony Gleason, Dean Willidord and Bill Johnson was timed in 7:05.1, bettering the meet mark of 7:13.9 the same team set in the preliminaries.

Another Trojan victory came in the 100-yard freestyle, where Don Havens swam 46.7, beating the meet record of 47.1 that Oregon's Bob Boyer had set in the preliminaries.

Dick McDermott of USC compiled 402.45 points to win the three-meter diving event.

Stanford had three winners.

Dick Roth swam the 200-yard backstroke in 1:59.2, bettering the meet mark of 2:00.7 set by Bob Bennett of USC in 1965.

Bob Momsen of Stanford on the 200 - yard breaststroke in 2:16.0 and his teammage, Louis Nicolao, won the 100-yard butterfly in 51.7.

Mike Burton of UCLA won the 1,650-yard freestyle in 16:33.6. That bettered the meet record of 17:09.7 set by Oregon's Dick Boyd in 1965, and the NCAA mark of 16:39.9 set by Roy Saari of USC in 1965.

Litchfield Baseballers Win, 18-O!

Litchfield's of San Rafael stayed alive by a spider's thread yesterday.

The defending champions of the San Francisco Winter Baseball League stayed mathematically in the running for a second straight crown by blasting the Spiders, 18-0, unleashing a 23 hit barrage while pitchers Bob De Rosa and Elray Laughlin combined for five-hit, 17-strikeout pitching.

The win still left Litchfield's a game behind New Pisa, which tripped Chops, 13-1, as time is running out. Litchfield's has only one more crack at it with the final weekend of play coming up.

Rich Jeffries cracked a grand slam home run and Dave Barni and Jerry Bosch had four hits each.

Deadly Game . . . Karate Blow Is Fatal To Youth

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A San Mateo youth died Saturday night of a ruptured spleen, the result of a karate blow he received in the Northern California Karate Championships at Civic Auditorium earlier in the day.

He was Daniel F. Stewart, 18, who lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Stewart, at 1600 Echo St., San Mateo.

Deputy Coroner Gerald Davis said Stewart was felled by a severe blow in a bout at about 4 p.m.

A police report said the attending physician gave first aid and permitted the bout to continue for a few minutes.

Stewart went from the auditorium to a friend's house. About 10 p.m. he became ill and was taken to San Francisco General Hospital. He died an hour after he was admitted.

Identity of Stewart's opponent in the karate bout was not disclosed, pending an investigation by police.

Bob Hachmyer Leads Tourney

Bob Hachmyer piled up 39 points to take the first-round lead in the Indian Valley Men's Golf Club Stableford fifty-four hole tournament yesterday.

Other scorers were Jerry Evans, 37, Frank Kirby and Bill Brady, 36 Bob Cruickshank, 35 Al Randig and Art Sears, 34, Jay Harralson, Ken Boyd and Rowe Waller, 33.

SPLISH SPLASH BOGEY—Tommy Aaron, erstwhile leader in the Doral Open in Miami, came up against soggy disaster on the ninth hole yesterday as he sends up a geyser of water trying to free his ball. He not only got wet, but took two penalty strokes for "grounding" his club before this shot. Doug Sanders eventually won. (UPI Telephoto)

Disaster Strikes Aaron

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Doug Sanders came through with a solid 70 while Tommy Aaron could show only a sad smile for his efforts in the final round of Doral Open Golf Tournament yesterday.

Sanders wound up with a nine-under-par 275 to win the $20,000 first prize and Aaron shook his head in disbelief after a quadruple bogey on the ninth hole.

"No," Aaron said, "I don't feel like I'm jinxed."

But many others felt differently when disaster struck the amiable, 30-year-old Georgian just when a big dream — his first victory on the golf trail — seemed about to come true.

WATER HAZARD

A water hazard and an official penalty saddled Aaron with the monstrous quadruple bogey just as the title seemed in his grasp.

And Sanders came through the wreckage to take it away from him.

Aaron had come close before. He had led several other tournaments and finished hot on the heels of the leaders.

But he had never been in such a position as he enjoyed yesterday. Coming up to the 63rd hole, he was 10 under par, leading South African Harold Henning by one stroke and the old pros, Jack Nacklaus and Sanders, by two.

And Aaron was playing better than any of them, refusing to yield to the pressures.

THE NINTH

Then came the ninth, a simple, 181-yard, par-3 hole. His tee shot splashed just off the water's edge into a lake guarding the left side of the green.

The water just covered the ball and Aaron took off a shoe, placed his right foot ankle deep in the water, and blasted out. The ball cleared the water by two feet.

Shaken, Aaron chipped over the green and back and two-putted for a double bogey 5.

He still had hopes until Wade Cagle, assistant tournament supervisor, asked him if he knew that he had rippled the water on his back swing, which would be the same as grounding the club in a sand trap.

WIND

"I told him no," Aaron said. "The wind was high, I was standing in the water, and I had to move when I swung. I think that may have caused the ripples."

He filed a protest but it was not allowed and he took an additional two-stroke penalty.

"I was never so upset by a ruling," Aaron said. "I was never so disturbed by anything in my life. I couldn't come back from it."

Henning and Art Wall tied for second at 276. Nicklaus took fourth at 277.

Aaron, taking a 77 for 287, wound up in a five-way tie for fifth with George Archer, Lionel Herbert, Bobby Nichols and Miller Barber.

UCLA Quint Hopes To End The Same Way It Started

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

All UCLA coach Johnny Wooden can hope for is to finish the season this Saturday the way it began three months ago.

His undefeated and No. 1 ranked Bruins end their regular and Pacific-8 Conference basketball season against traditional rival Southern California.

Way back on Dec. 3, UCLA picked up its first of 25 victories so far by beating USC 105-90 in a non-conference game. UCLA also beat the Trojans 107-83 in the finals of the Los Angeles Classic and 40-35 in an overtime conference game Feb. 4.

Conference champion UCLA had little trouble last Saturday afternoon beating California 103-66—the highest point total ever run up against the Bears. Lew Alcindor scored 30 points.

Meanwhile, USC was taking its second straight two - point loss, 81-79 at Stanford. Washington State needed an overtime period to knock off Oregon 82-79 for the Ducks' 11th conference defeat without a victory and Oregon State beat Washington 69-66 in Seattle.

Washington plays host to Oregon State tonight and Oregon moves on to Seattle to meet Washington.

UCLA is scheduled to continue its season in NCAA championship competition starting March 17 in Corvallis, Ore., against the Western Athletic Conference titlist. Brigham Young and Wyoming first must play off to decide who gets to meet the Bruins.

About the only bright moment in California's loss to UCLA was supplied by 5 - foot - 10 Rusty Critchfield. He scored 28 points, giving him 502 for the season and the California single-cam paign mark.

Sophomore Don Griffin led a Stanford fast break with 30 points, although an Indian stall starting three minutes from the end almost allowed USC to catch up.

Behind 79-72 with 50 seconds to go, the Trojans broke the stall twice and scored five unanswered points before Gary Petersmeyer iced it by sinking both ends of a one-and-one foul shot opportunity for Stanford with 18 seconds left.

Washington State reserve guard Mike Fels replaced starter Ray Stein, who had fouled out, and then really went to work. Fels scored two baskets in the last 18 seconds against Oregon, the last bucket sending the game into overtime.

U.S. Fails To Crack Ski Barrier

OSLO, Norway (AP) — American ski jumpers came up short again in competition against Europe's best at the 75th Holmenkollen jumping classic.

Bjorn Wirkola and Bent Tomtum gave Norway a 1-2 finish in the event yesterday while the best American effort was turned in by John Balfanz of Minneapolis, who placed 45th with leaps of 237 and 236 feet.

A crowd of 70,000 — including King Olaf, Prince Harald and Princess Astrid of Norway — saw Wirkola, a two-time world champion, soar 271 and 269 feet and earn 211.1 points for distance and style. Tomtum, a junior, took second place with 201.9 points on jumps of 269 and 270 feet.

Max Golser of Austria was third with 201.8 points and had the longest jump of the day — 274 feet.

Franz Keller of West Germany took the combined title, based on the jumping event and Saturday's 15-kilometer cross country race, with 258.25 points. John Bower of Auburn, Maine, finished 12th in the combined standings.

years in the service."

So Tracy quit Oregon State and started home. En route, he decided to visit the fishing lodge of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith in the Sierra.

From Bishop, Calif. altitude 4,000 feet, he ran (R-A-N, that is) the 17 miles up ,(U-P, that is) from Bishop to the lodge, altitude 8,400.

To his great surprise he did it, in bitter cold, in 2 hours, 17 minutes—2 minutes faster than he had on three previous summer runs.

Greatly encouraged by that, and by four days of camping out in the clear, cold Sierra, he came to Oakland.

"I would have been happy to finish second or third," Tracy said. "I still doubted my condition."

GREAT AID

He said the crowd's roaring, standing ovation helped greatly. And he personally thanked Britain's Derek Graham for "setting a perfect pace." The first quarter was run in 64 seconds and the first mile in 4:13.

It was the greatest three-mile race, ever. Graham, 13:25.9, faded to fourth. Oscar Moore, Southern Illinois, 13:22.2, was second and Van Nelson, St. Cloud, Minn., 13:23.9, third.

Sam Bell, who recruited Tracy to Oregon State — then himself moved to the University of California-Berkeley, as track coach—sees his young find as "a potential Olympics champion in 1968 at 5,000 or 10,000 meters or possibly the steeplechase — whatever distance he chooses."

Racial Barriers Keep Crumbling In Dixie

ATLANTA (AP) — Racial barriers which have kept Negroes out of college athletics in Dixie are continuing to crumble, with Georgia Tech joining the growing list of Southern schools recruiting Negro athletes.

However, the whites only sign still is up unofficially in athletics at many Southern campuses despite integration of high school sports in most of Dixie.

Georgia Tech's decision to actively recruit Negroes was disclosed Saturday after two all-Negro teams had battled into the finals of the formerly all-white Georgia high school basketball championship, with Negroes also playing on other teams in the tournament.

Athletic Director Bobby Dodd said Georgia Tech "will recruit any athlete we feel is good enough both athletically and in school," and he said a Negro football player was offered an athletic grant but failed to meet the school's stiff scholastic requirements.

Several other major colleges in the South have Negroes on their freshman teams or are recruiting Negroes this winter.

Vanderbilt has two Negroes on its frosh basketball team, including standout Perry Wallace, who rooms with a white athlete. Two Negroes on Kentucky's freshman football team last fall are expected to become the first of their race to play football in the Southeastern Conference next fall.

Negroes have never competed in any sport on a varsity level in the SEC except baseball, where Tulane's Steve Martin played conference rivals last spring before the Green Wave dropped out of the league.

Tennessee has been wooing a Negro football standout from South Carolina this winter, and Louisiana State has expressed interest in signing a Negro prep basketball star from New Orleans.

Miami recently signed its first Negro to a football grant, and Negroes have gone out on their own for sports at Georgia and Florida, although none was given an athletic grant and neither school is actively recruiting Negroes.

Alabama Athletic Director Paul (Bear) Bryant, who also coaches football, told a national television audience last fall that segregation no longer is a problem for the Crimson Tide, but no Negroes have ever been on athletic teams there, and there are no plans now to recruit them.

Auburn also is not pursuing Negroes, and neither is Mississippi State or Mississippi, where Coach Johnny Vaught said last fall he would not be around when a Negro was found good enough to play football at Ole Miss.

Southeastern Conference officials say they expect integration to come quietly next year in football and basketball, and the subject never was officially discussed at a recent league meeting.

However, a national magazine said Mississippi canceled two freshman basketball games against Vanderbilt because of the Commodores' Negroes.

Ole Miss officials said the cancellation came because of travel problems, and pointed out they have been playing football teams with Negro players.

World Skating Champions May Repeat At Olympics

VIENNA (AP) — The world's best figure skaters — past and present — said the winners in the 1967 World Figure Skating Championships will dominate the competition next year in the Winter Olympics.

They say there is nobody yet who can match the grace and precision of Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., in the women's skating.

They say that Emmerich Danzer, the Viennese grocer's son, still is supreme in the men's division and that Russia's Ludmila Belousova and Oleg Protopopov, although both in their 30s, can still hold off a pack of talented young challengers.

And all agree that England's Diane Towler and Bernard Ford are the best of the ice dancers.

Dick Button, one of the world's all-time great figure skaters and now a television sports producer, made this prediction for the 1968 winter Olympics at Grenoble, France:

"If this year's winners skate as good as they can, they will win again."

Two-time women's champ, Miss Fleming, an 18-year-old Colorado college freshman, put the finger on Karen Magnussen of Canada as an up-and-comer. At 14, Miss Magnussen was the youngest skater in the women's compeition and finished 12th.

"She is a fireball on ice," Miss Fleming said, "and she has the temperament and talent to be a champion."

Asked about her plans, blue-eyed Peggy said she was thinking only as far ahead as the Olympic Games.

Carlo Fassi, Miss Fleming's coach and a two-time European champion, tabbed Czechoslovakia's Hana Maskova and Miss Magnussen as Peggy's top challengers.

The Czech girl, a long-legged, 17-year-old Prague high school student, finished third behind Miss Fleming and East Germany's Gabriele Seyfert.

"I don't think she is yet good enough to beat Peggy," Fassi said.

Men's champ Danzer, a tall, good-looking 22-year-old, said he would turn professional after the Olympic Games.

"I think I can win the Olympic title," he said, "and after that there will be nothing left for me to win."

Danzer singled out countryman Wolfgang Schwarz and Gary Visconti of Detroit to scramble for the titles when he leaves the amateur scene.

Schwarz led Danzer in the compulsory figures but Danzer edged him out for the title with a brilliant free skating program. Visconti surged from fifth in the compulsories to an over-all third, despite a spill in the free skating finale.

Lorna Dyer and John Carrell of Seattle, Wash., were second in the dance competition and Scott Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., was fifth in the men's division. Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of Settle were third in the pairs event.

The International Skating Union has arranged a European exhibition tour for 21 of the top finishers in the four divisions. The trip begins Tuesday in Graz, Austria, and includes London, Paris, Frankfurt and Moscow. It ends March 23.

All the gold medalists will be along.

University Of Pacific Breaks WCAC Jinx

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of the Pacific has broken a peculiar jinx.

And none too soon.

In the eight year history of the West Coast Athletic Conference Christmas Tournament, not one winner of that event has gone on to capture the conference championship.

The Tigers ended all that foolishness last Saturday night by clinching the title with an impressive 102-77 victory over UC Santa Barbara.

And the last WCAC tournament, in which UOP beat San Francisco for the title, was the last. Conference members decided they saw enough of each other during the league season and wanted to play teams from outside the area during tournament time.

Pacific now moves on to the NCAA Far West Regionals March 17-18 at Corvallis, Ore., where the Tigers will meet the winner of a preliminary contest between Seattle and Texas Western.

First they must play two more WCAC games the next weekend.

The Tigers now are 21-3 overall, 12-0 in conference play and have won 18 in a row.

Once again, burly 6-foot-7 Keith Swagerty lead the Tigers to victory, scoring 20 points and taking down 23 rebounds as UOP swept the boards 83-52 against Santa Barbara.

The Tigers actually didn't have to win to clinch their second straight WCAC crown. For Loyola of Los Angeles defeated Santa Clara 79-70 behind Rick Ragsdale's 26 points and moved into a second-place tie with the Broncos.

Ragsdale set a WCAC free throw record by hitting all of his eight opportunities for 34 straight from the foul line without a miss.

Steve Ebey scored 30 points for Pepperdine as the Waves defeated the University of San Francisco 90-72 for the Dons' fifth straight loss.

San Jose State's Jim Meyer collected 24 points a sth Spartans came back for a 68-64 victory over last-place St. Mary's.

Fiery Pancho Loses Match

NEW YORK (AP) — Stormy Pancho Gonzales fell victim to a temper tantrum and cool young Rod Laver breezed in to the title in the International Pro Invitational Tennis Tournament yesterday.

The break came after the 10th game of the third set, in which the 38-year-old Gonzales had been aced. Gonzales stormed to the net and shouted at the Australian:

"Take more time on that serve. You've quick-served me 10 times."

He then lost his serve at 15-40 in the 11th game, doublefaulting the last point. That gave Laver a 7-5, 14-16, 6-5 lead. Laver easily held service to win the 12th game and the third set and swept past Gonzales 6-2 in the final set.

Marriage License For Net Star

A marriage license yesterday was issued to Harvey Raymond Klyce, 21, of San Rafael and to Elizabeth Ann Palmer, 21, of 15 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley.

The bride-elect, daughter of Dr. Robert Palmer of Mill Valley, is the oldest of six children.

A graduate of San Rafael High School, where he earned four letters and captained the tennis team for three years, the future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Klyce of 122 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael.

Harvey, who is among seven University of California, Irvine, netters currently touring San Francisco Bay Area this weekend, attended Washington University, St. Louis, before a one-year stay at College of Marin—during which time he was the No. 1 man and ranked No. 7 junior college net player in Northern California in "18 and under division," in 1965.

The Anteaters from UCI met Stanford last Thursday, UC Berkeley yesterday, and will take on San Jose State today.

Klyce last year was instrumental in leading UC Irvine to a 12-3 dual-match record in its first year of intercollegiate competition, and presently is ranked No. 2 on the seven-man Anteater squad.

Petty Is Fireball Winner

WEAVERVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Richard Petty, no stranger to the victory circle at the Asheville-Weaverville Speedway, found a different way of getting there yesterday.

He used Junior Johnson's old groove around the half-mile track to score a two-lap victory in a Plymouth in the second annual Fireball 300 stock car race. He also won last year.

Petty used Johnson's favorite path off the high-banked turns to outrun Junior's own car, a 1967 Ford driven by Darel Dieringer.

Johnson, now retired from driving, thrilled fans with his mad dashes high off the second and fourth turns, almost scraping paint off the concrete retaining wall as he roared down the straightaways.

That was the way Petty drove, although he said he hadn't tried to find a different groove, "I just drive different than everybody else."

FORCED WAY

After trailing Dieringer for 103 laps, Petty forced his way around the big yellow Ford in the third and fourth turns and then, one by one, laid his competition in the shade.

Dieringer's was the only car that would run with Petty's. The rest of the field was down for the count after 150 laps.

Bobby Allison took the lead for 24 laps at the 119th lap after Petty and Dieringer made their first pit stops. But Petty passed him on the 144th to regain the lead.

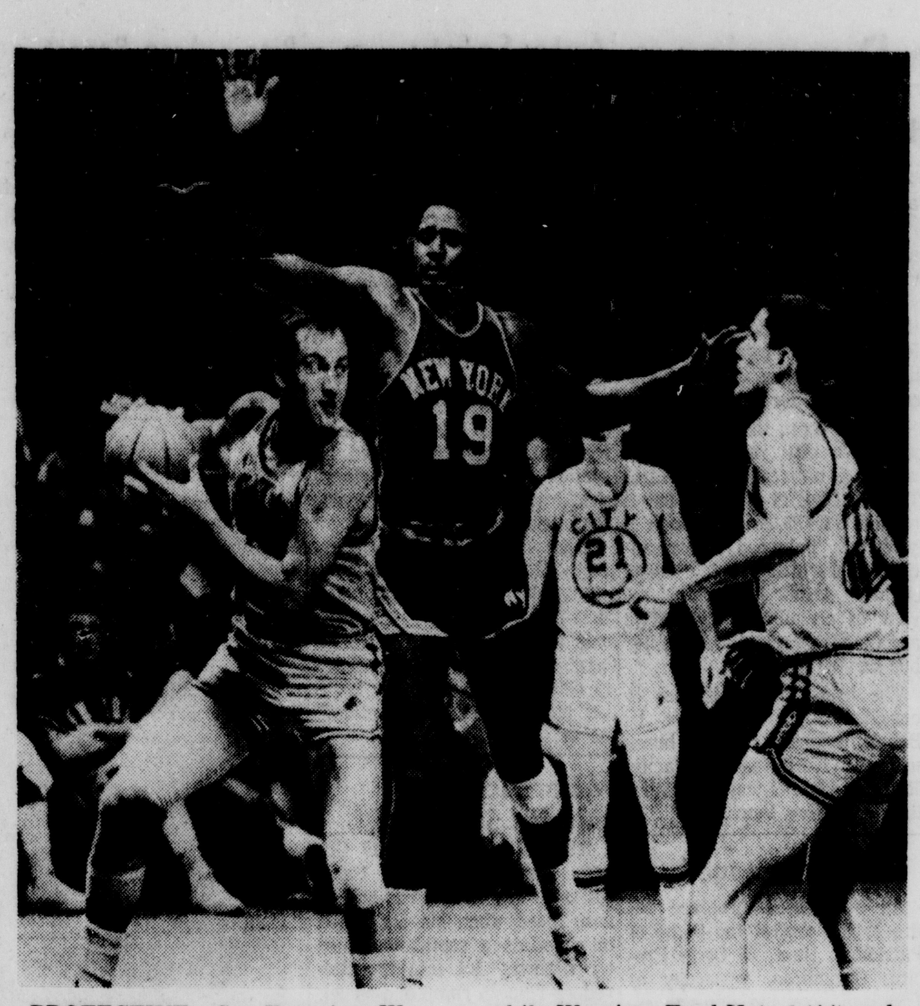
After that it was a duel between Petty and Dieringer.

Petty ran the race in 1 hour, 45 minutes, and 58 seconds at a record speed of 83.360 miles per hour.

He was more than a lap ahead of Dieringer.

Rounding out the top 10 in order were Allison, Chevelle; David Pearson, Dodge; John Sears, Ford; J. T. Putney, Chevelle, Paul Lewis, Dodge, Elmo Langley, Ford; Clyde Lynn, Ford, and Wendell Scott, Ford.

The Grand National cars move to Spartanburg, S.C., for a 100-mile race next Saturday afternoon, and on to Hillsborough, N.C., the next day for the 150-mile Joe Weatherly Memorial Race.



PROTECTIVE—San Francisco Warrior Tom Meschery protects the basketball from New York Knick Willis Reed (19) during first period play of their NBA basketball battle while Warriors Fred Hetzel (44) and Jim King (21) watch. Clay, Folley Examined For Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Both Cassius Clay, the world heavyweight champion, and challenger Zora Folley were scheduled for licensing and physical examinations today by the New York Athletic Commission in preparation for the title bout in New York March 22.

Clay is expected to leave the city immediately after the formalities for a training camp in the Catskills, about 100 miles from New York. Folley also will train in the Catskills, but will remain in New York about three days.

"Man, it's hard to believe," Folley said last night as he prepared to break camp in Chandler, Ariz., for the move to New York. "It's hard to believe. It's been so long."

Folley, 34, has been ranked among the heavyweight contenders for 10 years but has never before had a championship fight.

"He (Clay) at least was decent enough to give me a shot at the title," Folley said. "That's more than I can say for the rest of the champions."

TWO PINCH HIT CHANCES

White Sox Try Experiment

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's October, 1972, and Willie Mays, who is 41 years old, has 713 lifetime home runs, just one less than Babe Ruth's career total. The Giants and Dodgers are tied for the National League lead and are playing each other on the last day of the season.

The Dodgers lead 1-0 in the eighth inning and Mays, used only as a pinch hitter now, bats for the pitcher. He lines the second pitch into the leftfield stands, tying the game and Ruth's record. The crowd goes crazy, but they are waiting for the next inning

The Dodgers go out in order in the ninth and so do the first two Giants and then — what's this? — Mays pinch hits again. Another homer for Willie, who breaks Ruth's record and wins the pennant for the Giants?

Impossible, you say? Against the rules? Maybe not if an experiment now being tried in the Chicago White Sox' spring training camp at Sarasota, Fla., works out.

The Sox announced yesterday they had been given permission to use the same pinch hitter twice in any game against American League opponents during eight games of the grapefruit season. The other teams will have the same option.

The only restrictions are that the batter to be used twice must be designated before the game starts and that he can't bat twice in the same inning.

Eddie Stanky, White Sox manager, said, "Both basketball and football have changed their rules for the fans and we should do the same. Furthermore, this means the specialists can stay around longer and when expansion comes again we can get by with smaller player limits."

Ruken Sets Sights On Kentucky

ARCADIA (AP) — The newly crowned Santa Anita Derby winner, Ruken, will try his luck in the Kentucky Derby May 6, owner-breeder Louis Rowan of nearby Pasadena said yesterday.

Rowan, a wealthy socialite and a former top polo player who served under Gen. George Patton in the Armored Cavalry in World War 11, said that jockey Fernando Alvarez, who rode Ruken Saturday, is his choice for the Kentucky Derby ride.

Alvarez, 29, a native of Chile who has been riding in this country since 1963, has never ridden in the run for the Roses. But he is no stranger to the jewelled race in the Triple Crown. In 1964 he was second on Roman Brother in the Belmont Stakes, behind Quadrangle.

Santa Anita Derby is raced at 1⅛ miles. Can Ruken travel 1¼ miles at Churchill Downs?

"Oh yes," said Alvarez positively.

Ruken, incidentally, is named —there was a slight mixup in the spelling—for J. Rukin Jelks, an old Arizona horseman friend of Mr. and Mrs. Rowan.

Ruken won by 1½ lengths over the favorite, Tumble Wind.

Asked if he were worried about Bill Shoemaker's mount, Alvarez replied, "I worry about Tumble Wind all the time, even before the race."

Chicago Bulls Might Make It To Playoffs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A berth in the National Basketball Association playoffs —just a dream for the Chicago Bulls a few months ago—may become a reality in a few weeks.

The Bulls, newly-created expansion team in the NBA this season, moved to within a half game of the Detroit Pistons in the battle for fourth place in the Western Division yesterday with a 113-106 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

Bob Boozer scored 16 of his 26 points in the fourth period to hold off the Royals who outscored the Bulls 32-29 in that session. The Bulls led by as many as 12 points midway through the third period and went into the final period with an 84-74 lead.

Guy Rodgers scored 29 points to lead the Bulls while Oscar Robertson had 37 for the Royals.

The Philadelphia 76ers dealt the Pistons' playoff hopes a sharp blow by beating them 131-106. Wilt Chamberlain scored a season low of 10 points but had 25 rebounds and 16 assists. Hal Greer had 31 for the 76ers and player-coach Dave DeBusschere had 18 for the Pistons.

Sam Jones scored 22 points to lead the Boston Celtics to a 130-105 decision over the Los Angeles Lakers, Zelmo Beaty's 38 points paced the St. Louis Hawks to a 132-103 win over the Baltimore Bullets and Willis Reed had 43 points as the New York Knickerbockers beat the San Francisco Warriors 115-103 in other games.

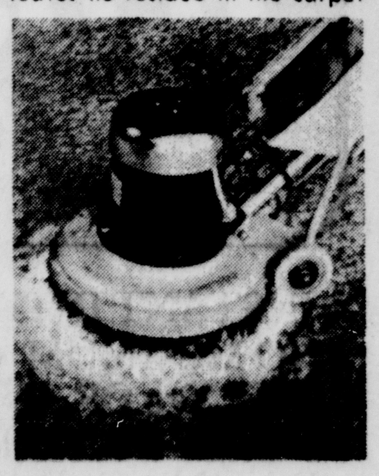
DEEP STEAM Wall to Wall Carpet Cleaning

This unique new process cleans deep and yet treats the finest carpet with loving care...

DEEP STEAM removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing. Since no brushes or scrubbing action are used, there is no distortion of the carpet pile. The powerful extraction action of the DEEP STEAM process lifts matted pile to "like new" appearance. The need of frequent professional cleaning is reduced because deeply embedded soil is removed and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt.

OLD

The old equipment with brushes, using liquid detergent or powder, scrubs the soil DEEPER into the fabric . . . and even with the help of a vacuum fails to remove soil or residue. The detergent or powder left in the fabric soon attracts more soil and it is not long before the soil works back to the surface. Soon your carpets appear more soiled than before!



THIS DEEP STEAM PROCESS IS GUARANTEED TO BE COMPLETELY SAFE ON ALL FABRICS UNDER ALL CONDITIONS!

The advantages of DEEP STEAM CLEANING are obvious!

One of the principal engineers would be in charge of field work and another in charge of the design section of the department.

Ship Captain Free In Embassy

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —A Russian captain charged with operating his fishing vessel in "clear cut and obvious violation" of U.S. territorial waters was free today in the custody of a Soviet embassy official pending a plea to the federal charge.

The trawler skipper, brought here to enter his formal plea in federal court, has denied the charge.

Capt. Nichmolai Zernov said in Kodiak yesterday his 187-foot trawler was not fishing a mile of the Alaska coast, as the Coast Guard charged, but had moved close to shore to make engine repairs.

Bolinas Lagoon Discussion On Agenda For Supervisors

Extension of a freeze on development in and around Bolinas Lagoon and discussion of methods of promoting development elsewhere in Marin will be topics before county supervisors tomorrow.

The board meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

Freeze on Bolinas development was established under an emergency ordinance 90 days ago. Tomorrow's hearing at 2 p.m. will be on extension of the freeze for up to a year.

At 3 p.m., county administrator Alan Bruce will remind supervisors that they must decide how the promotion and development budget will be set up and administered.

The board decided several weeks ago that the job of economic development director should be abolished May 1, but there was no provision made for alternate operation. Bruce has recommended that the budget be administered by his office.

At 4:30 p.m., the supervisors, with two city representatives, will sit as directors of the Marin Transit District to consider a request for $5,000 to launch a study of "balanced transportation" in Marin and review bridge engineer Arthur C. Jenkins' review of consultants Cloverdale and Colpitt's review of commuter bus service in Marin.

The transit board is also to consider Supervisor Peter H. Behr's suggestion that buses use the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way as reversible, exclusive lanes.

Candidates For Boards To Talk

Candidates for trustee boards in Kentfield, Tamalpais High School and Marin Junior College will speak at Wolfe Grade School Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The candidates night preparatory to the April 18 election, is planned by the three Parent-Teacher Associations of Kentfield School District. Kentfield Supt. Tony Bacich will be host and moderator.

Questions will be invited after brief talks by the candidates. A coffee session to meet the candidate will follow, according to Mrs. John Streiff, chairman.

Auto Safety Bill Readied

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Frederick J. Bear, D-San Diego, planned today to introduce a bill requiring annual inspection of automobiles two years or more old.

Bear said his measure also would qualify California for federal funds to help support a highway safety program.

The legislation provides for inspection of automobiles by privately-licensed garages, service stations and authorized insection stations. Each motorist would have to pay $2 each year for inspection of his car.

Bear said a California Highway Patrol random inspection of 304,000 cars last year found that 39.5 per cent of the vehicles were defective. "Such a large number of defects clearly establishes a need for regular annual vehicle inspection," he said.

Minor Accident Injuries Sustained

Jessie Taylor, 63, of 10 Gilbert, Street, California Park, suffered chest bruises and a nose bleed when his car failed to negotiate a southbound turn off Highway 101 into the Belvedere-Tiburon ramp and struck a guard rail at 5:25 p.m. Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Taylor was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Johnson Proposes Sweeping Revisions In Draft System

College Student Callups Undecided

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson told Congress today he will curb unfairness in the draft by ordering callups of 19-year-olds first, picking them by lottery, and tightening deferments.

While announcing sweeping revision of the Selective Service System, he pput off a decision on whether college undergraduates should be deferred. Their deferments wll continue, he said, while he awaits more congressional and public debate of this politically thorny issue.

Johnson told the House and Senate in a special message that he will halt deferments for graduate students, except those in medical and dental schools. He said many post-graduates "have managed to pile deferment on deferment until they passed the normal cut-off point for induction."

Officials said it will take at least a year and probably longer for the lottery system to come into effect because so many details have to be worked out. Johnson set a Jan. 1, 1969, deadline for completing the overhaul.

Administration experts said it also will take some time —how much, they do not know —for Johnson to issue new orders on deferments, since this too carries many unsolved complications.

NO DEFERMENTS

But in essence, they said, there would be no marriage deferments or deferments for fatherhood except in hardship cases. Other hardship deferments also would continue but on a "tightened" and nationally standardized basis.

The heart of the new system will be what Johnson called "a fair and impartial random system of selection" —a method still to be devised by a special task force but one which officials said would resemble a lottery.

Men of 18 who are classified 1-A would be placed in a "selection pool" from which the needed number would be chosen when they are 19. Since this pool would be replenished annually with new 18-year-olds, men who are not called would be less vulnerable to induction as each year passes.

College students or others with deferments would be placed in the current year's selection pool when their deferments expire if they are under 35 years of age and they could be picked as if they were 19-year-olds in that particular year.

AGE BRACKET

For non-deferred men in the 19 to 26 age bracket now subject to induction, the order of call would be reversed from its present "oldest first" concept. Officials said this would not mean a significant change now, with draftees averaging 20½ years of age, but it would be important in later years.

In adopting the "youngest first" and lottery concepts, Johnson went along with his 20-member National Advisory Commission on Selective Service whose report he made public Saturday. But in deferring action on college deferments, he shelved the commission's majority view that these should be abolished.

He also decided to order a detailed study —rather than acceptance —of the commission's proposals to wipe out the nation's 4,100 volunteer-operated draft boards and set up 300 to 500 area offices where civil servants would register and classify registrants.

Johnson wrapped his draft package into a message asking Congress to extend for another four years the Selective Service law which is scheduled to expire June 30.

Voters At Polls Tomorrow In Hotly Contested Issue

Sausalitans will vote tomorrow on a $250,00 bond measure for a new waterfront library.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and city hall expects to have partial returns available by 8 p.m. Deadline to return absentee ballots is 5 p.m. today.

The proposed 10,500-square-foot library would replace the present aged library jammed upstairs above city hall. The new library would be built northeast of Vina Del Mar Plaza.

The $446,716 library would be financed by the bonds, a $148,906 federal grant and $82,885 already accumulated for the building from a five-cent tax. Proponents of the measure argue that a three-cent increase in the five-cent tax will finance re-payment of the bonds.

The 14,000-square-foot site is owned by the city, but 8,342 square feet are leased until 2002 to Madden and Lewis and subleased to Mac-Marin, operator of the Spinnaker Restaurant. The city has an agreement with both to buy back the lease for $20,000, if the bond measure passes.

The library would hold about 40,000 volumes, feature a special section for children and space for cultural exhibits. Opening off the main room would be a broad terrace for outdoor reading and boat-watching.

The question of where to put the library has been controversial for 55 years, and selection of the waterfront site is the principal source of opposition to the bond measure. Opposing it are the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, a majority of the planning commission and an informal group of 42 citizens. All object the library would spoil waterfront views and add to traffic congestion.

Opposition also centers on the size of the library, opponents arguing it would be too large for the city's needs. The size was determined by state and federal guidelines that a library provide one square foot of space per person expected to live in the city in 20 years. By 1987, 10,000 to 12,000 persons are expected to live in Sausalito.

Urging passage of the bond measure are the city council, library board, Sausalito Woman's Club, many residents active in the citizens committee for the new library and the city's "701" planners, William Spangle and Associates.

Members of the Sausalito Foundation and Sausalito Citizens Council split on the measure, and failed to take positions on it.

Chance Arrest Reveals List Of Violations

A Sunday shopping trip and an alert off-duty policeman combined yesterday to put 18-year-old Michael Edward Overstreet in Marin County Jail on $14,000 bail.

Patrolman Paul Robin of Novato police was in the Nave Shopping Center yesterday afternoon when he saw Overstreet, wanted on a series of Novato traffic violations with bail totaling $250.

Robin arrested Overstreet, who gave his address as 1309 Leafwood Drive, Novato, and took him to the county jail.

There, he discovered arrest warrants were outstanding against the youth, with a San Rafael address, charging burglary of the Montgomery Ward and Co. store in Corte Madera on Jan. 4, passing worthless checks at the same store, and conspiracy to defraud through use of a joint checking account established with Gordon Keith Jennings at Crocker Citizens National Bank in San Rafael.

Bail on the series of charges totaled $14,000, Novato police reported.

Nelson Eddy, Screen Radio Idol, Dies In Florida Of Stroke At 65

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Nelson Eddy, the blond baritone whose ringing songs of love made him an idol of motion pictures and radio three decades ago, died today of a stroke.

Eddy was 65, and his career had survived temporary eclipse when his many movies made as co-star with the late Jeanette MacDonald became something for a younger generation to laugh at. He formed a new partnership with Gail Sherwood, and became a top attraction in night clubs.

A trouper, he failed to make his last singing engagement. He had just been introduced at the Sans Souci Hotel last night, for a one night stand, when he collapsed.

"Oh, I can't talk," he gasped. "Something's wrong! I can't see!"

The six-foot singer was caught by others on the stage before he fell to the floor. They helped him to a chair to await an ambulance.

The tall, wavy-haired masculine half of the "America's Sweethearts" team of the great days of Hollywood musicals—willowy Miss MacDonald was his partner-was rushed to a hospital where his illness was at first announced as minor.

Death was due to a stroke, doctors said, caused by a blood clot on the brain. He died about 8 a.m. at Mount Sinai Hospital.

The handsome baritone said in a recent interview, "I'm working harder than I ever have in my life. I love it.

Intelligence Operators Fear CIA Exposure Blunts Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials active in United States intelligence operations have expressed fear that some of their most effective weapons have been blunted by disclosures of the secret financial support provided by the Central Intelligence Agency to other groups, the New York Times said today.

The story also said in part:

These officials, in this country and abroad, argued in defense of the controversial CIA programs. They said the funds involved amounted to "only a fraction" of investments by Communist nations in covert attempts to penetrate Western and neutralist governments.

An intricate web of underground political activities and propaganda by American intelligence has been exposed to public view since disclosure last month of the CIA's support for the National Student Association.

New York Times correspondents in various capitals interviewed U.S. officials and other qualified people not normally available to be questioned.

Among the points that emerged are these: U.S. aid to student and youth groups around the world has been effectively halted by the disclosures: and American intelligence officials see a sense of false security in this country — what one officials called "a misunderstanding of the arena of conflict."

U.S. Lifts Secrecy On Yank Casualties

SAIGON (UPI) —Military spokesmen today for the first time lifted the secrecy curtain over exact daily U.S. combat losses and revealed American troops killed at least 80 Communists at a cost of 24 Americans slain and 74 wounded in jungle fighting throughout South Vietnam.

They said the United States lost six helicopters and listed four crewmen missing.

The spokesmen also confirmed that two U.S. Air Force F4C Phantom jets were responsible for the bombing and strafing of a friendly village that killed 83 Vietnamese and wounded 175 more in the war's worst accidental air raid.

Until today U.S. military officials classified exact American casualties daily as secret, saying such date was valuable to the Communists. But they announced exact figures will now be given to avoid the confusion of the former "light," "moderate" and "heavy" casualty reports and to undercut Communist claims of greater U.S. losses.

According to the exact report, the Marines suffered the most American casualties the past 24 hours—15 men killed and 38 wounded. But they also killed the most Communists—35.

The Leathernecks battled the Communists in a series of firefights in the deep jungles just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) dividing South and North Vietnam.

The fighting there followed by two days the Marines' slaying of 300 Communists, part of three North Vietnamese army divisions trying to push south through the Leatherneck defenses.

The other major casualties came in two other former Communist strongholds. In War Zone C, the Cambodian border jungles 70 miles northwest of Saigon, U.S. Army troops killed 25 Viet Cong while suffering one man killed and 28 injured, 20 of them in a pre-dawn sneak guerrilla mortar attack on a 25th Infantry Division company today. Deep in the Mekong Delta, the heartland of guerrilla recruiting, U.S. Army 9th Infantry Division troops killed 20 Viet Cong while suffering five men wounded.

Two U.S. helicopters plumeted to earth over the Marines battling in the north. Another pair went down while aiding the 9th Division in the Delta.

The major helicopter loss, the downing of a big Army Chinook choper last night, came over the guerrilla-infested coastal plains 280 miles north of Saigon. Eight Americans were killed and three injured.

The sixth lost helicopter went down from unknown causes in the Saigon River just two miles from the capital. The four men aboard, listed as missing, were feared dead.

Other U.S. losses included the wounding of seven Americans in a guerrilla mortar attack early today against the giant U.S. Air Force bast at Chu Lai, 330 miles north of here.

Teens Cited For Marijuana At School Dance

Two Tamalpais Valley teenagers were cited Friday night by police for possession of marijuana at a junior high school dance at Mill Valley Community and Youth Center.

One, a 14-year-old girl, told police that a girl friend gave her two hand-rolled marijuana cigarettes to give to a boy at the dance. An adult chaperone found the boy, 13, smoking marijuana in the boys' room. Both were cited to appear in Junvenile Court and released to custody of their parents.

The 14-year-old girl who reportedly supplied the cigarettes, also a resident of Tamalpais Valley, told police Saturday that she bought three marijuana cigarettes last month from an unidentified man in Sausalito. She was not cited.

The dance was for Edna Maguire School students.

REAGAN GIVES REAGAN AIDE SPEED TICKET

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Of all the traffic officers on the Sacramento police force, guess who gave a speeding ticket to Gov. Reagan's top assistant today?

Officer Ronald Reagan — badge No. 130.

Philip M. Battaglia, Reagan's (the governor) executive secretary, was cited by Reagan the officer) for going 43 miles an hour in a 25-mile-an-hour zone. The speed was clocked by radar.

Officer Reagan and Governor Reagan are no relation.

Battaglia agreed to appear in court on the speeding charge within 11 days. The fine would be $32. Normal procedure, a court official said, is to post bail and then forfeit it by not appearing in court.

Hoffa's Jail Plea Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal appeals court brusquely denied another effort by Teamster President James R. Hoffa to prevent being taken to jail tomorrow.

A three-judge panel heard arguments by Hoffa's attorneys asking a delay of his imprisonment, then ruled against him only minutes later.

The powerful $100,000-a-year union chief was expected to carry his last-ditch struggle to the Supreme Court immediately but with little chance of success.

The long-faced Auer, master of five languages, was born in St. Petersburg, Russia.

Six other young boys were in a critical condition from burns and injuries suffered in leaping from their third-floor dormitories.

About 25 other children were hospitalized but their injuries were less serious.

Nose Count Formula Is Explained

BERKELEY (UPI)—The difficult art of crowd counting has received some refinements lately, thanks to the efforts of a University of California journalism lecturer and long-time newsman.

Herbert Jacobs unveiled his "Jacobs Crowd Formula" during the weekend in the hope of bringing some degree of accuracy to the size estimates of rallies, demonstrations and just plain crowds.

The formula calls for walking off the width and length of a gathering and adding to two figures. The total is then multiplied by ten for tightly packed crowds or seven for loosely gathered crowds.

Jacobs perfected his formula by studying crowds at the university, including a student strike rally last Dec. 1. The strike committee said 8,000 students voted to boycott classes. Other observers placed the figure at between 5,000 and 10,000.

Jacobs enlarged a photo of the gathering and counted a total of 2,804 heads.

De Gaulle Given Confidence Vote

PARIS (UPI) —A record turnout of French voters gave President Charles de Gaulle today the national vote of confidence he demanded for his "strong man" rule.

Results of yesterday's first-round polling for a new 486-seat national assembly assured the 76-year-old general he will have the majority he wants for the next five years of making France "great."

It indicated De Gaulle will continue his policies of personalized nationalism including his self-styled role as world peacemaker and critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

"De Gaulle appealed to the country to return a Gaullist majority and the country has heeded his call," Premier Georges Pompidou said after 22.8 million voters turned out to make it France's greatest postwar parliamentary election.

ICC Approves Rail Takeover

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission approved today the bid of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio railroads for control over the Western Maryland Railway.

The 8-2 decision, in a case begun in 1928, effectively merges Western Maryland into the C&O-B&O system.

The case marks the first time the ICC imposed attrition protection for employees in any railroad merger or control proceeding.

Crash Of Jet Kills 56 At Africa Village

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (UPI) —A Brazilian Varig Airlines DC-8 jetliner crashed into a native village yesterday while attempting to land at a fog-shrouded airport in Liberia. Forty-six persons were reported killed.

Reports radioed here from the crash scene said 51 of the 90 persons aboard the four-jet, U.S.-built plane were killed, including one American. Five villagers also were killed.

Varig Airlines said the plane, en route from Beirut, Lebanon, to Rio de Janeiro, slammed into the sleeping West African village just off the runway at Robertsfield Airport, about 40 miles from the Liberian capital of Monrovia. Investigators sought today to find out how it happened.

Burning wreckage ploughed 500 yards through a maize field and stopped just short of a munitions factory, reports said.

$50,000 Damage In Mission Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A three-alarm fire in San Francisco's Mission District did an estimated $50,000 damage yesterday Two persons overcome by smoke were rescued by firemen.

Investigators said they believed the fire started in the lint traps of self - service laundry dryers at 3560 20th St.

The fire spread to adjoining flats and rooming houses.

All 38 Aboard Die In Ohio Plane Crash

KENTON, Ohio (UPI) — Residents of this northwestern Ohio farm area said they heard one or more explosions last night before a Lake Central Airlines passenger plane plunged into a bean patch, killing all 38 persons aboard.

The airline, which never before had a fatal crash, received a telephone bomb threat last week against another airliner. That threat proved unfounded.

The FBI, which joined other agencies at the crash scene, usually is called in to help make identification of bodies and to investigate the possibility of a bomb explosion. There was no fire at the crash and identification was not expected to be difficult.

Investigators today combed a snow-covered soybean field for pieces of wreckage and clues to determine why the twin-engine prop jet slammed to earth in a freezing rain.

The crash occurred about eight miles northeast of here on a farm owned by Charles Redding. The scene was sealed off while the wreckage, scattered over an area a mile wide, was searched by FBI agents, the state highway patrol and a 12-member team from the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB).

Most of the dead were still strapped in their seats. The bodies were taken to a temporary morgue at Mifflin TWP High School in nearby Marseilles.

The crash was the first major air disaster in the United States since Aug. 6, 1966, when a Braniff Airlines BAC111 went down near Falls City, Neb., killing all 42 aboard.

The Lake Central Flight No. 527 had originated in Chicago, departing 15 minutes late, and made stops in Lafayette, Ind., and Cincinnati before the stop at Columbus. It left Columbus about 7:20 p.m. EST bound for Toledo and Detroit.

Hardin County Sheriff James Baldridge said the pilot was last heard from when he radioed Indianapolis and said he was climbing from 8,000 to 10,000 feet but gave no reason.

At 8:17 p.m. Mrs. Norman Cochran telephoned the sheriff's office to report she had heard a plane in trouble "and the next thing we heard was an explosion."

Guards Defect

BERLIN (UPI) —Two East German border guards, aged 20 and 21, slipped safely into West Berlin in full uniform and carrying their weapons last night, Western police said. Their fellow guards did not spot their flight across the Communist wall, the police said.

GOP Will Expand Governing Body

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Top Republicans are willing to expand the already large GOP State Central Committee —but they may tighten the reigns on the relatively independent volunteer political groups.

The Republican Executive Committee, major ruling body of the official party, agreed at a Saturday closed-door meeting to boost membership in the 900-member State Central Committee by:

NEW LINEUP

Changing a 1964 anti-Goldwater law giving incumbents eight appointments to the central committee while party nominees get only three. Under the suggested new lineup, newly elected Republicans would also be able to pick eight committee members. Presently, for example, Gov. Ronald Reagan can appoint only three members.

HALLEY ELECTED

chairmen to nominate up to three members for the central committee on a sliding scale basis, depending on the county's population and number of seats in the state legislature.

PROPOSED CHANGES

Republican State Chairman James Halley disclosed the proposed changes to newsmen. He said they were "not munumental" and they may not even be proposed as laws during the 1967 legislature.

But a 1964 law expanding the number of apointments for incumbent legislators and congressmen played a key role in keeping avid backers of U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater from taking control of the central committee that year.

Party regulars, primarily legislators, congressmen and their appointees, won a test vote in the central committee in August 196 4by a 150-vote margin, almost precisely the number of additional appointments their beefed-up power had given them.

HALLEY ELECTED

As a result, Halley was elected vice-chairman and a full slate of party moderates followed him into office. His opponent, backed by Goldwater's key supporters, was Vern Cristina of San Jose, recently appointed to the State Highway Commission by Reagan.

The 75-member executive committee took no action in its Saturday meeting on a move to give the party more power to discipline the volunteer groups, but Halley said this was one of the topics under study.

'66 Birth Rate Takes Deep Dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) —During 1966 the U.S. birth rate declined to the lowest level since the depression year of 1936 and total births were the lowest since 1950, according to the U.S. Public Health Service.

In a report issued during the weekend, the service said the birth rate last year dropped to 18.5 births per 1,000 population, continuing the decline from 1957, the most recent peak year, when the rate was 25.3.

Births totaled 3,629,000 during 1966, down 131,000 from 1965, and the fertility rate also declined to 91.8 births per 1,000 women, the lowest since 1957. The only rising statistic, the service said, was the number of marriages —1,844,000 in 1966.

3,000 Sing Praises For Ousted Powell

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 3,000 persons jammed into Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church yesterday, shouting praises of their pastor, Adam Clayton Powell, and roaring protests over his exclusion from his congressional seat.

The three-hour rally threatened to break up in disorder at the very beginning. When called upon to open the meeting with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," cries of "no, no, no" began drowning out those in the audience who were singing.

Cleveland Robinson, a rally sponsor, reminded the congregation: "This is a house of worship. Don't let's lose our heads."

Robinson is president of the Negro American Labor Council and a member of the City Commission on Human Rights.

Powell sent a message from Bimini, the Bahamas, saying Congress was "determined to show the people of Harlem that they can't have a congressman until they find one who will shuffle a little."

Powell is charged with misusing public funds while chairman of the House Labor and Education Committee.

Commercial Nuclear Plant Safety Called 'Inaccurate'

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An Assembly committee report saying that California's commercial nuclear plants are "superlatively safe" has been challenged as "useless" and "inaccurate."

David Peosnen, executive secretary of the Northern California Association to preserve Bodega Head and Harbor, voiced criticism during the weekend of the findings of the two-year study on probable public exposure to dangerous amounts of radiation from operation of power plants.

"Informed laymen in search of a comprehensive analysis of the present administrative setup of agencies charged with responsibility for nuclear reactor will find the report useless due to its superfaciality," he said.

Pesonen said the report, released during the weekend by the Assembly Committee on Industrial Relations, contained a number of "factual errors."

"Were it without errors," he said, "all the information given already is contained in more readable form in pamphlets prepared by the Atomic Energy Commission, the Atomic Industrial Forum and the various utilities," he said.

Pesonen said Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, would not sign the report. Dymally was chairman of the committee when he was an assemblyman.

Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, also disagreed with the report's findings, he said.

Pesonen pointed out that a letter sent to Dymally last month by the Los Angeles chapter of the Federation of American Scientists labeled the report "dangerously inaccurate."

The report concluded it "can find in the AEC's regulatory process, its safety standards, and in the history of nuclear power plant operation nothing that would lead a reasonable man to doubt that nuclear plants are 'safe enough'."

It noted that power plants are in operation in Eureka and San Clemente and two others are planned for the Los Angeles area along with one in San Luis Obsipo county.

'Big Three' Rejects Auto Safety Details

DETROIT (UPI)—The "Big Three" automakers told the federal government today they cannot comply with the new federal car safety standard which details how passengers should be protected in case of a crash.

General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. urged the government to change the standard, considered by many the most important of the government's 20 car safety rules.

G.M. and Chrysler said the rule was not only impossible to meet but also illegal.

G.M. said the "interior impact" rule was not "practical, reasonable or appropriate." Ford said the "substantial engineering changes required cannot be made for 1968 models and probably not in time for 1969 models."

Chrysler said the standard would require so many changes in design, tooling and factory alignment that it "cannot be accomplished by Jan. 1, 1968" when the new rules go into effect.

Chrysler also said the rule violates a section of the new federal safety law which requires the federal standards to be based "upon existing safety standards." G.M. took a similar position.

G.M. said its 1968 models could meet 18 of the 20 standards and could meet a 19th—one prescribing seat anchorages and locks—if the government would exclude limousine jump seats.

Ford proposed minor changes in several other standards but indicated the one on "interior impact" was the only one it considered hopeless.

G.M. said "major revisions" would have to be made in the standard, which many consider the most important of all. The standard prescribes how occupants should be protected from the so-called "second collision" following a wreck.

All auto makers, domestic and foreign, must give Haddon their replied by midnight Tuesday. He then will issue a final set of rules, which go into effect when 1968 model cars begin rolling off assembly lines this summer.

A car maker violating any of the rules faces a $1,000 fine for each substandard car.

EDDY

"I hope to keep on going 'til I drop."

Eddy made many motion pciture musical comedies in the 1930s, most of them based no stage hits of an even earlier era —"Sweethearts," "Rose Marie," "Naughty Marietta," "Maytime," "The Chocolate Soldier" were among them.

Often he was in uniform, of a Canadian Mountie, a German university student, a royal figure in a mythical country. His well-built figure as well as the blond hair—which turned gray in recent years—made him a favorite of women, and men found his charm easy to accept.

If some of his movies were stuffy and stilted, he showed another side in frequent radio appearances with ventriloquist Edgar Bergen and his dummy, Charlie McCarthy.

The concert stage added to his income in the years before World War II. But he never did become a singer of grand opera. Some critics said his voice was too lush, and that he had chosen the easier course of Hollywood money.

Fans often thought that he and the late Miss Mac Donald were married because of the apparent sincerity of their love scenes together. But they were only goods friends and strong admirers of each other. Eddy was married in 1939 to Ann Denitz Franklin.

Miss MacDonald died in January, 1965. She was the wife of actor Gene Raymond.

He was born June 29, 1901, in Providence, R. I. He began singing in a boy's choir and later studied under well-known teachers.

Weird-Looking Flying Device Lost In Sea

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A wingless flying device—that looks like a flatiron with fins—made a successful flight down the Pacific Missile Range, then sank in the sea and was lost, the Air Force reports.

Officers said the second version of the prime maneuverable lifting body re-entry vehicle was boosted aloft from this West Coast missile complex yesterday aboard an Atlas rocket.

BODY LIFT

The vehicle is designed to obtain aerodynamic lift from the shape of its body, allowing higher speeds for re-entering the atmosphere than normal winged craft could withstand.

An Air Force spokesman said the 890-pound test vehicle sped down the 5,000-mile range at about five times the speed of sound before it re-entered the atmosphere and was lost.

"We like to recover the craft, but if you've got good telemetry, you've got 90 per cent of the program," he explained.

The first craft in the Prime series was also lost at sea. Spokesmen blamed a malfunction in the parachute recovery operation for the loss.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is also experimenting with similar lifting bodies at Edwards Air Force Base. Several successful manned flights have been made in shapes designated the M2F2 and HL10.

Reagan, Unruh Sure To Collide Over Withholding Tax Policies

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, possibly the legislature's most powerful Democrat, were on a collision course today over the issue of withholding tax.

Reagan said he would never reconsider his opposition to use of the payroll withholding system for collecting the state income tax.

ESSENTIAL PART

But Unruh, in a speech today in Chicago, made it clear he considers withholding to be an essential part of any major tax program. By making it more difficult to cheat on state income tax payments, a withholding system would produce an estimated $75 million a year without an increase in the tax rate.

Reagan plans to send his tax program to the legislature Wednesday. Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, will introduce the measure.

Finance Director Gordon P. Smith said last week the tax package would total almost $900 million, four times as large as the biggest tax boost ever enacted by a California legislature.

REAGAN'S PLAN

Philip Battaglia, the governor's executive secretary, told the Republican Executive Committee in San Francisco Saturday that Reagan would propose $215 million in direct a nd indirect property tax relief as part of his tax program.

Of that total, he said $120 million would go to direct property tax relief while $50 million would be ticketed to added state support to local school districts and $45 million to keep the state's medicare program in the black.

He said the tax relief would jump to $425 million in the 1968-69 budget year.

The governor's program was denounced by a fellow Republican even though it has not yet been officially unveiled.

Sen. John G. Schmitz of Tusentin, a member of the John Birch Society, said a tax program of the size outlined by Smith would mark "a tragic end to the brightest hope on the American political scene today."

TUITION HIT

He said 3.75 million voters "put their faith in Ronald Reagan to lead them out of the endless spiral of spend and tax.

The legislature began its 10th week today following the usual weekend recess.

The speaker denounced Reagan's plan to charge tuition at the University of California and the state colleges.

Unruh said he was not opposed to "a tuition proposal per se." But he said Reagan should not to try to use tuition as a source of state revenue.

"There are other, thoroughly-studies revenue sources available in California," Unruh said. "The withholding of income taxes, for example," would produce more new revenue each year than the governor's proposed tuition would produce for many years to come."

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post said withholding would produce a windfall of $203.1 million the first year it is imposed in addition to the continuing revenue it would produce by collecting from persons who now escape paying.

But Reagan contends taxes should hurt and withholding makes payment too easy.

'FREE TICKET'

"It's just a free ticket for future bureaucrats to drain the people's resources a little more quickly and a little easier," he said recently.

Unruh also charged Reagan was trying to win support for his tuition plan by appealing "to an incipient distrust of high-were on a collission course to-

"This administration is attempting to justify tuition as a punishment for student activists," Unruh said. "Even if it were just to use taxation for this purpose, the tuition method is both unfair and illogical.

"It is unfair because it is, in effect, a fine on all students levied for the real and imagined infractions of a small minority.

LOGICAL PLAN

"The logic of tuition as a device for weeding out undesirables is contradicted by the facts," he added. "The students who demonstrated recently at Stanford in opposition to Vice President (Hubert) Humphrey's appearance there, pay a tuition of some $1,800 a year."

The governor admitted last week that the tuition plan was dead for the coming school year. But he vowed to continue campaigning for imposition of tuition beginning in the fall of 1968.

Salinger Enters JFK Book Report

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger says author William Manchester thought Mrs. John F. Kennedy was "'entitled to protection" during the preparation of his book "Death of a President."

Salinger's version of negotiations for the book appeared yesterday in the Los Angeles Times' "West" magazine.

Salinger said he contacted Manchester early in 1964 to begin negotiations for the book, while he was still handling press relations for the Kennedy family. He is now a vice president of Continental Airlines.

Of the negotiations with Manchester, Salinger said, "He told me that Mrs. Kennedy was entitled to protection, that he was confident he would do nothing that would offend her sensibilities, but that she and Robert Kennedy (the late president's brother, then attorney general and now U.S. senator) would and certainly should have the right of review."

Salinger quoted from a letter he said Manchester wrote to Robert Kennedy: "I agree that it is important that Mrs. Kennedy and you should review the manuscript. If you had not suggested this, I would have."

Paintings, Clothing Stolen From Home

Thieves forced open a door to the home of Mrs. Regina Knight at 220 Los Cerros Drive, Greenbrae, during the weekend and stole paintings, photographs, clothing and other items valued at more than $600.

Theb urglary was discovered last night on Mrs. Knight's return from two days away from home, sheriff's officers reported. Missing were two paintings —one worth $300— and three photographs each worth $100. Among other items stolen were a portable radio, a mink hat, and an alabaster chess set.

Missing Persons Alarm Is Sounded

A missing persons alarm was out today for Bert W. Howell, 61, who walked away from the Northgate Convalescent Center, San Rafael, yesterday morning.

The patient is described as five-feet, seven-inches, weighing 112 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes. When last seen walking from the rest home toward Frontage Road at 10:30 a.m., Howell was wearing a plaid shirt and brown pants, coat and shoes.

More State School Fund Controls Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — States may soon have increased control over the spending of of federal aid to education, according to U.S. Office of Education officials.

Wayne O. Reed, associate commission for federal- state relations, told a meeting of the Education Commission of the States yesterday general aid eventually will supplant "categorical aid."

"Many voices from many quarters are calling now fow general aid—some of them the very same voices that once spoke against it," said Reed.

Regardless of who decides how the money is to be spent, Reed said it carries with it a restriction against segregation in the school district.

Roger W. Heyns, University of California Chancellor at Berkeley, told the educators the university is "under severe attack" from persons who dislike the school's role of "conserving and preserving."

"One group fears change and the other group resents university ties to the establishment," said Heyns.

Highway Division To Junk Magazine

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state Division of Highways is going out of the business of publishing a slick-paper magazine.

Gordon D. Luce, administrator of the state transportation agency, has announced publication of the "California Highways and Public Works" has been suspended. He said more than $150,000 will be saved by the move.

The magazine had been in black and white, although a multi-colored issue yas printed late last year dealing primarily with scenic areas in California. The administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan has issued an order banning all multi-colored state publications.

Luce said the magazine has been mailed free of charge to about 80,000 persons and he pointed out the unfairness of the state subsidizing such a publication for the benefit of a very small percentage of the population.

"There are more pressing duties requiring the services of the employees now involved in writing, printing and publishing the magazine," Luce said. "We are getting excellent coverage right now on those aspects of highway planning, construction and maintenance that are of public interest from all elements of the California news media."

Luce said it was determined that, if subscribers to the magazine were charged enough to pay publication costs it would be prohibitive. He said the January-February edition of the magazine, all ready for the printer, will be published and that will be the last.

Alert Woman Cabbie Halts Bridge Leaper

An alert woman cabbie turned her fare over to California Highway Patrol Saturday when he announced he intended to jump from the Golden Gate Bridge.

Glen Mae Skutt, an Oakland cab driver, told the patrol she picked up George Joseph Trante, 28, of Alameda, in Oakland at 4:30 p.m. He said he wanted to go sightseeing at the Golden Gate Bridge but, she stated, as the cab approached the toll lanes, Trante said, "I hate to tell you this but I don't have any money. I came over here to jump off the bridge.

Trante told patrol officer Merlyn I. Baarts he was an unemployed lithographic photographer with a "drinking problem." He was taken to San Francisco General Hospital.

Visitor Fair From Accident

Frederick R. Osborne, 77, of Garrison, N.Y., was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with back injuries after his car ran off Wharf Road in Bolinas at 4:30 p.m. yesterday.

California Highway Patrol reported Osborne's car hit a parked car belonging to M. A. Dowdall, 386 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael.The patrol said the driver reported his gas pedal stuck.

Osborne has been visiting relatives at 38 Peninsula Road, Belvedere.

Purse Snatched

A teen-ager snatched the purse of Mary E. Smith of 151 Drake Avenue, Marin City, while she was walking near her home Friday night, sheriff's deputies reported today. Mrs. Smith said the purse contained $10 in cash and several checks.

Sheep Mauled By Novato Dogs

Dogs attacked and mauled two sheep at 680 McClay Road, Novatop early yesterday, so badly they had to be shot by police.

The sheep belonged to Mrs. Barbara P. Kingsley, of 44 Jade Court, Novato.

Phillip M. Passeiro of 770 Sanit Francis Avenue, Novato, told police that one of the two dogs was a shepherd cross resembling a husky and the other was a black and white mixed dog.

This is the second time in recent weeks in which dogs have attacked and killed sheep belonging to Mrs. Kingsley.

It's Bicycle Weather; Observe Safety Rules

After a long siege of rain, floods and cold weather, the current stretch of spring-like weather is bringing the youngsters out into the streets in hordes.

Days are getting longer, and that magic period between the end of a school day and suppertime finds children hopping onto their bicycles to release some of that pent-up exuberance.

This is the time for parents to remind children again of the importance of observing traffic laws and safety precautions.

The California Newspaperboy Foundation Inc. has published some bicycle safety suggestions that should be useful to youngsters in general:

Always use a headlight and red reflector at night. Be seen, not hurt.

Keep your mechanical equipment in A-1 order, brakes in particular. Stop, don't flop.

Use caution at open intersections. The right-of-way is not important to a doctor.

Ride on the right, in a straight line. Fancy riding is a straight line to the hospital.

Never criss-cross busy streets. Drivers may zig while you zag.

Turn blind corners with caution, particularly hedge-hidden driveways and corners of buildings. Someone may be there ahead of you.

Watch for pedestrians and children playing They do some silly things sometimes.

Never carry more than you can control safely on a bike.

Motorists, too, should not let good weather lull them into a sense of false security. Slick pavement and fogged windshields no longer haunt the driver, but these dangers are now replaced by hazards that are even more unpredictable—youngsters who dart into traffic on impulse or thread their bicycles through busy streets and make sudden turns without signalling.

Weekend driving in spring weather can be a pleasure, if the motorist cyclist and pedestrian remain constantly on the alert for each other's welfare.

A Spring Cold

With spring bursting out all over, we go about our work with reddened eyes and a runny nose. Is there no justice, no sense of the season in our physical system that it is so out of touch with its surroundings that it becomes ill while Nature rejoices?

That's how we feel about our spring cold. To think, with every sneeze a hundred flowers open.

"I couldn't resist it, love! But I'll get the housework done and fix you a good meal someday."

SUBSTITUTE MOTHERS MAKE BIG HIT

An English housewife started an "Emergency Mother Service" which has mushroomed after seven years into an army of 2,621 "substitute mothers."

Hundreds of calls come in from mothers who must go into the hospital, look after sick relatives or make emergency trips. For a moderate salary, plus room and board, a stand-in mother takes care of the family.

"My substitute mothers are basically lonely women who want very much to be needed," the 47-year-old mother of six said. "After 40 or 50 they can't get other jobs, but they are well-trained to run a home and cope with domestic crises. In fact, my major problem is that I can't get enough of them. The demand is greater than the supply."

There are numerous ways in which you can be of service to persons who need the personal attention that you can provide. God has imbued you with the urge to be of use to others.

Seek to fulfill this noble trait and you will both give and receive many blessings.

"Let our people learn to apply themselves to good deeds." (Titus 3:14)

May I find myself through service to others, O Lord.

Reagan Finally Realizes He Can't Beat The Establishment

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The facts of life have caught up with Gov. Ronald Reagan rather soon. With only two months of office behind him, he's found he can't beat the Establishment.

Under the stimulus of just a mild spanking, the Establishment recoiled with the fury of a stallion denied its oats, and charged into the field of taxpayer hay to strip clean the remaining meager stalks from the public pocket.

GORDON SMITH, the governor's director of finance, says the inevitable tax bite, in new or increased taxes this year, will amount to some $865 million. Phil Battaglia, Reagan's top secretary, says this may be wrong.

Smith, appearing before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, admitted the governor's proposed 10 per cent cut in state expenditures couldn't be met. Battaglia, at a subsequent press conference, says the administration is still working on it.

Smith also said tuition charges at the university and state colleges won't be pursued this year, but maybe next.

ALL OF WHICH gives the Establishment time to muster its forces in a propaganda campaign the like of which never will have been seen before. For the Establishment's easy way of living off the largesse of the taxpayer is threatened, and that will never do, no never.

Those who never have heard of the Establishment might well ask just what it is. It's a nebulous term, but nevertheless a reality, something like city hall, which you can't fight and win, but have to join to get what you want.

It is the vast complex of education, with its administrators, professors, teachers, classified employees, non-essential course and monumental buildings used only 75 per cent of the year.

IT IS THE welfare program, dishing out taxpayer dollars to people who could earn a living, but prefer the more enjoyable way of living without toil, both on state aid and unemployment insurance.

It is the formidable army of do-gooders, which insists on the outlay of millions for projects taxpayers no longer can afford.

In short, it is government itself, an army dedicated to mulcting the citizen out of every thirty-cent dollar possible, to maintain and increase its empire in the style to which its bureaucracy is accustomed.

The style gets fancier as the citizen gets poorer.

SMALL WONDER then, that a citizen backed up with a million vote majority, comes to Sacramento as governor for a frontal attack on the Establishment, and suffers major set-backs in the battle before it's hardly begun.

It took the Establishment a good many years to entrench itself with the protective armor of civil service, teacher's tenure, liberal retirements, workmen's compensation, long vacations, extra holidays, munificent expense accounts, and all the other advantages of working for the government. And apparently, it will take a lot longer, much more than a million majority, and the will of the people to break it up.

AS GOV. REAGAN said some weeks ago, "bluntly, we have gone to the fiscal well once too often in California, and that well has run dry."

Lagunitas School's Problems Discussed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On behalf of the Committee for Sensible School Construction, please accept my thanks for your editorial, for the fair presentation of the portable classroom situation as written by Pat Perry, and for the comments of Bryce Anderson in his column, "The People's Schools", all of which appeared on February 10.

When enrollment in the Lagunitas School District began to exceed the capacity of the school several years ago, it was suggested that primary grades be placed on double sessions again . . . As a parent and former school trustee, I have had ample opportunity to learn that double sessions actually provide only half as much education and contribute greatly in later years to school dropouts and juvenile delinquency . . .

I urged the board to use portable classrooms as I believe them to be a most practical solution on a temporary basis . . .

Unfortunately, portables are only intended to be a temporary solution but soon become accepted as permanent . . . They also often multiply so fast within a quickly growing district that their economy value vanishes . . .

In Lagunitas . . . the 20-cent override tax voted two years ago to cover ALL the expenses of three now does not even cover the rental and utilities of the seven in use here . . .

It will be necessary to use the portables in Lagunitas until new classrooms are built; probably this will take up to two years.

Your efforts on behalf of our bond election have been greatly appreciated.

How Many Other Marin 'Mansions'?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Fire at 1364 Grand Avenue (San Rafael) — No serious injuries! No fatalities! Incredible!

How many other 1364 Grand Ave. houses do we have in Marin and will we be as lucky in the future?

. . . our . . . regulatory agencies should . . . take the necessary joint actions to be sure that rooming houses (apartments?) are thoroughly inspected . . . and most important to be sure the facility is not overcrowded.

We own and have lived at 1360 Grand Ave. for seven years and the burned "mansion" and our home are about 50 feet apart . . .

. . . With all the cut-up rooms in three floors of the "mansion" the firemen had to approach the fire from many locations, some of which were extremely dangerous to them.

Certainly a fireman's job is hazardous and their fine performance in the rescue operations and in fighting and controlling this fire deserve the highest compliments, but I know we and they would rather not have had this situation or others like it in the future.

I don't know how often 1364 Grand Avenue was inspected by the fire department, health department or building inspectors but we have become "waving" acquaintances with most of the police department. It seems that police cars made at least a weekly trip to 1364 Grand Avenue . . . Do these departments keep each other advised about these situations, if not, why can't they? I ask this question because in your article about the fire — "Morrison Green, assistant building inspector, was checking into reports that 28 persons should not have been accommodated in a building that size."

Vietnam Warrior Challenges Pacifists

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There is a loud cry from America that reaches each of us stationed in Viet Nam. It is the hurt, prideless, gutless cry of the "pacifist." It is a dissonance to our ears. The cry is peace. But what quality of peace do they ask? Is it the peace the colonists fought for in the eighteenth century or the first and second world wars? I doubt it. The peace our dissenters seek is not a peace America gained but a peace resigned to our adversaries. We must fight for peace. It is one of life's most perplexing paradoxes.

I would like to pose a few questions to our well-meaning pacifists. Where were you 190 years ago when America won her independence from Great Britain? How many of you pioneered the length and width of a virgin land paving roads to America's future? How many of you devoted your lives to the progress of our country? How many of you can claim any responsibility for making America the richest most powerful nation in the world in the shortest span of time in the history of civilized man? You were not there. You have not sacrificed. And you have shown no devotion.

And, yet, you want America to lay down her arms and open her arms to her adversaries. You want us to abandon those countries that now have the same hopes and dreams that America had 300 years ago. You want us to stand up and say, "Take it. It's yours. I'll not sacrifice anything for it."

My friends, if that day should ever come when America is abandoned to her adversaries, you shall then know sacrifice. You shall then realize why we are in Viet Nam helping these people in their brave struggle for freedom and independence.

I am proud to be here and I thank God that the cry of the pacifists is a mere mumble of the minority. I would be interested in reading your answers to this letter. My family shall send any letters that appear in this paper.

Council Candidate Omitted From List

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In a recent article naming San Rafael City Council candidates you omitted mention of one man — John A. Miskimen. I'm sure it was a simple oversight, but one that should be corrected.

Miskimen has given distinguished service to San Rafael as a member of the Planning Commission since 1964. He has consistently worked to bring order and direction to the city's growth and development. As a councilman he would be in a position to lend a strong and thoughtful voice in solving the complex problems facing our city.

We are fortunate in having such a well qualified, competent man seeking office.

TRY AND STOP ME

HARRY LAUDER, the beloved Scottish commedian, used to tell about a compatriot whose wife glanced out of the window one Sunday just as the family was going in to dinner and wailed, "Och, Sandy, here come guests — and I'm sure they haven't eaten yet." Sandy, equal to the emergency, ordered, "Quick, everybody, out on the porch—chewing a toothpick."

ROGER DELVIN, of Tulsa detects a distinct trend toward political conservatism among today's collegiate set, and cites as an example a lad who has been a frequent guest in his home—a second son to all intents and purposes. "For a long time," recalls Delvin, "he was far left politically and economically. Really far out. But recently he expressed such opposite views that I was startled. 'How come?' I asked him, 'that you've so drastically changed your tune? Why no longer a super-liberal?' 'I found out,' explained the student calmly, 'that they're counting on ME to pay YOUR old age pension.' "

Congrss Must Not Stop Now In Dealing With Offenders

IRONTON, OHIO — Congress is on notice.

It needs to realize — before it is too late to redeem itself— that taking deserved action against Adam Clayton Powell will be inadequate and will do it harm if it fails to take action to punish and to prevent similar offenses by other members of Congress.

The Bobby Baker case and the Powell case must be the beginning, not the end, of Congressional self-reform.

It isn't enough to punish them without putting an end to the system which made their abuses possible and which tolerates unjustifiable practices by Congressmen.

Voter opinion isn't going to stand for it — and shouldn't.

NEGRO OPINION isn't going to stand for it — and shouldn't.

When I say that Congress is on notice that half a reform, that punishing one or two individuals and then thrusting the rest under the rug, is not good enough, I think I know what I am talking about.

Most people are revolted by Powell's conduct, but they are not going to be amused one little bit if Congress, after dealing with one or two offenders, fails to investigate thoroughly other possible offenders and fails to take strong measures to police the conduct of all its members.

THERE IS AMPLE evidence that the public is alert to the implications of the Baker and Powell misconduct and is not going to be fooled into accepting the idea that they are just two wayward individuals; the public knows full well that their offenses reflect a lax and wayward tolerance of dubious ethics by Congress itself and that something needs to be done about it.

I have been facing public audiences of adults and voting-age students for several days in the Midwest and, while there is anxiety over Vietnam and concern over many other things, a persistent question is: After dealing with Powell, is Congress going to leave it there?

FROM MY assessment of voter opinion, this won't go down and Congress will be well advised to put patty-cake measures behind it.

The Senate Ethics Committee has been dawdling over the Dodd charges.

The House Democratic leadership is talking about turning over future supervision of technical conduct — or misconduct — to the House Administration Committee which never showed any enthusiasm to do anything about it until the Powell offenses became so egregious they couldn't be avoided.

Nepotism is widespread in Congress and nothing has been done to set any standards.

THE CONTROL of committee expenditures by House and Senate chairmen has long been loose and whimsical and unverified.

And one of Bobby Baker's worst offenses seemed to be that the tainted lobby money he raised stuck to his own hands instead of being distributed to the designated Senators.

Powell is not being put upon because he is a Negro; in fact, he is the one who has practised racism by trying to escape the consequences of his misuse of public funds and his contempt of the New York courts by crying racism whenever he was caught in the act.

BUT ROY WILKINS, the wise and responsible leader of the NAACP is absolutely right in saying that, unless the House sets up standards for judging and policing the conduct of members, it will persuade most Negroes — and many others — that Powell really is being singled out because of his race.

Rep. John Conyers Jr., D., Mich., a Negro who voted for the committee resolution to punish Powell, also rightly warns that there must be no double standard.

For all of these reasons, Congress is on notice — and should be.

LBJ Faces Pressure On Surcharge Tax

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Congressional pressure is mounting for President Johnson to shelve his six per cent surcharge tax proposal.

Democratic legislative leaders have reported to the President that the ranking members of the House Ways & Means Committee are opposed to a tax increase this year and want him to drop his proposal.

THIS GROWING bipartisan opposition to the President's proposed tax boost was revealed at a White House legislative meeting by Speaker John McCormack, Mass., and Senate Democratic Whip Russell Long, La., who is also chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

In discussing the prospect of his tax proposal, the President asked the legislators for their views on Sen. William Proxmire's announced opposition to a tax increase this year, stating:

"Senator Proxmire wants me to shelve the six per cent surcharge because of the changing economic climate. Is there any support for this position?"

"I should say there is," replied Senator Long. "In addition to Senator Hartke (Ind.) and myself on the Senate Finance Committee, Senators John Williams (Del.) and Frank Carlson (Kan.), the ranking Republicans, are opposed to any tax increase this year."

SENATOR LONG also reported that Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., had cooled on the idea of boosting taxes, quoting him as saying: "I was for a tax boost last summer, but I am not sure now."

After hearing Long's report, the President turned to McCormack, asking: "What is the situation in the House Ways and Means Committee? I haven't heard anything from Wilbur (Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman)."

While the President gave no hint that the reports of Long and McCormack had caused him to change his plans to push for a tax increase this year, he concluded the meeting by stating: "We can talk some more on taxes later. Hearings won't be for several months. By then we should have more information on the economy."

SECRET CIA REPORT — An affidavit is on file in the National Archives documenting that the State Department received a Central Intelligence Agency report on Lee Harvey Oswald's "current activities" just six weeks before President Kennedy was assassinated.

The affidavit is signed by James D. Crowley, State Department security officer, who reported receiving the document on October 10, 1963, from the CIA.

His statement of the CIA report was turned over to the Warren Commission but never published.

Just Imagine Our Enlightened Leaders Depending On Oracles

Long, long ago when the world was in the cruel grip of ignorance, man would not act without first seeking advice from oracles, or seers, or medicine men or witch doctors.

Sometimes he would not act at all, because he could not understand the advice of the oracles. This meant that he had to find some other oracle to interpret what the first oracle said. If the oracles played their cards right, the thing could go on forever.

THIS IS WHAT we moderns refer to as a racket. You wonder how anyone could be so ignorant as to fall for it.

It is also surprising for those of us living in enlightened times that the people would actually pay money to the oracles. True, they would sometimes put up an old ewe or an ox, which was fairer exchange for the bull they received.

Even more surprising is that the advice of the oracles was taken seriously, and the more expensive it was and the harder it was to understand, the more seriously it was taken.

The trick of being a good oracle was to phrase the obvious in such a way that it could not be understood without further advice. This is what kept an ancient going from one oracle to the next.

Thank goodness such a foolish practice no longer plagues mankind!

CAN YOU IMAGINE what would happen in our own modern and enlightened Marin County if our leaders depended on the words of oracles or the shape of a sheep's liver? Why it might take months before some of our most basic problems were solved.

One insight into human nature the oracles capitalized upon was that they could serve as scapegoats for mistakes. A man could blame his errors on the oracle that told him to act.

Suppose our county leaders fell into such a trap everytime something controversial arose! Suppose with such a question as the location of Highway 17, they said, "Oh we cannot act on this without advice of oracles. We must have a study, take up the whole problem of transportation."

Wouldn't that be tragic? Fortunately, most modern men have more backbone than that. They do not have to rely on oracles.

ANOTHER TRICK the oracle used to stay in business was to keep giving the wrong advice. The poor ancient would keep going to an oracle until he got some advice he could accept. It shows you how stupid people used to be.

Now suppose in our very own Marin, some clever oracle kept telling our leaders that the county ought to get into the public transportation business. "Buy buses," the oracle would say. Can you imagine intelligent men of today, going from one oracle to the next hearing the same thing, but hoping all the time they would hear some other advice?

You simply cannot imagine modern men trying to operate under such a handicap, but there was a dark time when this was done.

AS YOU KNOW, the oracle, seer, witch doctor and medicine man was protected by the vanity of man he served. How could a fellow have doubts about the sincerity or veracity of an oracle after he had put up so much money to hear the oracle's advice? To have doubts would be to have self doubts.

Thus it was pride and vanity which allowed the oracles and others to obtain for generation after generation.

In some backward countries there are savages who still have witch doctors. Naturally we look down on such people. They are ignorant, backward and uneducated and I can cite several consultants who will back me up on this.

How To Solve A Crime? Just Keep The Facts Deep Secret

WASHINGTON — The New Orleans TV drama titled "Mr. District Attorney" has been playing nightly on all the news shows.

The district attorney of New Orleans, Jim Garrison, keeps holding news conferences announcing that he has solved the Kennedy assassination. Since Garrison has produced no evidence or information to back up his news conferences, many publicity-hungry district attorneys have been angered by all the space Garrison is getting.

I RECEIVED a call the other day from the district attorney of Total Swamp, La., who told me that he had startling information concerning "another crime of the century," and I immediately flew out to see him.

"What is your startling information?" I asked.

"I can't reveal it at this time, but I believe everyone is going to be terribly surprised when I do."

"Well, can you tell me what kind of crime it was?"

"I'd rather not say until I've made my arrests. If I talked about it the people involved might get away."

"CAN'T YOU GIVE me some clue?"

"All I can tell you is that I have a witness who will reveal all the details in due time."

"Where is this witness?" I asked.

"He's dead. The coroner said he died of natural causes, but I insist it was suicide."

"But what good is the witness if he's dead?"

"Ah, that's just the point. Why is my witness dead?"

"I don't follow you."

"WHY DID MY witness die just at the time I was going to pick him up for questioning?"

"I really don't know."

"Wouldn't you say it strengthens my case?"

"It might if I knew what your case was," I said. "Have you told the FBI what you know?"

"Why should I tell the FBI? They'll only take the glory away from me. I'm trying to make a name for myself, boy."

"I can see that. Let me ask you this. Why do you claim to know something nobody else knows about this startling crime?"

"BECAUSE I'VE solved the case. It's that simple."

"But if you have solved the case, why don't you make the arrests?"

"I don't have the evidence. How can I make arrests if I don't have any evidence?"

"It beats me, and probably the Supreme Court, too."

"But I'm not defeated. The fact I don't have any evidence makes me even more certain I've solved the crime."

"How do you figure that?"

"If you have evidence some smart wise guy lawyer can disprove it. But if you don't have any evidence they can't lay a glove on you."

"DON'T YOU THINK it's premature to make these startling revelations?"

"I should say not. Some of the leading businessmen in this town are giving me money to continue my investigation. It isn't going to be easy because I may have to go out on a lecture tour. Did you want to take my picture?"

"I'd like to very much. Are you wearing TV make-up?"

"Of course. You never can tell when CBS, ABC or NBC is going to show up," he replied.

"What you've told me is dynamite. I only hope you're as successful in prosecuting the case as you've been in solving it."

"I probably said too much already, but all I'm trying to do is serve justice in the best possible way I can."

The Mercedes-Benz 250S: the $6500 car that steers without guessing, corners without wallowing and stops without panic.

Four of the many reasons the Mercedes-Benz 250S outperforms its $6500 rivals: a disc brake at every wheel.

At last, a $6500 car that puts efficiency above status. The 250S is no soft-sprung dreamboat. It's built to be pounded over murderous back roads, flicked through rain-slicked curves, slammed to sudden stops—all with unflappable calm. Its body is 10,000 welds tight and armored with 48 lbs. of rustproofing. Finish is impeccable; even the underside of the dash is fully trimmed. For more impressive facts, keep reading.

If you have never driven a Mercedes-Benz before, you'll find the road manners of the 250S exhilarating.

This 1½-ton sedan handles very much like a sports car. It should: that fully independent, rear swing-axle suspension design beneath you first appeared on a world-championship Mercedes-Benz sports-racing car.

Road grip is tenacious. With individual rear wheel springing instead of a conventional rigid beam-axle, ride is actually smoother than in those spongily sprung "luxury" cars.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785* to $4,189*

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 8 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
300 SE Coupe	11,916
230SL Roadster	6,262
250S Sedan	5,998
230S Sedan	5,018
230 Sedan	4,386
200 Diesel Sedan	4,418
200 Sedan	4,189

West Coast port of entry, exclusive of transportation charges, options, state and local taxes if any.*

One reason: Before installation, this suspension's four coil springs undergo 16 tests to ensure that each is perfectly tuned to the others.

You maneuver the 250S with a knife-sharp, recirculating-ball steering mechanism. It doesn't require endless tugs at the wheel to merely turn a corner. In fact, the wheel turns only 3¼ times, full-left to full-right. Fitted into the steering system is an ingenious miniature shock-absorber, to reduce pummeling on washboard roads.

Incredible stopping power

Not even a 150-mph sports car stops quicker or smoother than the 250S.

While front disc brakes are just now appearing on many luxury cars, your 250S employs disc brakes at all four wheels.

This superior stopping system throws off heat instead of storing it up as in drum brakes. Fade—the menace of brakes suddenly "going soft"—is almost eliminated.

Tires: Your 250S is shod with 4-ply, 7.35x14-inch tires at the factory as standard equipment. Terms such as "premium" or "super-premium" are virtually meaningless, but here is reassurance: these tires have been tested—and found safe—in steady 100-mph cruising, with full passenger and trunk loads, and running at normal air pressures.

Make it a fivesome

The 250S provides capacious space for five adults and 25 cubic feet of their luggage in the trunk. But many other cars do as well. The genius of the 250S is that it offers this generous room while measuring a full two feet shorter overall than its major $6500 rivals. Mercedes-Benz efficiency triumphs again. You'll appreciate it the first time you have to park in close quarters.

You'll lack for nothing in terms of comfort in the 250S. "The seats are the equal of any in the world," writes the Publisher of Car and Driver. The backs of both front seats recline. By simply clicking a lever, the driver can raise or lower his position. No complex power mechanisms needed.

Showroom snoopers: Note that flawless finish. The underside of the dash is fully trimmed. The glovebox interior isn't just a stapled cardboard box. Small strips of hand-fitted walnut adorn the insides of the side window frames.

You're likely to be still enjoying this comfort a decade from now. That "unit" body is made up of steel panels up to 1 millimeter thick, welded in 10,000 places, completely primer-coated, slathered with 24 pounds of plasticized undercoat, and painted three times.

Thump the roof and your confidence is complete. It feels like banging your fist on a granite block.

A word on safety

Mercedes-Benz has received widespread publicity on its safety engineering achievements over the past several years.

Work continues to make Mercedes-Benz cars even safer, both in avoiding trouble, and in protecting you if trouble should occur.

For sane drivers, Mercedes-Benz cars can help reduce the hazards of driving—without dulling its pleasures.

But however well engineered it may be, no car can entirely defend against the show-off, the drunkard, or the neurotic bent on self-destruction. Safety depends on you, too.

Going to Europe?

You can order your 250S here, pick it up while on vacation in Europe, enjoy the convenience of private motoring abroad—then bring it home when you return. Having your own car in Europe is a guarantee of greater enjoyment. No crowded buses, no awkward train schedules. And by arranging overseas delivery, you stand to save hundreds of dollars. It's Bicycle Weather; Observe Safety Rules

After a long siege of rain, floods and cold weather, the current stretch of spring-like weather is bringing the youngsters out into the streets in hordes.

Days are getting longer, and that magic period between the end of a school day and suppertime finds children hopping onto their bicycles to release some of that pent-up exuberance.

This is the time for parents to remind children again of the importance of observing traffic laws and safety precautions.

The California Newspaperboy Foundation Inc. has published some bicycle safety suggestions that should be useful to youngsters in general:

Always use a headlight and red reflector at night. Be seen, not hurt.

Keep your mechanical equipment in A-1 order, brakes in particular. Stop, don't flop.

Use caution at open intersections. The right-of-way is not important to a doctor.

Ride on the right, in a straight line. Fancy riding is a straight line to the hospital.

Never criss-cross busy streets. Drivers may zig while you zag.

Turn blind corners with caution, particularly hedge-hidden driveways and corners of buildings. Someone may be there ahead of you.

Watch for pedestrians and children playing They do some silly things sometimes.

Never carry more than you can control safely on a bike.

Motorists, too, should not let good weather lull them into a sense of false security. Slick pavement and fogged windshields no longer haunt the driver, but these dangers are now replaced by hazards that are even more unpredictable—youngsters who dart into traffic on impulse or thread their bicycles through busy streets and make sudden turns without signalling.

Weekend driving in spring weather can be a pleasure, if the motorist cyclist and pedestrian remain constantly on the alert for each other's welfare.

A Spring Cold

With spring bursting out all over, we go about our work with reddened eyes and a runny nose. Is there no justice, no sense of the season in our physical system that it is so out of touch with its surroundings that it becomes ill while Nature rejoices?

That's how we feel about our spring cold. To think, with every sneeze a hundred flowers open.

"I couldn't resist it, love! But I'll get the housework done and fix you a good meal someday."

SUBSTITUTE MOTHERS MAKE BIG HIT

An English housewife started an "Emergency Mother Service" which has mushroomed after seven years into an army of 2,621 "substitute mothers."

Hundreds of calls come in from mothers who must go into the hospital, look after sick relatives or make emergency trips. For a moderate salary, plus room and board, a stand-in mother takes care of the family.

"My substitute mothers are basically lonely women who want very much to be needed," the 47-year-old mother of six said. "After 40 or 50 they can't get other jobs, but they are well-trained to run a home and cope with domestic crises. In fact, my major problem is that I can't get enough of them. The demand is greater than the supply."

There are numerous ways in which you can be of service to persons who need the personal attention that you can provide. God has imbued you with the urge to be of use to others.

Seek to fulfill this noble trait and you will both give and receive many blessings.

"Let our people learn to apply themselves to good deeds." (Titus 3:14)

May I find myself through service to others, O Lord.

Reagan Finally Realizes He Can't Beat The Establishment

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The facts of life have caught up with Gov. Ronald Reagan rather soon. With only two months of office behind him, he's found he can't beat the Establishment.

Under the stimulus of just a mild spanking, the Establishment recoiled with the fury of a stallion denied its oats, and charged into the field of taxpayer hay to strip clean the remaining meager stalks from the public pocket.

GORDON SMITH, the governor's director of finance, says the inevitable tax bite, in new or increased taxes this year, will amount to some $865 million. Phil Battaglia, Reagan's top secretary, says this may be wrong.

Smith, appearing before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, admitted the governor's proposed 10 per cent cut in state expenditures couldn't be met. Battaglia, at a subsequent press conference, says the administration is still working on it.

Smith also said tuition charges at the university and state colleges won't be pursued this year, but maybe next.

ALL OF WHICH gives the Establishment time to muster its forces in a propaganda campaign the like of which never will have been seen before. For the Establishment's easy way of living off the largesse of the taxpayer is threatened, and that will never do, no never.

Those who never have heard of the Establishment might well ask just what it is. It's a nebulous term, but nevertheless a reality, something like city hall, which you can't fight and win, but have to join to get what you want.

It is the vast complex of education, with its administrators, professors, teachers, classified employees, non-essential course and monumental buildings used only 75 per cent of the year.

IT IS THE welfare program, dishing out taxpayer dollars to people who could earn a living, but prefer the more enjoyable way of living without toil, both on state aid and unemployment insurance.

It is the formidable army of do-gooders, which insists on the outlay of millions for projects taxpayers no longer can afford.

In short, it is government itself, an army dedicated to mulcting the citizen out of every thirty-cent dollar possible, to maintain and increase its empire in the style to which its bureaucracy is accustomed.

The style gets fancier as the citizen gets poorer.

SMALL WONDER then, that a citizen backed up with a million vote majority, comes to Sacramento as governor for a frontal attack on the Establishment, and suffers major set-backs in the battle before it's hardly begun.

It took the Establishment a good many years to entrench itself with the protective armor of civil service, teacher's tenure, liberal retirements, workmen's compensation, long vacations, extra holidays, munificent expense accounts, and all the other advantages of working for the government. And apparently, it will take a lot longer, much more than a million majority, and the will of the people to break it up.

AS GOV. REAGAN said some weeks ago, "bluntly, we have gone to the fiscal well once too often in California, and that well has run dry."

Lagunitas School's Problems Discussed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On behalf of the Committee for Sensible School Construction, please accept my thanks for your editorial, for the fair presentation of the portable classroom situation as written by Pat Perry, and for the comments of Bryce Anderson in his column, "The People's Schools", all of which appeared on February 10.

When enrollment in the Lagunitas School District began to exceed the capacity of the school several years ago, it was suggested that primary grades be placed on double sessions again . . . As a parent and former school trustee, I have had ample opportunity to learn that double sessions actually provide only half as much education and contribute greatly in later years to school dropouts and juvenile delinquency . . .

I urged the board to use portable classrooms as I believe them to be a most practical solution on a temporary basis . . .

Unfortunately, portables are only intended to be a temporary solution but soon become accepted as permanent . . . They also often multiply so fast within a quickly growing district that their economy value vanishes . . .

In Lagunitas . . . the 20-cent override tax voted two years ago to cover ALL the expenses of three now does not even cover the rental and utilities of the seven in use here . . .

It will be necessary to use the portables in Lagunitas until new classrooms are built; probably this will take up to two years.

Your efforts on behalf of our bond election have been greatly appreciated.

How Many Other Marin 'Mansions'?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Fire at 1364 Grand Avenue (San Rafael) — No serious injuries! No fatalities! Incredible!

How many other 1364 Grand Ave. houses do we have in Marin and will we be as lucky in the future?

. . . our . . . regulatory agencies should . . . take the necessary joint actions to be sure that rooming houses (apartments?) are thoroughly inspected . . . and most important to be sure the facility is not overcrowded.

We own and have lived at 1360 Grand Ave. for seven years and the burned "mansion" and our home are about 50 feet apart . . .

. . . With all the cut-up rooms in three floors of the "mansion" the firemen had to approach the fire from many locations, some of which were extremely dangerous to them.

Certainly a fireman's job is hazardous and their fine performance in the rescue operations and in fighting and controlling this fire deserve the highest compliments, but I know we and they would rather not have had this situation or others like it in the future.

I don't know how often 1364 Grand Avenue was inspected by the fire department, health department or building inspectors but we have become "waving" acquaintances with most of the police department. It seems that police cars made at least a weekly trip to 1364 Grand Avenue . . . Do these departments keep each other advised about these situations, if not, why can't they? I ask this question because in your article about the fire — "Morrison Green, assistant building inspector, was checking into reports that 28 persons should not have been accommodated in a building that size."

Vietnam Warrior Challenges Pacifists

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There is a loud cry from America that reaches each of us stationed in Viet Nam. It is the hurt, prideless, gutless cry of the "pacifist." It is a dissonance to our ears. The cry is peace. But what quality of peace do they ask? Is it the peace the colonists fought for in the eighteenth century or the first and second world wars? I doubt it. The peace our dissenters seek is not a peace America gained but a peace resigned to our adversaries. We must fight for peace. It is one of life's most perplexing paradoxes.

I would like to pose a few questions to our well-meaning pacifists. Where were you 190 years ago when America won her independence from Great Britain? How many of you pioneered the length and width of a virgin land paving roads to America's future? How many of you devoted your lives to the progress of our country? How many of you can claim any responsibility for making America the richest most powerful nation in the world in the shortest span of time in the history of civilized man? You were not there. You have not sacrificed. And you have shown no devotion.

And, yet, you want America to lay down her arms and open her arms to her adversaries. You want us to abandon those countries that now have the same hopes and dreams that America had 300 years ago. You want us to stand up and say, "Take it. It's yours. I'll not sacrifice anything for it."

My friends, if that day should ever come when America is abandoned to her adversaries, you shall then know sacrifice. You shall then realize why we are in Viet Nam helping these people in their brave struggle for freedom and independence.

I am proud to be here and I thank God that the cry of the pacifists is a mere mumble of the minority. I would be interested in reading your answers to this letter. My family shall send any letters that appear in this paper.

Council Candidate Omitted From List

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In a recent article naming San Rafael City Council candidates you omitted mention of one man — John A. Miskimen. I'm sure it was a simple oversight, but one that should be corrected.

Miskimen has given distinguished service to San Rafael as a member of the Planning Commission since 1964. He has consistently worked to bring order and direction to the city's growth and development. As a councilman he would be in a position to lend a strong and thoughtful voice in solving the complex problems facing our city.

We are fortunate in having such a well qualified, competent man seeking office.

Voter opinion isn't going to stand for it — and shouldn't.

NEGRO OPINION isn't going to stand for it — and shouldn't.

When I say that Congress is on notice that half a reform, that punishing one or two individuals and then thrusting the rest under the rug, is not good enough, I think I know what I am talking about.

Most people are revolted by Powell's conduct, but they are not going to be amused one little bit if Congress, after dealing with one or two offenders, fails to investigate thoroughly other possible offenders and fails to take strong measures to police the conduct of all its members.

THERE IS AMPLE evidence that the public is alert to the implications of the Baker and Powell misconduct and is not going to be fooled into accepting the idea that they are just two wayward individuals; the public knows full well that their offenses reflect a lax and wayward tolerance of dubious ethics by Congress itself and that something needs to be done about it.

I have been facing public audiences of adults and voting-age students for several days in the Midwest and, while there is anxiety over Vietnam and concern over many other things, a persistent question is: After dealing with Powell, is Congress going to leave it there?

FROM MY assessment of voter opinion, this won't go down and Congress will be well advised to put patty-cake measures behind it.

The Senate Ethics Committee has been dawdling over the Dodd charges.

The House Democratic leadership is talking about turning over future supervision of technical conduct — or misconduct — to the House Administration Committee which never showed any enthusiasm to do anything about it until the Powell offenses became so egregious they couldn't be avoided.

Nepotism is widespread in Congress and nothing has been done to set any standards.

THE CONTROL of committee expenditures by House and Senate chairmen has long been loose and whimsical and unverified.

And one of Bobby Baker's worst offenses seemed to be that the tainted lobby money he raised stuck to his own hands instead of being distributed to the designated Senators.

Powell is not being put upon because he is a Negro; in fact, he is the one who has practised racism by trying to escape the consequences of his misuse of public funds and his contempt of the New York courts by crying racism whenever he was caught in the act.

BUT ROY WILKINS, the wise and responsible leader of the NAACP is absolutely right in saying that, unless the House sets up standards for judging and policing the conduct of members, it will persuade most Negroes — and many others — that Powell really is being singled out because of his race.

Rep. John Conyers Jr. D., Mich., a Negro who voted for the committee resolution to punish Powell, also rightly warns that there must be no double standard.

For all of these reasons, Congress is on notice — and should be.

LBJ Faces Pressure On Surcharge Tax

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Congressional pressure is mounting for President Johnson to shelve his six per cent surcharge tax proposal.

Democratic legislative leaders have reported to the President that the ranking members of the House Ways & Means Committee are opposed to a tax increase this year and want him to drop his proposal.

THIS GROWING bipartisan opposition to the President's proposed tax boost was revealed at a White House legislative meeting by Speaker John McCormack, Mass., and Senate Democratic Whip Russell Long, La., who is also chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

In discussing the prospect of his tax proposal, the President asked the legislators for their views on Sen. William Proxmire's announced opposition to a tax increase this year, stating:

"Senator Proxmire wants me to shelve the six per cent surcharge because of the changing economic climate. Is there any support for this position?"

"I should say there is," replied Senator Long. "In addition to Senator Hartke (Ind.) and myself on the Senate Finance Committee, Senators John Williams (Del.) and Frank Carlson (Kan.), the ranking Republicans, are opposed to any tax increase this year."

SENATOR LONG also reported that Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., had cooled on the idea of boosting taxes, quoting him as saying: "I was for a tax boost last summer, but I am not sure now."

After hearing Long's report, the President turned to McCormack, asking: "What is the situation in the House Ways and Means Committee? I haven't heard anything from Wilbur (Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman)."

While the President gave no hint that the reports of Long and McCormack had caused him to change his plans to push for a tax increase this year, he concluded the meeting by stating: "We can talk some more on taxes later. Hearings won't be for several months. By then we should have more information on the economy."

SECRET CIA REPORT — An affidavit is on file in the National Archives documenting that the State Department received a Central Intelligence Agency report on Lee Harvey Oswald's "current activities" just six weeks before President Kennedy was assassinated.

The affidavit is signed by James D. Crowley, State Department security officer, who reported receiving the document on October 10, 1963, from the CIA.

His statement of the CIA report was turned over to the Warren Commission but never published.

Just Imagine Our Enlightened Leaders Depending On Oracles

Long, long ago when the world was in the cruel grip of ignorance, man would not act without first seeking advice from oracles, or seers, or medicine men or witch doctors.

Sometimes he would not act at all, because he could not understand the advice of the oracles. This meant that he had to find some other oracle to interpret what the first oracle said. If the oracles played their cards right, the thing could go on forever.

THIS IS WHAT we moderns refer to as a racket. You wonder how anyone could be so ignorant as to fall for it.

It is also surprising for those of us living in enlightened times that the people would actually pay money to the oracles. True, they would sometimes put up an old ewe or an ox, which was fairer exchange for the bull they received.

Even more surprising is that the advice of the oracles was taken seriously, and the more expensive it was and the harder it was to understand, the more seriously it was taken.

The trick of being a good oracle was to phrase the obvious in such a way that it could not be understood without further advice. This is what kept an ancient going from one oracle to the next.

Thank goodness such a foolish practice no longer plagues mankind!

CAN YOU IMAGINE what would happen in our own modern and enlightened Marin County if our leaders depended on the words of oracles or the shape of a sheep's liver? Why it might take months before some of our most basic problems were solved.

One insight into human nature the oracles capitalized upon was that they could serve as scapegoats for mistakes. A man could blame his errors on the oracle that told him to act.

Suppose our county leaders fell into such a trap everytime something controversial arose! Suppose with such a question as the location of Highway 17, they said, "Oh we cannot act on this without advice of oracles. We must have a study, take up the whole problem of transportation."

Wouldn't that be tragic? Fortunately, most modern men have more backbone than that. They do not have to rely on oracles.

ANOTHER TRICK the oracle used to stay in business was to keep giving the wrong advice. The poor ancient would keep going to an oracle until he got some advice he could accept. It shows you how stupid people used to be.

Now suppose in our very own Marin, some clever oracle kept telling our leaders that the county ought to get into the public transportation business. "Buy buses," the oracle would say. Can you imagine intelligent men of today, going from one oracle to the next hearing the same thing, but hoping all the time they would hear some other advice?

You simply cannot imagine modern men trying to operate under such a handicap, but there was a dark time when this was done.

AS YOU KNOW, the oracle, seer, witch doctor and medicine man was protected by the vanity of man he served. How could a fellow have doubts about the sincerity or veracity of an oracle after he had put up so much money to hear the oracle's advice? To have doubts would be to have self doubts.

Thus it was pride and vanity which allowed the oracles and others to obtain for generation after generation.

In some backward countries there are savages who still have witch doctors. Naturally we look down on such people. They are ignorant, backward and uneducated and I can cite several consultants who will back me up on this.

How To Solve A Crime? Just Keep The Facts Deep Secret

WASHINGTON — The New Orleans TV drama titled "Mr. District Attorney" has been playing nightly on all the news shows.

The district attorney of New Orleans, Jim Garrison, keeps holding news conferences announcing that he has solved the Kennedy assassination. Since Garrison has produced no evidence or information to back up his news conferences, many publicity-hungry district attorneys have been angered by all the space Garrison is getting.

I RECEIVED a call the other day from the district attorney of Total Swamp, La., who told me that he had startling information concerning "another crime of the century," and I immediately flew out to see him.

"What is your startling information?" I asked.

"I can't reveal it at this time, but I believe everyone is going to be terribly surprised when I do."

"Well, can you tell me what kind of crime it was?"

"I'd rather not say until I've made my arrests. If I talked about it the people involved might get away."

"CAN'T YOU GIVE me some clue?"

"All I can tell you is that I have a witness who will reveal all the details in due time."

"Where is this witness?" I asked.

"He's dead. The coroner said he died of natural causes, but I insist it was suicide."

"But what good is the witness if he's dead?"

"Ah, that's just the point. Why is my witness dead?"

"I don't follow you."

"WHY DID MY witness die just at the time I was going to pick him up for questioning?"

"I really don't know."

"Wouldn't you say it strengthens my case?"

"It might if I knew what your case was," I said. "Have you told the FBI what you know?"

"Why should I tell the FBI? They'll only take the glory away from me. I'm trying to make a name for myself, boy."

"I can see that. Let me ask you this. Why do you claim to know something nobody else knows about this startling crime?"

"BECAUSE I'VE solved the case. It's that simple."

"But if you have solved the case, why don't you make the arrests?"

"I don't have the evidence. How can I make arrests if I don't have any evidence?"

"It beats me, and probably the Supreme Court, too."

"But I'm not defeated. The fact I don't have any evidence makes me even more certain I've solved the crime."

"How do you figure that?"

"If you have evidence some smart wise guy lawyer can disprove it. But if you don't have any evidence they can't lay a glove on you."

"DON'T YOU THINK it's premature to make these startling revelations?"

"I should say not. Some of the leading businessmen in this town are giving me money to continue my investigation. It isn't going to be easy because I may have to go out on a lecture tour. Did you want to take my picture?"

"I'd like to very much. Are you wearing TV make-up?"

"Of course. You never can tell when CBS, ABC or NBC is going to show up," he replied.

"What you've told me is dynamite. I only hope you're as successful in prosecuting the case as you've been in solving it."

"I probably said too much already, but all I'm trying to do is serve justice in the best possible way I can."

The Mercedes-Benz 250S: the $6500 car that steers without guessing, corners without wallowing and stops without panic.

At last, a $6500 car that puts efficiency above status. The 250S is no soft-sprung dreamboat. It's built to be pounded over murderous back roads, flicked through rain-slicked curves, slammed to sudden stops—all with unflappable calm. Its body is 10,000 welds tight and armored with 48 lbs. of rustproofing. Finish is impeccable; even the underside of the dash is fully trimmed. For more impressive facts, keep reading.

Four of the many reasons the Mercedes-Benz 250S outperforms its $6500 rivals: a disc brake at every wheel.

If you have never driven a Mercedes-Benz before, you'll find the road manners of the 250S exhilarating.

This 1½-ton sedan handles very much like a sports car. It should: that fully independent, rear swing-axle suspension design beneath you first appeared on a world-championship Mercedes-Benz sports-racing car.

Road grip is tenacious. With individual rear wheel springing instead of a conventional rigid beam-axle, ride is actually smoother than in those spongily sprung "luxury" cars.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785* to $4,189*

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 8 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
300 SE Coupe	11,916
230SL Roadster	6,262
250S Sedan	5,998
230S Sedan	5,018
230 Sedan	4,386
200 Diesel Sedan	4,418
200 Sedan	4,189

West Coast port of entry, exclusive of transportation charges, options, state and local taxes if any.*

One reason: Before installation, this suspension's four coil springs undergo 16 tests to ensure that each is perfectly tuned to the others.

You maneuver the 250S with a knife-sharp, recirculating-ball steering mechanism. It doesn't require endless tugs at the wheel to merely turn a corner. In fact, the wheel turns only 3¼ times, full-left to full-right. Fitted into the steering system is an ingenious miniature shock-absorber, to reduce pummeling on washboard roads.

Incredible stopping power

Not even a 150-mph sports car stops quicker or smoother than the 250S.

While front disc brakes are just now appearing on many luxury cars, your 250S employs disc brakes at all four wheels.

This superior stopping system throws off heat instead of storing it up as in drum brakes. Fade—the menace of brakes suddenly "going soft"—is almost eliminated.

Tires: Your 250S is shod with 4-ply, 7.35x14-inch tires at the factory as standard equipment. Terms such as "premium" or "super-premium" are virtually meaningless, but here is reassurance: these tires have been tested—and found safe—in steady 100-mph cruising, with full passenger and trunk loads, and running at normal air pressures.

Make it a fivesome

The 250S provides capacious space for five adults and 25 cubic feet of their luggage in the trunk. But many other cars do as well. The genius of the 250S is that it offers this generous room while measuring a full two feet shorter overall than its major $6500 rivals. Mercedes-Benz efficiency triumphs again. You'll appreciate it the first time you have to park in close quarters.

You'll lack for nothing in terms of comfort in the 250S. "The seats are the equal of any in the world," writes the Publisher of Car and Driver. The backs of both front seats recline. By simply clicking a lever, the driver can raise or lower his position. No complex power mechanisms needed.

Showroom snoopers: Note that flawless finish. The underside of the dash is fully trimmed. The glovebox interior isn't just a stapled cardboard box. Small strips of hand-fitted walnut adorn the insides of the side window frames.

You're likely to be still enjoying this comfort a decade from now. That "unit" body is made up of steel panels up to 1 millimeter thick, welded in 10,000 places, completely primer-coated, slathered with 24 pounds of plasticized undercoat, and painted three times.

Thump the roof and your confidence is complete. It feels like banging your fist on a granite block.

A word on safety

Mercedes-Benz has received widespread publicity on its safety engineering achievements over the past several years.

Work continues to make Mercedes-Benz cars even safer, both in avoiding trouble, and in protecting you if trouble should occur.

For sane drivers, Mercedes-Benz cars can help reduce the hazards of driving—without dulling its pleasures.

But however well engineered it may be, no car can entirely defend against the show-off, the drunkard, or the neurotic bent on self-destruction. Safety depends on you, too.

Going to Europe?

You can order your 250S here, pick it up while on vacation in Europe, enjoy the convenience of private motoring abroad—then bring it home when you return. Having your own car in Europe is a guarantee of greater enjoyment. No crowded buses, no awkward train schedules. And by arranging overseas delivery, you stand to save hundreds of dollars. Stocks Down In Active Swapping

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today in fairly active trading.

Not until final dealings did losers outnumber gainers in the over-all list. The margin was slight.

The market rose at the start but blue chips were laggard and the popular averages underwent gradual erosion. Gainers and losers were about in balance late in the day, losing an upside edge.

Benguet, a fractional gainer, packed the list on volume, followed by American Motors, up nearly a point, and Pan American World Airways, ahead about 1½.

Losses of a point or so were taken by a variety of leading issues including American Smelted Aircraft, Avco and McDonnell Co.

Down fractionally were General Motors, U.S. Steel, International Harvester, Ford and Sears, Roebuck.

Polaroid jumped 9 points, IBM 4 and Xerox 2.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Rules Governing Sick Pay Policies

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Sick pay is sometimes taxed, sometimes partially taxed and sometimes tax free. Here are the rules:

The amount you received because of accident or sickness, if received from an insurance company where you paid the premiums either directly or through payroll deductions is not taxed.

Wikel

The amount you received because of accident or sickness where your employer paid the premiums to the insurance company, or where your employer himself paid your wages while you were off sick is taxed as follows:

No sick pay exclusion is allowed for wages received for the first 30 days of absence if the wages are over 75 per cent of the regular weekly rate. Sick pay received after the 30 day waiting period is over is excluded, but not more than $100 per week.

If your sick pay is 75 per cent or less of your regular weekly pay and if you are in the hospital at least one day while you are off, you can exclude the payments for the first 30 days up to $75 per week. But, if you are not in the hospital at least overnight, there is no exclusion for the first seven days and the $75 maximum will apply only to the balance of the first thirty days you are off.

If you can use the sick pay exclusion, you should get a Form 2440 from your local Internal Revenue Service office and attach it to your tax return. This form will help you compute accurately the amount of sick pay you can exclude.

INVESTING

Shuffle Can Reap Rewards

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am entering the Army in a week. I own Household Finance, Peter Hand Brewing, Budd Co., and Spartans Industries. I have $5,000 to invest. What do you think of Comsat, International Tel. & Tel., or some other communication stock? I am mainly looking for long-term growth." S. F.

A. I am very much pleased to hear from a young man in your situation. It certainly appears that you should aim for long-term growth, but to attain that objective, I suggest some realignment of your holdings.

Household Finance is a good stock and I advise you to retain it. Peter Hand Brewing, in my opinion, is a well managed company, but it does not operate in a growth field and I advise you to exchange it for Becton, Dickinson — a strong hospital supply stock.

Budd does not look too promising and I would switch it into Consolidated Foods. Spartans is a speculation on Chairman Bassine's ability to improve profit margins. I consider it a good speculation and I would hold it for the present. Comsat looks fully priced and I would prefer to see you buy International Telephone.

Q. "I am a housewife with two daughters, one married. I would like to take some cash from the savings bank to invest in stocks to help my family. I don't have much money and I know nothing at all about stocks. What would you advise?" N. S.

A. I'm going to advise you very strongly to leave your money in the savings bank. I heartily approve of your wanting to help your family, but I doubt if — in your position — you should try to do so through the medium of the stock market. No one should ever buy shares who cannot assume a definite measure of risk, since all stocks fluctuate to a greater or lesser degree. Your money belongs where it is. Interest may seem slow, but is accumulative and the principal is always intact.

BAAAAAAAH! DEPUTIES BUTT OF A JOKE?

It was roundup time at the county courthouse lawn yesterday.

Sheriff's Deputies Angelo J. Mecchi and Michael Hicks corraled a "prisoner" who tried to butt and kick his way out of custody.

He was easily identified as a white "Billy Goat," about 200 pounds, of unknown address, whose only statement was "baaaahh."

Deputy Hicks grabbed him by the horns and led him to the safety of the sheriff's office, but the booking procedure broke down when it was decided there was no room at the jail for him.

The goat was taken into custody by the Humane Society.

Rolling Manhole Lining Injures Man, Hits Auto

A 700-pound concrete cylinder rolled down Elder Court and Tamarack Drive, San Rafael at 11:45 a.m. Saturday, injuring one man, knocking down two trees, and hitting a car.

San Rafael police reported the rocking motion made by two boys, 6 and 9, teeter-tottering, started the cylinder on its roll.

Starting at the east end of Elder Court, it went down a 30-foot embankment and traveled 180 feet east on Elder to Tamarack Drive, police said.

It knocked down two street trees, crossed the property of John Burton Wasley Jr. at 704 Tamarack Drive, and continued 225 feet to the south.

Everett Thomas Robinson, 46, of 24 Lenglen Avenue, attempted to stop the cylinder, but was thrown aside and suffered cuts of his right arm, police said.

The cylinder then hit the curb and a car registered to Patrick M. Cronin, 712 Tamarack Drive.

Police said the cylinder, a manhole lining, was owned by Kenny Corp. of San Lorenzo.

Clyde Brodie of Petaluma, who reported the incident, later told police that he had permission to break up the cylinder and five others, weighing up to two tons, that were at the site. Police said the breaking started Saturday.

Brodie said that the cylinders had been left at the site about a year ago.

Unpublished Twain Is Out

BERKELEY (AP) — The University of California Press today issues three volumes of previously unpublished writings of Mark Twain.

They are titled, "Satires and Budlesques," "Letters to Publishers," and "Which Was the Dream."

The books are the first of a 14-volume series of Twain's works to be culled from the university's Twain's collection which has been at Berkeley since 1949.

English Prof. Henry Nash Smith, who helped edit the new series, said the book "Which Was the Dream" exemplifies Twain's despondency in his last years. It deals with a man who dreams his wife and daughter are "taking a trip to nowhere" in a raindrop.

Card Game Study On Council Agenda

San Rafael could outlaw cardrooms, but not by simply repealing the city ordinance which requires their licensing, in the opinion of City Atty. David Menary Jr.

The city council on Feb. 20, after denying an application by Irving Litchfield for eight card tables at Bermuda Palms, directed Menary to look into state law to see what would be necessary to ban cardrooms from San Rafael entirely. At present, they are permitted with a license which must be granted by the council.

The city attorney will report tonight that draw poker and lowball are legal games under California state law, so if the city simply repealed its licensing ordinance, they could be played in a card room without any city control.

However, says his letter to the council, the city could repeal the licensing and control provisions, then outlaw card rooms. This would leave playing of draw poker and low-ball in private homes legal, as it is throughout the state.

Also set for tonight's council meeting, starting at 8 o'clock in the new city hall, are two related rezonings: Francisco Boulevard property which the city wants to sell, to commercial, and the county courthouse block which the city wants to buy, to a special "C-3" closely restricted district.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen is scheduled to report on possibility of dredging of San Rafael Canal by the Army Corps of Engineers during the next fiscal year. Considerable silt has been deposited in the canal since it was last dredged in 1961 in a $140,000 Army Engineers project.

Charge for towing away cars parked in city tow-away zones, which has been repeatedly postponed, is scheduled to be taken up again.

Applications for encroachment permits by rival community television antenna companies are to be before the council, one being sought by Cable Television of Marin and the other by Televue Systems, Inc.

Resolutions appointing election boards and designating polling places for the municipal election on April 10 will be submitted by City Clerk W. C. Cornwell.

Scars are a mark of beauty among women of the Nuba tribespeople in Central Sudan.

NO CAREER WORRIES

Royal Teens Are Growing Up With Future Roles In Mind

LONDON (UPI) —The two most looked-at—and looked after—teen-agers in Britain undoubtedly are Prince Charles, 18-year-old heir to the throne, and his sister, Princess Anne, 16.

A common question among other youngsters their age, and among some curious adults, is how do their lives compare with those of other teen-agers?

Has Prince Charles ever kissed a girl? Is Princess Anne "sweet 16 and never kissed?"

No one outside the royal family could answer that one, but it is all too obvious there's little room in their lives for teen-age romance. Neither is allowed out alone with a member of the opposite sex. Any "dating" requires a minimum group of six.

Even at dances their partners are pretty much chosen for them. Wherever they may go at least one detective always has them under his shadow. And whatever they do, publicly, has the whole country watching. They don't even have much elbow room.

QUEEN ELIZABETH and Prince Philip have tried to give their children as ordinary an upbringing as possible. But because they are royal, they simply do not have the same opportunities as others youngsters to meet, see, do and understand all the people and things ordinary ilfe is made up of.

Their parents are strict disciplinarians in the belief that the royal children have to learn the value of self-discipline from the start to mould them for their future roles.

Their circles of friends or "set" is limited. It is composed of teen-agers of very similar backgrounds — the sons and daughters of friends of their parents.

Even so there is a big difference between them and previous royal children. The Queen and Prince Philip broke the tradition of education at home and sent Charles and Anne off to boarding schools—Gordonstoun, a character-building, sports-emphasizing boys' school for Prince Charles, and Beneden, a typically "upper drawer" though not snobbish girls' school for Princess Anne.

WHEN IT COMES to sports and other leisure pursuits, the royal children can do just about anything they like to do. At school and away from it Prince Charles can ride, go sailing, play polo, fool around with musical instruments (he plays the piano, guitar and trumpet), indulge in winter sports, go fishing and camping. Princess Anne rides, loves country walks and picnics, paints, swims, sails and plays tennis.

AT THEIR OWN parties they can twist, frug and the like. They can indulge—within limits—their likes and dislikes in teen-age styles. Princess Anne has her mini-skirts, lacy stockings and boots. Prince Charles, disallowing some of the present day extremes, dresses much as other boys his age.

And there are many teen-age "worries" that cannot worry the prince and princess.

They need have no concern about "making it" into college. They don't hage to worry about where to live, and they live in high style and comfort. After all, their family has Buckingham Palace, Windsor and Balmoral castles and various other places.

THEY DON'T have to worry about money. Their mother is immensely rich and Prince Charles now gets an allowance of 30,000 pounds ($84,000) a year all of his own, although he must not splash it around.

Princess Anne just might worry about a career. Having been to school with girls who can go off and become anything they want from lawyer to secretary, she might want to rebel against the royal round of making speeches, opening hospitals and laying foundation stones.

San Domenico Sets Camping Program

June 25 will mark the 1967 opening of the San Domenico Summer Adventure in San Anselmo, for girls from nine to thirteen. Residents and day campers will look forward to five weeks of participating in creative experiences, conversing in French or Spanish and vying in competitive sports activities.

Under the direction of the Dominican Sisters of San Rafael, 12 college counselors and five professional instructors will direct a program which includes creative art, music (choral, recorder, guitar), drama, modern dance and folk dances; nature study, which will not only increase awareness of animal and plant life, but also inspire painting and writing; swimming and water ballet, tennis, golf, archery, badminton and horseback.

The new San Domenico campus sheltered by oak-dotted hills, has developed its area with an Olympic-size swimming pool, tennis courts, riding ring and trails, nature trials and scenic campsites. Weekly campouts, sing-a-longs at the campfire, entertainment by the three age groups will vary each evening. Weekend excursions to Point Reyes, Drakes Bay, Angel Island and San Francisco will be held.

A horseshow, swimmmeet, ballet and drama demonstration will bring the adventure to a close on July 29. The San Domenico Summer Adventure is open to all campers. For information write the San Domenico Adventure Secretary, San Domenico School, San Anselmo.

Has Prince Charles ever kissed a girl? Is Princess Anne "sweet 16 and never kissed?"

No one outside the royal family could answer that one, but it is all too obvious there's little room in their lives for teen-age romance. Neither is allowed out alone with a member of the opposite sex. Any "dating" requires a minimum group of six.

Even at dances their partners are pretty much chosen for them. Wherever they may go at least one detective always has them under his shadow. And whatever they do, publicly, has the whole country watching. They don't even have much elbow room.

QUEEN ELIZABETH and Prince Philip have tried to give their children as ordinary an upbringing as possible. But because they are royal, they simply do not have the same opportunities as others youngsters to meet, see, do and understand all the people and things ordinary ilfe is made up of.

Their parents are strict disciplinarians in the belief that the royal children have to learn the value of self-discipline from the start to mould them for their future roles.

Their circles of friends or "set" is limited. It is composed of teen-agers of very similar backgrounds — the sons and daughters of friends of their parents.

Even so there is a big difference between them and previous royal children. The Queen and Prince Philip broke the tradition of education at home and sent Charles and Anne off to boarding schools—Gordonstoun, a character-building, sports-emphasizing boys' school for Prince Charles, and Beneden, a typically "upper drawer" though not snobbish girls' school for Princess Anne.

WHEN IT COMES to sports and other leisure pursuits, the royal children can do just about anything they like to do. At school and away from it Prince Charles can ride, go sailing, play polo, fool around with musical instruments (he plays the piano, guitar and trumpet), indulge in winter sports, go fishing and camping. Princess Anne rides, loves country walks and picnics, paints, swims, sails and plays tennis.

AT THEIR OWN parties they can twist, frug and the like. They can indulge—within limits—their likes and dislikes in teen-age styles. Princess Anne has her mini-skirts, lacy stockings and boots. Prince Charles, disallowing some of the present day extremes, dresses much as other boys his age.

And there are many teen-age "worries" that cannot worry the prince and princess.

They need have no concern about "making it" into college. They don't hage to worry about where to live, and they live in high style and comfort. After all, their family has Buckingham Palace, Windsor and Balmoral castles and various other places.

THEY DON'T have to worry about money. Their mother is immensely rich and Prince Charles now gets an allowance of 30,000 pounds ($84,000) a year all of his own, although he must not splash it around.

Princess Anne just might worry about a career. Having been to school with girls who can go off and become anything they want from lawyer to secretary, she might want to rebel against the royal round of making speeches, opening hospitals and laying foundation stones.

San Domenico Sets Camping Program

June 25 will mark the 1967 opening of the San Domenico Summer Adventure in San Anselmo, for girls from nine to thirteen. Residents and day campers will look forward to five weeks of participating in creative experiences, conversing in French or Spanish and vying in competitive sports activities.

Under the direction of the Dominican Sisters of San Rafael, 12 college counselors and five professional instructors will direct a program which includes creative art, music (choral, recorder, guitar), drama, modern dance and fold dances; nature study, which will not only increase awareness of animal and plant life, but also inspire painting and writing; swimming and water ballet, tennis, golf, archery, badminton and horseback.

The new San Domenico campus sheltered by oak-dotted hills, has developed its area with an Olympic-size swimming pool, tennis courts, riding ring and trails, nature trials and scenic campsites. Weekly campouts, sing-a-longs at the campfire, entertainment by the three age groups will vary each evening. Weekend excursions to Point Reyes, Drakes Bay, Angel Island and San Francisco will be held.

A horseshow, swimmmeet, ballet and drama demonstration will bring the adventure to a close on July 29. The San Domenico Summer Adventure is open to all campers. For information write the San Domenico Adventure Secretary, San Domenico School, San Anselmo.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Mother Suspects Son Who 'Reels' Home From Fishing Club Meeting

DEAR HELEN:

I am a girl of 25 with five lovely kids. I left my husband about a year ago and he only sends enough support to feed half of them. I'm very lonely and met a wonderful guy who says he loves us all. He's willing to give us a nice home we never had.

But my family is against it. They can't help me support the children. I need someone, and this man seems so right. Is it wrong?—P.H.

DEAR P:

Your family has a point, so long as there's only a separation — not a divorce, Why not make everything nice and legal? If this man is as wonderful as you say, he'll go for marriage too.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our son, age 19, says he belongs to a fishing and gun club, where he goes every weekend, and sometimes on week nights too, when they "study guns" etc. But I'm not so sure. I was cleaning out his sports car today and found five speeding tickets, plus quite a lot of personal things belonging to females.

Also, his club must serve something stronger than coffee, as he comes in very late and very far from sober. He has a good job, but he may not keep it long at this rate. What kind of rod and reel club would you call this anyway?—WISE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

I'd say it was a (hot) rod and reel (ing drunk) club, and your son may be sporty, but he's not an outdoor sportsman. When a 19-year-old comes home drunk two or three nights a week, it's time for parental action. Tell him a minor, under your roof, conforms to your rules — or else!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have a drinking problem, but who wouldn't, having to work in an office with 15 females! On weekends, I hit the vino, get along fine without it through the week, except on Mondays when I fight a hangover.

I hate my job, dislike dames, think life isn't worth the effort. The only person I ever loved was my mother.

There's something very wrong with my life. I think I'm only happy when I'm biotto. Yet nobody knows this but me — and now you.What would you recommend?—JACK

DEAR JACK:

. . . A good psychiatrist. He would be the best investment you ever made.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband has his meals on a TV tray, so he can watch the sports or news broadcasts. He won't eat with the family — we make too much noise. When we're in the living room and say even a word he's all over us. One night he threw a beer can at our son and raised a welt. Another time he emptied a whole glass of beer over our daughter's head because she asked me something about school work. He lives for that TV. We only talk when we go into the bedrooms. Don't tell me to leave him. I love him, but: Is it right to have to talk in whispers or not at all in your own house?—TIRED OF "SHUT UP!"

DEAR TIRED:

It certainly isn't right! And I wouldn't do it. There's three of you to one of your beer-guzzling, TV-addicted husband, and if you can't educate him into normal viewing habits, you deserve all the browbeating you get. Next time he throws a beer can, I hope he misses and breaks the tube!—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Moliere Production To Open On Friday

Moliere's "A Doctor in Spite of Himself," produced by the College of Marin drama department, will open Friday at 8:30 p.m. in room 1 of Harlan Hall on the Kentfield campus.

Director Robin Jackson, a member of the drama faculty who will be directing his first production at the college, described the play as a biting satire on the medical profession done in the Italian "commedia dell' arte" style.

A play within a play, the production casts actors as a touring Italian comedy troupe performing in a French market place. The plot involves a woodcutter who is made to believe he is a doctor.

The play will include original music written by William Nelson, a part-time College of Marin student.

It will be repeated Saturday, Sunday, and March 15 through 18. A special dress rehearsal performance for high school drama students will be given Thursday.

Kent Kay of San Francisco has the leading role of Sganarelle. Also in the cast are Gene Babo of Novato as Valere; Robert Deckelman of San Anselmo as Lucas; David McCawley of San Geronimo as Geronte, David Suhl of Tiburon as Perrin; Greg Harning of San Rafael as Thibaut; Dave Haskell of Terra Linda as Leandre; Bryan Wittine of San Anselmo as Mr. Robert; Sylvia Scott of San Anselmo as Lucinde; Helen McDonald of Sausalito as Jacqueline.

Jill Cogswell of Mill Valley plays Martine; Cynthia Jones and Laura St. Denis of Corte Madera, Janet Jacobs of San Rafael, Marel Nash of Terra Linda and Phyllis DeBois of Hamilton Air Force Base are cast as market girls, and Paul Abbott and Charles Callister of Mill Valley and Sibley Cogswell of Tiburon are cast as the market men.

In the technical crew are Bryan Wittine as rehearsal secretary, Greg Norgaard as stage manager; Dick Wood of Novato, assistant stage manager; Richard Conte of Larkspur, technical assistant; Douglas Freeman of Tiburon, stage carpenter, and Janet Jacobs of San Rafael, wardrobe mistress. Robert Deckelman, Karen Frederick, Cynthia Jones, Marel Nash and Laura St. Denis are also on the costume crew.

The stage crew is composed of Greg Haring, Tamara Monte and Curt Miller of San Rafael, and Claudia Montvernay of San Anselmo, Judy Rude of Kentfield and Linda McKelvy of Mill Valley, and Franca Hernandez and Erna Dawkins of Novato.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

CONCERT REVIEW

Joel Andrews Gives Harp Added Depth

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Master harpist and composer Joel Andrews' program last night presented at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse as the second in the concert series of the new Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts was a superlative demonstration of all the resources of the harp.

The setting was perfect for this delicate music — which can, however, as Andrews showed, be surprisingly robust, especially in modern effects which his famed teacher Carlos Salzedo increased to 30 with Andrews himself adding 15 more.

What can be monotony in a single-instrument concert was avoided by the richly varied program and Andrews' witty and informal discussion of the harp's history and demonstration of its resources apart from actual performance. He has a decided gift as a lecture-recitalist.

Often a harp concert includes mainly the kind of equisitely melodious music that makes it easy to see why the instrument has been traditionally associated with angels. Though there was no lack of this in the first half of the program, interest in the second half centered in impressionistic and contemporary effects not so well known.

After the opening group of three selections from some of the earlist music for the harp at the end of the 15th Century, a chaconne written in the 1800s by August Durand was enchanting, as were a theme and variations by Haydn.

The first indication of Andrews' skill as a composer came in variations he wrote on Purcell's "Come Ye Sons of Art" as a commission for a wedding. The variations were more beautiful than the theme itself.

Expressive effects of the harp were highlighted in Salzedo's "Chanson Dan La Nuit" and "La Desirade."

Up to the minute in contemporary sound and techniques — and far more agreeable than some electronic compositions which it can surpass in new and exciting sonorities without nerve-jarring results — was Andrews' one "Sea Suite." This is a master piece of impressionistic vignettes inspired by the sea which we have heard several times. One finds new things to admire in it each time.

After this the three carols were something of an anticlimax, though they had their own appeal.

A delighted audience that filled the room insisted on several encores. The most interesting was a new work written for Andres for the famed California composer Lou Harrison. In a Korean mode and bearing the title of a Bodhisattva, the piece revealed an unsuspected affinity of the harp for oriental moods and sounds.

Project 17 Discussion Set Tonight

A joint Mill Valley city-school contract with landscape architects Royston, Hanamoto, Mayes and Beck to plan the Project 17 area for a "middle school" and city recreation facility will be considered by the Mill Valley City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

School district trustees signed the contract early in January, but councilmen have delayed action on it pending estimates on cost of engineering data necessary to master plan the site. City Engineer Stanley M. Bala last week estimated data requested by the landscape architects would cost $10,700, but that a property map without survey, adequate for preliminary master planning, would cost $1,050.

School district trustees last week voted to hold an election June 13 on a bond measure of more than $3 million to build the "middle school" and improve existing schools.

Also on the council agenda are discussions of future city limits and of remodeling the old library for city offices.

Well, PSA changed all that. Now it's $11.43.
It's true. PSA pioneered low air fares. And what did it get us? Well, lots of passengers for one thing. Oh yes, and some competition from other airlines who were forced to lower their fares from time to time.
So what do we want—a medal? No, but it might be nice if you bought a ticket sometime. Especially since we still have the lowest air fares.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Romeo' Is Excellent Production

By KARL BARRON

An exciting, compassionate, literate production of "Romeo and Juliet" went begging for audiences Friday and Saturday in Marin City, despite the fact that it is a truly integrated play, numbering three talented Negroes in a cast of 12.

The New Shakespeare Company brought Shakespeare's tragedy into St. Andrew Presbyterian Church fo a three weekend run. On Saturday night there were 25 patrons, one of whom was a Negro. Is Saturday night's television that good?

This "Romeo and Juliet" is good. The direction of Margrit Roma, who has worked with both Max Reinhardt and Bertolt Brecht, uses the emotional grandeur of the former and the hard attack of the latter to compress her cast into a spare, deeply touching story of young love and senseless tragedy.

Since Romeo is black and Juliet white, a racial tension may be read into the age-old feud of the Montagues and Capulets, the reason for which Shakespeare never bothers to define. Miss Roma wisely does nothing to further the idea, but leaves it to the individual viewer.

Personally—and this is the most important and exciting thing about the project—after five minutes I forgot that the young lovers were of different color. I also forgot for most of the play that they were actors.

The play is staged in the chapel of St. Andrew's, with two simple white background flats with black designs carrying out a high-beamed ceiling theme.

The young lovers are played with gentle understatement by Sydney Daniels as Juliet and Ted Lange as Romeo.

Highlighting the acting company is the Mercutio of Wallace Gorrell, hot-tempered as a wasp and brimming with bawdy humor.

Supporting these three with no less total involvement are the earthy nurse of Kay Stuntz; the haughty yet warm Lady Capulet of Maria Lakkala, and William Exley as Friar Laurence.

Enos Baker deserves special mention for his double as handsome, young Benvolio and the elderly Montague, while Tanya Rentz frenetically plays most of the servants with speaking lines.

Miss Roma draws the audience into the play by having the servants offer them refreshments during the ball at Capulet's home, and Lange plays his farewell to Juliet kneeling in the aisle between two rows of spectators. All this is in line with the New Shakespeare Company's stated purpose of having theater "reach the consciousness of the audience."

"Romeo and Juliet" will play this weekend and next, Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. St. Andrew is just off the freeway at the entrance to Marin City. You'll not see anything to equal this on TV Friday or Saturday.

PEACE AND LIBRARY CAMPAIGNS JOINED

There may be no connection for most people between the Vietnam war and Sausalito's library bond issue, to be voted on tomorrow. But apparently there is for George C. Hoffman, one of the minority of the planning commission that favored the proposed library location on the sandspit. Hoffman put this sign atop his car to promote passage of the $250,000 bond issue. GENE F. O'CONNOR IN COUNCIL RACE

Former City Planning Commissioner Picks Up His Papers For Candidacy

San Rafael insurance broker Gene F. O'Connor, 54, today joined the race for two contested seat on the City Council.

O'Connor, a former city planning commissioner, picked up candidacy papers from City Clerk W. C. Cornwall.

He urged that the city solve problems on consolidation, beautification, development of the courthouse property and sewerage and drainage.

A lifelong resident of San Rafael, O'Connor was a founder and first president of the San Rafael Beautiful Committee and the San Rafael 20-30 Club, belongs to local Elks Lodge and American Legion post, and is a director of the Marin County Association of Insurance Agents.

He maintains his home and business at 150 Forbes Avenue. He has a wife, Rosemary, and a daughter, Colleen.

O'Connor said, "Commuter transportation is bad and getting worse. Any sound proposal to improve it should be supported by our city government. Fire and police protection deserve ever increasing consideration, and improvement of these services should be given a thorough review."

In another development in the council race, service station operator Charles Swanfelt today returned petitions to Cornwell. A total of seven candidates have announced for the seats now occupied by Councilmen Chester W. Aby and Fred E. Jensen.

Jensen is seeking re-election, but Aby is not. Other candidates are attorney Joseph D. Dahlman; George S. Burton, a used car dealer; plumbing contractor Orlando Conti, and Planning Commissioner John A. Miskimen.

Deadline for filing papers is Friday.

Coast Guard Rescues Four Off Cruiser

Four men, stranded on a beach at Tennessee Point after their 25-foot cabin cruiser ran ashore, were rescued by the Coast Guard yesterday afternoon.

The Coast Guard reported that the men were hoisted aboard a helicopter and flown to a waiting 44-foot patrol boat from Fort Point.

The area was practically inaccessible by land, so the helicopter lift was used, the Coast Guard reported. The boat reportedly was high and dry and the four men uninjured.

Rescued were T. G. Anthony, 35, of San Pablo; Jerry Anger, 44, and J. H. Payne, 42, both of Richmond, and Chief Petty Officer Martin W. Helton, 2c, of the vessel Leonard F. Mason.

The Coast Guard received the call reporting the stranded boat at 12:47 p.m. The four men were taken to Fort Point.

Zucker Submits Budget Increase

Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker today submitted a proposed planning department budget of $383,915 for next fiscal year, up $3,366 from the current year.

In presenting the proposal to the planning commission, he aaid that the emphasis on advanced planning would change from 25 per cent of staff time to about 45 per cent.

He said the proposed budget did not include all figures for the county general plan, proposed to start in the coming fiscal year. This would be financed largely through federal funds.

Zucker said the commission did not have to act on the proposal, but could endorse it if it wished.

This left commissioners in something of a dilemma, since they thought they should review it item by item if they were to recommend the budget to supervisors.

Commission Chairman Margaret Azevedo suggested the commission go on record "in sympathy with the proposed budget."

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty protested, saying the commission should approve the budget. He later softened his phrasing to say the commission should say the budget "appears reasonable" and the increased emphasis on advanced planning was sound.

This got a 6-0 vote from the commission. Commissioner Claude Stoller was absent.

Trusty Back In Jail— Marijuana

Merton Wesley Spaulding, 21, should have walked away from Marin County Jail at 8 a.m. today a free man after serving nine months for car theft.

"You won't be seeing me again," he told jailers yesterday as he cleaned up the parking lot where he had been put to work as an outside trusty because of good behavior. But he made one mistake.

At 2:40 p.m. he put away his brushes and walked across to a garbage can, stooped down and picked up a package.

It was what Inspector Kenneth and Deputy Frank Kane had been waiting for. They had staked out the can since seeing the package there at 1 p.m.

They took the package out of the front pocket of Spaulding's jail jeans and asked him what was inside it. He said he did not know. Deputies said it contained marijuana.

At 8 a.m. today, Spaulding was back inside a cell booked on a charge of conspiracy. Sheriff's officers said they were questioning other inmates of the jail today.

Trials On Robbery, Bad Checks Docketed

Jury trials for Paul E. Bradley, charged with armed robbery, and Marie Della Maderios, accused of possession of worthless checks with intent to defraud others, were scheduled on the master calendar of Marin Superior Court today to start at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Bradley, 34, and Thurman Levi Thompson, 36, of 88 Rocca Road, Fairfax, allegedly used a knife on Jan. 8, 1966, to rob Harold E. Pennington at the Standard Service Station, 7417 Redwood Highway, Novato, of about $75.

Thompson originally was also scheduled for the jury trial but failed to appear for court proceedings Jan. 24 and is a fugitive.

Trial for Bradley, of 103 Redwood Road, Fairfax, will be before Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court, sitting in extra sessions court for the superior court. The trial is expected to last three days.

Mrs. Maderios, 31, of Oakland, allegedly had three checks in her possession in San Rafael and Corte Madera last Nov. 6-7 with intent to defraud others. Her trial is scheduled for four days before Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Any Parking Beefs? Survey Is Launched

What do you think of the parking situation in San Rafael?

You'll have a chance to state your opinions in a survey which San Rafael Chamber of Commerce started today "to assist San Rafael City Council in establishing a realistic parking program."

Five thousand printed questionnaires will be left on parked cars around the city and distributed through shops for six weeks, said chamber manager Jack Alvarado.

The survey includes questions like: "Are you an all-day parker?" and "Would you prefer a two hour meter limit using pennies, nickels and dimes on Fourth Street?"

Question No. 9 is, "Approximately how many violations have you received for overtime parking while shopping?"

The questionnaires are accompanied by a self-addressed envelope, and when results have been computed the chamber will make a presentation and recommendations to the city council, Alvarado said.

Judge Orders Hospital Stay

John C. Livesay, 44, who was returned to Marin County Jail Friday after a 90-day observation period at Atascadero State Hospital, has been ordered by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court back to the hospital for an indeterminate period as a sexual psychopath.

Livesay, of Petaluma, was convicted by jury Nov. 9 of committing lewd and lascivious behavior with children aged 7 to 9 last July in San Anselmo. He also was found guilty of committing an unnatural sexual act.

The new commitment suspends further court proceedings.

Marin Planners Continue Almonte Zoning Discussion

The Marin County Planning Commission today heard two hours of discussion on commercial zones in Almonte before setting new hearings for further discussion on March 20.

The commission at one point adopted a change from commercial to duplex and single-family zoning at Almonte Boulevard and Stadium Way, but rescinded this later, agreeing to hold a hearing on rezoning for apartments rather than duplexes on the west side of Stadium Way. The change from commercial to single-family on the east side of Stadium Way stood.

Getting more discussion were proposed changes from commercial zoning at Wisteria Way and Almonte Boulevard.

The commission agreed that three lots at the northwest corner of the intersection should remain commercial, rather than go to single-family residential as earlier recommended. It recommended change from comrecial to single-family zoning on a parcel just west of these lots and another parcel just south bounded by Wisteria, Sending and Wembury ways and Lavender Lane.

Hearing was set March 20 on rezoning a parcel at the southwest corner of Almonte Boulevard and Wisteria Way from commercial to apartments, rather than single-family as originally recommended.

Allison Hana had asked a permit to build an eight-unit apartment with shops beneath on this parcel. This was protested by neighbors today.

Hana agreed to continue his application until March 20 to see what zone is adopted. He said he would agree to drop the idea for the shops and reduce the number of units to four if the commission wants.

Napa Hospital Patient Taken From Gate Span

An out-patient from Napa State Hospital was rescued by California Highway Patrol and four bridge workers when he climbed over a Golden Gate Bridge railing Friday.

Patrol officer George J. Sharp was notified shortly after noon that a man had climbed over the rail above the south anchorage of the bridge cables. Officer Sharp joined maintenance Supt. Bud Mullins, electrical foreman Martin Siem, tollman Raymond Parker and toll foreman Paul Itanen in pulling the man back to safety on the sidewalk.

The man was identified as Robert Frank McNally, 49, with an out-patient pass from the state hospital.

Officer Sharp said it was McNally's fourth attempt to jump from the bridge, his last previous try having been last November 4. He was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

Corte Madera Buys Mural Of Town's History

The Town of Corte Madera has purchased a $750 mural depicting the town's history for display at Town Hall, Mayor Edward W. Colthurst announced today.

Kenneth Potter of 105 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, painted the mural for the town's 50th anniversary last year. An unveiling ceremony is scheduled at the Town Council meeting March 20 at 7:30 p.m.

The eight by eight and one-half foot mural is done in India ink and acrylic paint with washes of golden ochre and sepia.

Potter has been an exhibitor in major art competitions since 1948 and has won more than 35 awards.

Floor Plans On Agenda For Council

Belvedere City Council will take a look at architect Allan Steinau's rendering and floor plans for proposed city hall offices at its meetin gat Community Hall at 8 p.m. today.

City Mgr. William L Cavalli said there may be a recommendation on the granting of a community antenna television franchise by the council committee of Mayor John R. Moore, Thomas S. Price and Cavalli.

Cavalli and Police Chief William S. Woodington will report on an investigation of the Cove and Lagoon roads intersection which some residents want reopened.

Cavalli said he intends to ask the council to retain an engineer to study the sewer problem on San Rafael Avenue.

The council will discuss a proposal by Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, for a senior citizen recreation program, in which the county would participate with 50 per cent matching funds, up to $2,000.

Bad Check Brings Year

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court today gave James Allen Calkins, 22, a year in county jail and placed him on three years probation in separate actions involving revocation of probation and possession of a check with intent to defraud.

Calkins, of San Jose, was convicted by jury Jan. 13 of attempting to cash a worthless check for $126 at Value World in Larkspur last Oct. 8. He already had been placed on three years probation and given 60 days in jail on Jan. 11 for forgery.

Judge Keating revoked the probation today, sentenced Calkins to the year in jail, then placed him on a new three-year probation term on the check possession conviction.

A co-defendant in the check possession case, Gilbert Lucas Bernal, 22, of San Jose, was given a 90-day jail term and placed on a year's probation Feb. 27 after pleading guilty.

Caller Is Right, Auto Stolen One

A Novato housewife, suspicious about a car parked in front of her home, telephoned police Friday.

The car turned out to be stolen, and police began questioning several Novato High School pupils about the theft.

The woman, who lives a block from the high school, first noticed the car parked in front of her home at 2 a.m. Later, a group of youths drove it away and returned it just before school, she told police.

The car, a 1964 model belonging to Marjorie R. Smith of 700 Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael, was stolen Thursday from Macy's department store lot in San Rafael.

The moon is between its last quarter and new stage. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Italian painter Michelangelo was born on this day in 1475.

On this day in history:

In 1836, after a siege of 13 days, the Mexican forces of Santa Anna finally captured the Alamo in San Antonio, Tex. All 87 Americans were killed, including Davey Crockett.

In 1857, the Supreme Court handed down its famed Dred Scott decision. It ruled that Scott, a Negro slave, could not sue for his freedom in a federal court.

In 1947, the Supreme Court upheld a lower chamber ruling that fined John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers $710,000 for an illegal strike the year before.

In 1964, King Paul of Greece died at the age of 62 and his son Constantine became ruler.

A thought for the day—British author George Meredith once said: "I expect that women will be the last thing civilized by men."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Only Shortcut To Winning Is Right Between The Ears

People are always telling us to hew to the line, let the chips fall where they may, but in the next breath they assure us that the shortcut is often the longest way round.

The truth of the matter is that there's no substitute for thinking.

Opening lead — ♡ 9

Declarer covered the nine of hearts with dummy's ten and captured the jack with the king.

He continued with a diamond, winning with dummy's queen when West played low.

SHORTEST WAY

Since the shortest way back to the South hand was by way of trumps, declarer next led a trump from dummy, losing the king to the ace. West led a heart to dummy's ace, and South drew two rounds of trumps and led his other diamond.

It was all very brisk and straightforward, but South was already dead.

West stepped up with the ace of diamonds and led a club to East's king.

East then took the setting trick with the queen of hearts.

CUT COMMUNICATIONS

South threw his contract away by leading a trump from dummy after taking the queen of diamonds.

Instead of taking the shortest route to his hand he must first lead a club.

This takes the only possible entry out of the East hand before East is ready to cash a heart trick.

No matter what the defenders do, South can proceed with his plays in trumps and diamonds.

The best defense is for West to win the club trick and lead another heart to dummy's ace.

South ruffs a club high and leads a diamond. West steps up with the ace of diamonds and leads another club, which South again ruffs with a high trump.

Now South still has the deuce and six of spades and can reach dummy with the seven or eight of spades to cash the king of diamonds and thus get rid of his losing heart.

It's a long road, but it gets you home.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ K Q J 10 9 6 2
♥ K 5 4
♦ K 5 4
♣ 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade. You would jump at once to four spades if you did not have the king of hearts. Since you actually have second-round control in both hearts and clubs, it is foolish to make a shutout bid and thus discourage partner from making a slam try.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Nine Out Of 10 Persons Suffer More Or Less Motion Illness

VAN DELLEN

Motion sickness is a common disturbance and more than 90 per cent of our population is susceptible in the right circumstances. Only a few become ill when traveling by plane if the air is mildly turbulent. But in a real storm when the craft bounces about like a toy balloon, few are likely to escape. The situation is the same on an ocean liner.

Some travelers have a phobia about ships and become seasick walking up the gangplank. We all have heard of rough crossings where three-quarters of the passengers hugged the rail or stayed below.

ANYONE WHO is susceptible to motion sickness should avoid heavy and greasy foods before starting on a trip; a small meal with a moderate amount of liquid is preferred.

An untroubled mind also helps and, after entering the conveyance, the individual should relax in a place where the ventilation is adequate. A soft cushion or pillow will absorb vibrations and if noise is bothersome, cotton earplugs may be used.

BUT THESE aids have their limitations and a motion sickness remedy is suggested to play safe. There are many drugs of this type; some require a prescription; others can be bought over the drugstore counter.

Motion sickness usually begins with nausea and increased salivation. The victim swallows as fast as he can, breaks out in a cold sweat and becomes weak and dizzy. If nausea leads to vomiting, temporary relief may ensue. Others encounter headaches or are forced to lie down.

OCCASIONALLY symptoms persist after reaching the destination, especially in those who have been tossed about in a plane. This discomfort can be alleviated by inhaling 100 per cent oxygen for 10 minutes immediately upon landing or using an antihistamine such as Benadryl. Many improve spontaneously after eating a full meal.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

DRUG-RESISTANT BACTERIA

R. C. writes: When a person has taken repeated doses of penicillin and becomes immune to the drug, will aureomycin or terramycin kill the germs?

REPLY

It is the bacteria (not the individual) that become immune. For example, when penicillin fails to cure pneumonia because the germs are resistant to the medication, the physician suggests another antibiotic. Tests can be done to determine the antibiotic that works best against the organism.

YOUNG ATLAS

Mrs. H. Z. writes: Should a 14-year-old boy, 5 feet, 11 inches tall and weighing 135 pounds, exercise to build himself up? I think he should wait until he stops growing.

REPLY

There is no advantage to waiting and there is no time in life when exercise comes easier.

SENSITIVE TO HALOGENS

F. L. C. writes: When I take a drug with iodine or bromide, a rash breaks out on various parts of my body. Why?

REPLY

You are sensitive to these halogens, so why take them? Do you develop a rash after using iodized salt?

NOT CONTAGIOUS

A. F. writes: Do you think it harmful for people with cancer or diabetes to kiss little children?

REPLY

No; neither of these diseases is spread in this manner.

CONSTANT FATIGUE

T. R. O. writes: Is constant fatigue a sign of some disease?

REPLY

Chronic fatigue often is traceable to infection or other type of disease.

HYPERTENSION AND STRAIN

B. P. A. writes: You often say that stress and strain cause the blood pressure to go up. Will you please explain how this happens?

REPLY

The exact mechanism is not known except that the nervous system stimulates certain organs, such as the kidneys and adrenal glands, to produce hormones that narrow the vessels and lead to an increase in pressure to force blood thru the narrowed arteries.

Today's Health Hint—Stressful periods may trigger attacks of asthma.

Mill Valley Artist Sued For Divorce

A divorce suit alleging cruelty and adultery has been filed in Marin Superior Court against Mill Valley mosaic artist Alfonso Pardinas, 43.

Christina R. Pardinas asks her share of community property, custody of the two daughters, aged 4 and 2, and $1,000 monthly support for herself and the children

She alleges that Pardinas, owner of Byzantine Mosaics, in San Francisco, indulged in adultery Feb. 15 in San Francisco.

The complaint says Pardinas has a $12,000 interest in a mosaic factory in Mexico, and $10,000 in a San Francisco waterfront project, and is worth about $166,000, she alleges.

The couple wed in Germany Nov. 8, 1961, and reside at 442 Panoramic Highway, Homestead Valley.

School Sites To Be Viewed

The purchase of additional school sites will come before the Novato Unified School District Board when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the administration building.

It will consider the application to purchase an elementary school site in San Marin and purchase of additional elementary and junior high school sites.

Other items to come before the board include air conditioning of schools, evening classes in the adult high school for the spring term, and setting holidays for next school year for non-teaching employees.

Trio Is Accused Of Shoplifting

Employees of Mac Disco Store, 555 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, accused a boy and two girls, all from San Rafael, of shoplifting in the sundries department Saturday afternoon.

Police said the boy, 13, took a carton of cigarettes and the girls, ages unknown, each lifted a lipstick. The youth was booked at Juvenile Hall and the girls were released to their parents.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Excellent Series Carries Bad Title

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —I find it very depressing that NBC-TV has named its new Sunday series "Experiment in Television." Whenever a network labels a show with a title like that, you can be sure it airs on Sunday afternoons—which this does—and that it has a creepy flute theme, and that about 10 persons watch, eight of them critics.

Every viewer should, of course, be pleased the series is on the air—two of the three shows have been effective—but the title strikes an observer as a high-toned copout that justifies keeping the programs out of prime time. The two effective shows, both dramas—one set in the Negro Watts area of Los Angeles, the other an off-Broadway play—were hardly experimental at all, unless one is naive or provincial, and I give NBC-TV more credit than that.

EASY WAY OUT

No—it is all too easy to take a couple of plays that might stir up the animals if shown in prime time, and send them off to the vast no-man's-land of Sunday afternoons, and that way one avoids headaches with sponsors—who, in fact, are unfortunately discouraged from participating because of the "experiment" tag. I must say I admire ABC-TV all the more for putting its so-called experimental series, "Stage 67," in prime time, come what may, and with pretty certain knowledge the ratings would be thin.

NBC-TV tried to maintain its "experiment" gimmick yesterday by introducing Emanuel Peluso's one-act drama, "Good Day," as "a new play by a new playwright." Well, it wasn't a new play at all. As the network previously noted in its own press released, it was a 1965 off-Broadway work that attracted considerable attention. And it would have been a welcome entry in prime time.

ACTING EXERCISE

It was, in fact, less a drama than an odd yet intriguing acting exercise concerning a smug, stuffy and eventually cruel young man who comes to the strange home of a regal, well-to-do old woman in reply to a job ad in a newspaper.

The woman was portrayed by the accomplished performer Jo van Fleet, and the young man by a talented fellow named Frank Langella. Mr. Langella seems to be one of the few young American actors who appreciates the grace and effect of refined diction.

THE PLOT

As it turns out, the old woman is willing to pay a lot of money just to be talked to, and before you know it we are involved in that favorite tactic of the Edward Albee-inspired new American theatre—people sitting around tearing each other to shreds with words. If the ending—the young man's complete capitulation and misery—was less than convincing, the exercise was still diverting.

What aroused the old woman's latent hatred for the young man and his self-proclaimed dignity was his story of the way he cruelly used a sickly girl who loved him—manipulating her merely to get material for a book he was writing, until she died. As the old woman brought the young man to heel in retribution, we once again recognized the theme—we are all murderers if we live within the walls of our smug self-satisfaction and fail to give to those who need us, and sooner or later we will pay.

Tracy Smith Steals Show With Record Run

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Mon., March 6, 1967 25

OAKLAND (AP)—A terribly frustrated man — so dejected that he quit college to report for military service "to get it over with"— is the new world three-mile record holder—and possibly the United States' brightest hope for a distance winner in the 1968 Olympics.

He is Tracy Smith, 21, of Arcadia, Calif. He raced to such a smashing three-mile victory at the AAU national indoor track and field meet that a crowd of nearly 10,000 stood and cheered madly at the final quarter-mile.

"I couldn't understand why they were so wild," Tracy said. "I had no idea I had a chance to break a world record.

"Then I began to see people's eyes popping out all around the track."

13:16.2

Tracy's long sprint lowered the record to 13:16.2 Saturday night in Oakland's new Coliseum Arena. That's 2.2 seconds below the 13:18.4 which Australian Ron Clarke ran in 1964.

That earned him the newsmen's vote as Outstanding Athlete of the meet.

Miss Madeline Manning of Tennessee State, who won the 880 in world record - equaling time of 2:08.4, was voted Outstanding Woman Athlete. She also ran the 440 leg Friday night as Tennessee State set a world record 1:46.6 in the sprint medley relay.

Tennessee State ran away with the women's team title with 33 points to runnerup Los Angeles Mercurettes' 14.

Defending champion Southern California Striders had to share the men's team title with the Long Beach 49er Track Club because of a dropped baton. Each scored 33 points. The Striders lost a precious 34th point for fourth place in the mile relay because the team was disqualified. The wrong runner picked up the dropped baton.

WILL RETURN

Oakland will host the AAU meet again Feb. 23-24, 1968, under sponsorship of Athens, Inc., which brought this meet to the new Arena.

Tracy Smith, a blond, 5-11, 162-pounder, has been trying to find himself in three years in college.

As California state interscholastic mile champion at 4:13, he was welcomed to Oregon State. An injury as a freshman set him back in training. Discouraged, he quit and the next year transferred to Pasadena City College.

There he caught the measles, missed 10 days of training, got discouraged and left school.

He returned to Oregon State and as a sophomore placed in three events at the 1965 NCAA meet in Berkeley, the three-mile, six-mile and steeplechase.

The injury jinx hit again early in January — a strained hamstring muscle. He lost four weeks of training.

"I couldn't concentrate. I felt bogged down . . . like I was just spinning my wheels. I wasn't getting anywhere. I felt sick.

"Finally, I decided to go in the Army and fulfill my military requirement. Maybe I can handle school better after two

Ten-Year Veteran Status More Than Honorary, It's Monetary

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. — Jim Davenport becomes a 10 year major league veteran this season. Being a 10 year man in baseball isn't just an honorary status. Indeed not. Ten year status qualifies players for substantial benefits.

HANLEY

BENEFITS OF THE baseball players pension plan were doubled this year for five and 10 year men. A five year man now is entitled at age 50 to $250 a month for life. A 10 year man's pension at 50 is $500 a month.

"That's a pretty nice fixed income to look forward to," said Davenport who now is 33.

INSURANCE AND medical benefits also were substantially increased this year. Life insurance ranges from $12,000 for a first year man to $50,000 for a 20 year veteran.

Medical and hospital expenses are covered in full for the first $1,000 and 80 per cent of all over $1,000. Maternity allowances were upped from $350 to $500.

"FOR $180 A YEAR or $15 a month a ball player may continue the medical and hospital plan after his playing career ends," said Tom Haller, player representative of the Giants.

"Our pension plan with its accompanying insurance and medical features was used as a model by the football pros when they set up their plan. Baseball takes care of its own."

HALLER REPORTED THAT player representatives who met last week in Miami voted unanimously for the increased pension plan benefits. They now will be referred to the players for approval. An informal poll of the Giants disclosed unanimous approval of the new benefits.

It would be difficult to understand anything but a unanimous vote of approval, especially since the pension plan is free to the players. They used to contribute $2 a day to its support but no longer.

"THIS ACTUALLY IS the first year players will not contribute to the plan," said Haller. "The $2 a day fee will be used toward operation costs of the players own office headquarters."

The pension fund, now $33 million, will receive another $4.1 million infusion this year from the 1967 World Series and All-Star game. All but five per cent of the All-Star receipts go to the pension fund. Sixty per cent of the World Series television fee goes to the fund.

THE FUND IS administered by a Cleveland corporation of retirement experts under the overall supervision of the baseball commissioner.

A Lefthanded Double For Giant Hal Lanier

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—Tom Haller's squad got a homer from rookie Bill Sorrell while winning the San Francisco Giants' first intra-squad game, 3-1, yesterday over Willie Mays' contingent.

Sorrell, drafted from the Pacific Coast League, hit his roundtripper off right hander Frank Kasheta. Six pitchers, each working one inning, took the hill.

Ray Sadecki, pitcher who gave up the other two runs to the Haller club, allowed a single to Frank Johnson, a walk to Ken Henderson and a double to Frank Hiatt, a powerful right handed pinch-hitter.

Hal Lanier, who teamed with Tito Fuentes for a doubleplay, scored the only run for Mays' squad. He doubled, went to third on a passed ball and came home on a sacrifice fly by Mays.

Lanier was batting left handed at the plate in an attempt to establish himself as a switch hitter. He usually bats from the right side. In his other plate appearance he struck out.

Lanier tossed to Fuentes who relayed to the first baseman for the twin killing.

Henderson displayed a fine early season eye by walking three consecutive times, one of them resulting in the Haller squad's final run.

San Francisco Mayor John Shelley, who had been visiting the training site since Friday, left camp yesterday and returned to business at City Hall. He had been discussing expansion of Candlestick Park, the Giants' home grounds, with Giant officals.

The city and team officials were trying to work out financial details that would clear the way for expanding the stadium from its present 45,000-seat capacity to 66,000 capacity. Also the expansion would make the park suitable for professional football.

Neither Mayor Shelley nor Giants' president Horace Stoneham would comment on the developments of the talks, but sources close to the two men said red tape had been cleared away that could make the project possible.

Warriors May Win Title While Sitting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors, who need only one victory to clinch the National Basketball Association's Western Division championship, are getting a rest before they meet the second place St. Louis Hawks.

Rick Barry's jammed thumb should heal before the confrontation Friday with the hungary Hawks. Barry, bothered by the thumb, sat out the fourth period and scored only seven points in the Warriors' 115-103 loss to New York yesterday.

That loss and St. Louis' 132-103 victory over Baltimore left the Hawks eight games behind San Francisco. The Warriors have just eight games remaining.

New York's Willis Reed with 43 points and ball hawk Emmet Bryant with several ball thefts prevented the Warriors from icing the title. They also revenged the Warriors' Saturday victory over the Knicks 111-102 in Fresno.

With the Warriors hitting only 30 per cent of their shots from the floor in the first half, the Knicks started for their victory by building up a 71-57 halftime lead. The Warriors pulled to within 85-80, but Bryant swiped two San Francisco passes and assisted in two quick New York layups.

Without Barry in the game, the Warriors were unable to score consistently and the Knicks won easily.

The seriousness of Barry's stubbed thumb was not known, but it was thought he would play Friday.

Trojans Again Win Swim Title

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Before the Pacific - 8 swimming and diving meet at the University of Oregon, experts predicted this might be the first year since 1961 that Southern California was toppled as the conference champion.

It wasn't.

The Trojans piled up seconds and thirds in the semifinals and added three first in Saturday's finals in the 25-yard Oregon pool, winning with 295 points.

Stanford, which was expected to give the Trojans competition, finished second with 229 points, followed by UCLA with 138, Oregon, 111, Washington, 66, California, 27, Oregon State, 7, and Washington State, 6.

The Trojans now go after their fifth straight NCAA title March 23-25 at Michigan State.

Four meet records and one NCAA mark were set in the finals.

The USC 800-yard freestyle relay team of Russ Kidder, Tony Gleason, Dean Willidord and Bill Johnson was timed in 7:05.1, bettering the meet mark of 7:13.9 the same team set in the preliminaries.

Another Trojan victory came in the 100-yard freestyle, where Don Havens swam 46.7, beating the meet record of 47.1 that Oregon's Bob Boyer had set in the preliminaries.

Dick McDermott of USC compiled 402.45 points to win the three-meter diving event.

Stanford had three winners.

Dick Roth swam the 200-yard backstroke in 1:59.2, bettering the meet mark of 2:00.7 set by Bob Bennett of USC in 1965.

Bob Momsen of Stanford on the 200 - yard breaststroke in 2:16.0 and his teammage, Louis Nicolao, won the 100-yard butterfly in 51.7.

Mike Burton of UCLA won the 1,650-yard freestyle in 16:33.6. That bettered the meet record of 17:09.7 set by Oregon's Dick Boyd in 1965, and the NCAA mark of 16:39.9 set by Roy Saari of USC in 1965.

Bob Hachmyer Leads Tourney

Bob Hachmyer piled up 39 points to take the first-round lead in the Indian Valley Men's Golf Club Stableford fifty-four hole tournament yesterday.

Other scorers were Jerry Evans, 37, Frank Kirby and Bill Brady, 36 Bob Cruickshank, 35 Al Randig and Art Sears, 34, Jay Harralson, Ken Boyd and Rowe Waller, 33.

Litchfield Baseballers Win, 18-O!

Litchfield's of San Rafael stayed alive by a spider's thread yesterday.

The defending champions of the San Francisco Winter Baseball League stayed mathematically in the running for a second straight crown by blasting the Spiders, 18-0, unleashing a 23 hit barrage while pitchers Bob De Rosa and Elray Laughlin combined for five-hit, 17-strikeout pitching.

The win still left Litchfield's a game behind New Pisa, which tripped Chops, 13-1, as time is running out. Litchfield's has only one more crack at it with the final weekend of play coming up.

Rich Jeffries cracked a grand slam home run and Dave Barni and Jerry Bosch had four hits each.

Deadly Game . . . Karate Blow Is Fatal To Youth

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A San Mateo youth died Saturday night of a ruptured spleen, the result of a karate blow he received in the Northern California Karate Championships at Civic Auditorium earlier in the day.

He was Daniel F. Stewart, 18, who lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Stewart, at 1600 Echo St., San Mateo.

Deputy Coroner Gerald Davis said Stewart was felled by a severe blow in a bout at about 4 p.m.

A police report said the attending physician gave first aid and permitted the bout to continue for a few minutes.

Stewart went from the auditorium to a friend's house. About 10 p.m. he became ill and was taken to San Francisco General Hospital. He died an hour after he was admitted.

Identity of Stewart's opponent in the karate bout was not disclosed, pending an investigation by police.

SPLISH SPLASH BOGEY—Tommy Aaron, erstwhile leader in the Doral Open in Miami, came up against soggy disaster on the ninth hole yesterday as he sends up a geyser of water trying to free his ball. He not only got wet, but took two penalty strokes for "grounding" his club before this shot. Doug Sanders eventually won. (UPI Telephoto)

Disaster Strikes Aaron

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Doug Sanders came through with a solid 70 while Tommy Aaron could show only a sad smile for his efforts in the final round of Doral Open Golf Tournament yesterday.

Sanders wound up with a nine-under-par 275 to win the $20,000 first prize and Aaron shook his head in disbelief after a quadruple bogey on the ninth hole.

"No," Aaron said, "I don't feel like I'm jinxed."

But many others felt differently when disaster struck the amiable, 30-year-old Georgian just when a big dream — his first victory on the golf trail — seemed about to come true.

WATER HAZARD

A water hazard and an official penalty saddled Aaron with the monstrous quadruple bogey just as the title seemed in his grasp.

And Sanders came through the wreckage to take it away from him.

Aaron had come close before. He had led several other tournaments and finished hot on the heels of the leaders.

But he had never been in such a position as he enjoyed yesterday. Coming up to the 63rd hole, he was 10 under par, leading South African Harold Henning by one stroke and the old pros, Jack Nacklaus and Sanders, by two.

And Aaron was playing better than any of them, refusing to yield to the pressures.

THE NINTH

Then came the ninth, a simple, 181-yard, par-3 hole. His tee shot splashed just off the water's edge into a lake guarding the left side of the green.

The water just covered the ball and Aaron took off a shoe, placed his right foot ankle deep in the water, and blasted out. The ball cleared the water by two feet.

Shaken, Aaron chipped over the green and back and two-putted for a double bogey 5.

He still had hopes until Wade Cagle, assistant tournament supervisor, asked him if he knew that he had rippled the water on his back swing, which would be the same as grounding the club in a sand trap.

WIND

"I told him no," Aaron said. "The wind was high, I was standing in the water, and I had to move when I swung. I think that may have caused the ripples."

He filed a protest but it was not allowed and he took an additional two-stroke penalty.

"I was never so upset by a ruling," Aaron said. "I was never so disturbed by anything in my life. I couldn't come back from it."

Henning and Art Wall tied for second at 276. Nicklaus took fourth at 277.

Aaron, taking a 77 for 287, wound up in a five-way tie for fifth with George Archer, Lionel Herbert, Bobby Nichols and Miller Barber.

UCLA Quint Hopes To End The Same Way It Started

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

All UCLA coach Johnny Wooden can hope for is to finish the season this Saturday the way it began three months ago.

His undefeated and No. 1 ranked Bruins end their regular and Pacific-8 Conference basketball season against traditional rival Southern California.

Way back on Dec. 3, UCLA picked up its first of 25 victories so far by beating USC 105-90 in a non-conference game. UCLA also beat the Trojans 107-83 in the finals of the Los Angeles Classic and 40-35 in an overtime conference game Feb. 4.

Conference champion UCLA had little trouble last Saturday afternoon beating California 103-66—the highest point total ever run up against the Bears. Lew Alcindor scored 30 points.

Meanwhile, USC was taking its second straight two - point loss, 81-79 at Stanford. Washington State needed an overtime period to knock off Oregon 82-79 for the Ducks' 11th conference defeat without a victory and Oregon State beat Washington 69-66 in Seattle.

Washington plays host to Oregon State tonight and Oregon moves on to Seattle to meet Washington.

UCLA is scheduled to continue its season in NCAA championship competition starting March 17 in Corvallis, Ore., against the Western Athletic Conference titlist. Brigham Young and Wyoming first must play off to decide who gets to meet the Bruins.

About the only bright moment in California's loss to UCLA was supplied by 5 - foot - 10 Rusty Critchfield. He scored 28 points, giving him 502 for the season and the California single-cam paign mark.

Sophomore Don Griffin led a Stanford fast break with 30 points, although an Indian stall starting three minutes from the end almost allowed USC to catch up.

Behind 79-72 with 50 seconds to go, the Trojans broke the stall twice and scored five unanswered points before Gary Petersmeyer iced it by sinking both ends of a one-and-one foul shot opportunity for Stanford with 18 seconds left.

Washington State reserve guard Mike Fels replaced starter Ray Stein, who had fouled out, and then really went to work. Fels scored two baskets in the last 18 seconds against Oregon, the last bucket sending the game into overtime.

U.S. Fails To Crack Ski Barrier

OSLO, Norway (AP) — American ski jumpers came up short again in competition against Europe's best at the 75th Holmenkollen jumping classic.

Bjorn Wirkola and Bent Tomtum gave Norway a 1-2 finish in the event yesterday while the best American effort was turned in by John Balfanz of Minneapolis, who placed 45th with leaps of 237 and 236 feet.

A crowd of 70,000 — including King Olaf, Prince Harald and Princess Astrid of Norway — saw Wirkola, a two-time world champion, soar 271 and 269 feet and earn 211.1 points for distance and style. Tomtum, a junior, took second place with 201.9 points on jumps of 269 and 270 feet.

Max Golser of Austria was third with 201.8 points and had the longest jump of the day — 274 feet.

Franz Keller of West Germany took the combined title, based on the jumping event and Saturday's 15-kilometer cross country race, with 258.25 points. John Bower of Auburn, Maine, finished 12th in the combined standings.

years in the service."

So Tracy quit Oregon State and started home. En route, he decided to visit the fishing lodge of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith in the Sierra.

From Bishop, Calif. altitude 4,000 feet, he ran (R-A-N, that is) the 17 miles up ,(U-P, that is) from Bishop to the lodge, altitude 8,400.

To his great surprise he did it, in bitter cold, in 2 hours, 17 minutes—2 minutes faster than he had on three previous summer runs.

Greatly encouraged by that, and by four days of camping out in the clear, cold Sierra, he came to Oakland.

"I would have been happy to finish second or third," Tracy said. "I still doubted my condition."

GREAT AID

He said the crowd's roaring, standing ovation helped greatly. And he personally thanked Britain's Derek Graham for "setting a perfect pace." The first quarter was run in 64 seconds and the first mile in 4:13.

It was the greatest three-mile race, ever. Graham, 13:25.9, faded to fourth. Oscar Moore, Southern Illinois, 13:22.2, was second and Van Nelson, St. Cloud, Minn., 13:23.9, third.

Sam Bell, who recruited Tracy to Oregon State — then himself moved to the University of California-Berkeley, as track coach—sees his young find as "a potential Olympics champion in 1968 at 5,000 or 10,000 meters or possibly the steeplechase — whatever distance he chooses."

Racial Barriers Keep Crumbling In Dixie

ATLANTA (AP) — Racial barriers which have kept Negroes out of college athletics in Dixie are continuing to crumble, with Georgia Tech joining the growing list of Southern schools recruiting Negro athletes.

However, the whites only sign still is up unofficially in athletics at many Southern campuses despite integration of high school sports in most of Dixie.

Georgia Tech's decision to actively recruit Negroes was disclosed Saturday after two all-Negro teams had battled into the finals of the formerly all-white Georgia high school basketball championship, with Negroes also playing on other teams in the tournament.

Athletic Director Bobby Dodd said Georgia Tech "will recruit any athlete we feel is good enough both athletically and in school," and he said a Negro football player was offered an athletic grant but failed to meet the school's stiff scholastic requirements.

Several other major colleges in the South have Negroes on their freshman teams or are recruiting Negroes this winter.

Vanderbilt has two Negroes on its frosh basketball team, including standout Perry Wallace, who rooms with a white athlete. Two Negroes on Kentucky's freshman football team last fall are expected to become the first of their race to play football in the Southeastern Conference next fall.

Negroes have never competed in any sport on a varsity level in the SEC except baseball, where Tulane's Steve Martin played conference rivals last spring before the Green Wave dropped out of the league.

Tennessee has been wooing a Negro football standout from South Carolina this winter, and Louisiana State has expressed interest in signing a Negro prep basketball star from New Orleans.

Miami recently signed its first Negro to a football grant, and Negroes have gone out on their own for sports at Georgia and Florida, although none was given an athletic grant and neither school is actively recruiting Negroes.

Alabama Athletic Director Paul (Bear) Bryant, who also coaches football, told a national television audience last fall that segregation no longer is a problem for the Crimson Tide, but no Negroes have ever been on athletic teams there, and there are no plans now to recruit them.

Auburn also is not pursuing Negroes, and neither is Mississippi State or Mississippi, where Coach Johnny Vaught said last fall he would not be around when a Negro was found good enough to play football at Ole Miss.

Southeastern Conference officials say they expect integration to come quietly next year in football and basketball, and the subject never was officially discussed at a recent league meeting.

However, a national magazine said Mississippi canceled two freshman basketball games against Vanderbilt because of the Commodores' Negroes.

Ole Miss officials said the cancellation came because of travel problems, and pointed out they have been playing football teams with Negro players.

World Skating Champions May Repeat At Olympics

VIENNA (AP) — The world's best figure skaters — past and present — said the winners in the 1967 World Figure Skating Championships will dominate the competition next year in the Winter Olympics.

They say there is nobody yet who can match the grace and precision of Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., in the women's skating.

They say that Emmerich Danzer, the Viennese grocer's son, still is supreme in the men's division and that Russia's Ludmila Belousova and Oleg Protopopov, although both in their 30s, can still hold off a pack of talented young challengers.

And all agree that England's Diane Towler and Bernard Ford are the best of the ice dancers.

Dick Button, one of the world's all-time great figure skaters and now a television sports producer, made this prediction for the 1968 winter Olympics at Grenoble, France:

"If this year's winners skate as good as they can, they will win again."

Two-time women's champ, Miss Fleming, an 18-year-old Colorado college freshman, put the finger on Karen Magnussen of Canada as an up-and-comer. At 14, Miss Magnussen was the youngest skater in the women's compeition and finished 12th.

"She is a fireball on ice," Miss Fleming said, "and she has the temperament and talent to be a champion."

Asked about her plans, blue-eyed Peggy said she was thinking only as far ahead as the Olympic Games.

Carlo Fassi, Miss Fleming's coach and a two-time European champion, tabbed Czechoslovakia's Hana Maskova and Miss Magnussen as Peggy's top challengers.

The Czech girl, a long-legged, 17-year-old Prague high school student, finished third behind Miss Fleming and East Germany's Gabriele Seyfert.

"I don't think she is yet good enough to beat Peggy," Fassi said.

Men's champ Danzer, a tall, good-looking 22-year-old, said he would turn professional after the Olympic Games.

"I think I can win the Olympic title," he said, "and after that there will be nothing left for me to win."

Danzer singled out countryman Wolfgang Schwarz and Gary Visconti of Detroit to scramble for the titles when he leaves the amateur scene.

Schwarz led Danzer in the compulsory figures but Danzer edged him out for the title with a brilliant free skating program. Visconti surged from fifth in the compulsories to an over-all third, despite a spill in the free skating finale.

Lorna Dyer and John Carrell of Seattle, Wash., were second in the dance competition and Scott Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., was fifth in the men's division. Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of Settle were third in the pairs event.

The International Skating Union has arranged a European exhibition tour for 21 of the top finishers in the four divisions. The trip begins Tuesday in Graz, Austria, and includes London, Paris, Frankfurt and Moscow. It ends March 23.

All the gold medalists will be along.

University Of Pacific Breaks WCAC Jinx

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of the Pacific has broken a peculiar jinx.

And none too soon.

In the eight year history of the West Coast Athletic Conference Christmas Tournament, not one winner of that event has gone on to capture the conference championship.

The Tigers ended all that foolishness last Saturday night by clinching the title with an impressive 102-77 victory over UC Santa Barbara.

And the last WCAC tournament, in which UOP beat San Francisco for the title, was the last. Conference members decided they saw enough of each other during the league season and wanted to play teams from outside the area during tournament time.

Pacific now moves on to the NCAA Far West Regionals March 17-18 at Corvallis, Ore., where the Tigers will meet the winner of a preliminary contest between Seattle and Texas Western.

First they must play two more WCAC games the next weekend.

The Tigers now are 21-3 overall, 12-0 in conference play and have won 18 in a row.

Once again, burly 6-foot-7 Keith Swagerty lead the Tigers to victory, scoring 20 points and taking down 23 rebounds as UOP swept the boards 83-52 against Santa Barbara.

The Tigers actually didn't have to win to clinch their second straight WCAC crown. For Loyola of Los Angeles defeated Santa Clara 79-70 behind Rick Ragsdale's 26 points and moved into a second-place tie with the Broncos.

Ragsdale set a WCAC free throw record by hitting all of his eight opportunities for 34 straight from the foul line without a miss.

Steve Ebey scored 30 points for Pepperdine as the Waves defeated the University of San Francisco 90-72 for the Dons' fifth straight loss.

San Jose State's Jim Meyer collected 24 points a sth Spartans came back for a 68-64 victory over last-place St. Mary's.

Fiery Pancho Loses Match

NEW YORK (AP) — Stormy Pancho Gonzales fell victim to a temper tantrum and cool young Rod Laver breezed in to the title in the International Pro Invitational Tennis Tournament yesterday.

The break came after the 10th game of the third set, in which the 38-year-old Gonzales had been aced. Gonzales stormed to the net and shouted at the Australian:

"Take more time on that serve. You've quick-served me 10 times."

He then lost his serve at 15-40 in the 11th game, doublefaulting the last point. That gave Laver a 7-5, 14-16, 6-5 lead. Laver easily held service to win the 12th game and the third set and swept past Gonzales 6-2 in the final set.

Marriage License For Net Star

A marriage license yesterday was issued to Harvey Raymond Klyce, 21, of San Rafael and to Elizabeth Ann Palmer, 21, of 15 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley.

The bride-elect, daughter of Dr. Robert Palmer of Mill Valley, is the oldest of six children.

A graduate of San Rafael High School, where he earned four letters and captained the tennis team for three years, the future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Klyce of 122 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael.

Harvey, who is among seven University of California, Irvine, netters currently touring San Francisco Bay Area this weekend, attended Washington University, St. Louis, before a one-year stay at College of Marin—during which time he was the No. 1 man and ranked No. 7 junior college net player in Northern California in "18 and under division," in 1965.

The Anteaters from UCI met Stanford last Thursday, UC Berkeley yesterday, and will take on San Jose State today.

Klyce last year was instrumental in leading UC Irvine to a 12-3 dual-match record in its first year of intercollegiate competition, and presently is ranked No. 2 on the seven-man Anteater squad.

Petty Is Fireball Winner

WEAVERVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Richard Petty, no stranger to the victory circle at the Asheville-Weaverville Speedway, found a different way of getting there yesterday.

He used Junior Johnson's old groove around the half-mile track to score a two-lap victory in a Plymouth in the second annual Fireball 300 stock car race. He also won last year.

Petty used Johnson's favorite path off the high-banked turns to outrun Junior's own car, a 1967 Ford driven by Darel Dieringer.

Johnson, now retired from driving, thrilled fans with his mad dashes high off the second and fourth turns, almost scraping paint off the concrete retaining wall as he roared down the straightaways.

That was the way Petty drove, although he said he hadn't tried to find a different groove, "I just drive different than everybody else."

FORCED WAY

After trailing Dieringer for 103 laps, Petty forced his way around the big yellow Ford in the third and fourth turns and then, one by one, laid his competition in the shade.

Dieringer's was the only car that would run with Petty's. The rest of the field was down for the count after 150 laps.

Bobby Allison took the lead for 24 laps at the 119th lap after Petty and Dieringer made their first pit stops. But Petty passed him on the 144th to regain the lead.

After that it was a duel between Petty and Dieringer.

Petty ran the race in 1 hour, 45 minutes, and 58 seconds at a record speed of 83.360 miles per hour.

He was more than a lap ahead of Dieringer.

Rounding out the top 10 in order were Allison, Chevelle; David Pearson, Dodge; John Sears, Ford; J. T. Putney, Chevelle, Paul Lewis, Dodge, Elmo Langley, Ford; Clyde Lynn, Ford, and Wendell Scott, Ford.

The Grand National cars move to Spartanburg, S.C., for a 100-mile race next Saturday afternoon, and on to Hillsborough, N.C., the next day for the 150-mile Joe Weatherly Memorial Race.

Clay, Folley Examined For Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Both Cassius Clay, the world heavyweight champion, and challenger Zora Folley were scheduled for licensing and physical examinations today by the New York Athletic Commission in preparation for the title bout in New York March 22.

Clay is expected to leave the city immediately after the formalities for a training camp in the Catskills, about 100 miles from New York. Folley also will train in the Catskills, but will remain in New York about three days.

"Man, it's hard to believe," Folley said last night as he prepared to break camp in Chandler, Ariz., for the move to New York. "It's hard to believe. It's been so long."

Folley, 34, has been ranked among the heavyweight contenders for 10 years but has never before had a championship fight.

"He (Clay) at least was decent enough to give me a shot at the title," Folley said. "That's more than I can say for the rest of the champions."

TWO PINCH HIT CHANCES

White Sox Try Experiment

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's October, 1972, and Willie Mays, who is 41 years old, has 713 lifetime home runs, just one less than Babe Ruth's career total. The Giants and Dodgers are tied for the National League lead and are playing each other on the last day of the season.

The Dodgers lead 1-0 in the eighth inning and Mays, used only as a pinch hitter now, bats for the pitcher. He lines the second pitch into the leftfield stands, tying the game and Ruth's record. The crowd goes crazy, but they are waiting for the next inning

The Dodgers go out in order in the ninth and so do the first two Giants and then — what's this? — Mays pinch hits again. Another homer for Willie, who breaks Ruth's record and wins the pennant for the Giants?

Impossible, you say? Against the rules? Maybe not if an experiment now being tried in the Chicago White Sox' spring training camp at Sarasota, Fla., works out.

The Sox announced yesterday they had been given permission to use the same pinch hitter twice in any game against American League opponents during eight games of the grapefruit season. The other teams will have the same option.

The only restrictions are that the batter to be used twice must be designated before the game starts and that he can't bat twice in the same inning.

Eddie Stanky, White Sox manager, said, "Both basketball and football have changed their rules for the fans and we should do the same. Furthermore, this means the specialists can stay around longer and when expansion comes again we can get by with smaller player limits."

Ruken Sets Sights On Kentucky

ARCADIA (AP) — The newly crowned Santa Anita Derby winner, Ruken, will try his luck in the Kentucky Derby May 6, owner-breeder Louis Rowan of nearby Pasadena said yesterday.

Rowan, a wealthy socialite and a former top polo player who served under Gen. George Patton in the Armored Cavalry in World War 11, said that jockey Fernando Alvarez, who rode Ruken Saturday, is his choice for the Kentucky Derby ride.

Alvarez, 29, a native of Chile who has been riding in this country since 1963, has never ridden in the run for the Roses. But he is no stranger to the jewelled race in the Triple Crown. In 1964 he was second on Roman Brother in the Belmont Stakes, behind Quadrangle.

Santa Anita Derby is raced at 1⅛ miles. Can Ruken travel 1¼ miles at Churchill Downs?

"Oh yes," said Alvarez positively.

Ruken, incidentally, is named —there was a slight mixup in the spelling—for J. Rukin Jelks, an old Arizona horseman friend of Mr. and Mrs. Rowan.

Ruken won by 1½ lengths over the favorite, Tumble Wind.

Asked if he were worried about Bill Shoemaker's mount, Alvarez replied, "I worry about Tumble Wind all the time, even before the race."

Chicago Bulls Might Make It To Playoffs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A berth in the National Basketball Association playoffs —just a dream for the Chicago Bulls a few months ago—may become a reality in a few weeks.

The Bulls, newly-created expansion team in the NBA this season, moved to within a half game of the Detroit Pistons in the battle for fourth place in the Western Division yesterday with a 113-106 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

Bob Boozer scored 16 of his 26 points in the fourth period to hold off the Royals who outscored the Bulls 32-29 in that session. The Bulls led by as many as 12 points midway through the third period and went into the final period with an 84-74 lead.

Guy Rodgers scored 29 points to lead the Bulls while Oscar Robertson had 37 for the Royals.

The Philadelphia 76ers dealt the Pistons' playoff hopes a sharp blow by beating them 131-106. Wilt Chamberlain scored a season low of 10 points but had 25 rebounds and 16 assists. Hal Greer had 31 for the 76ers and player-coach Dave DeBusschere had 18 for the Pistons.

Sam Jones scored 22 points to lead the Boston Celtics to a 130-105 decision over the Los Angeles Lakers. Zelmo Beaty's 38 points paced the St. Louis Hawks to a 132-103 win over the Baltimore Bullets and Willis Reed had 43 points as the New York Knickerbockers beat the San Francisco Warriors 115-103 in other games.

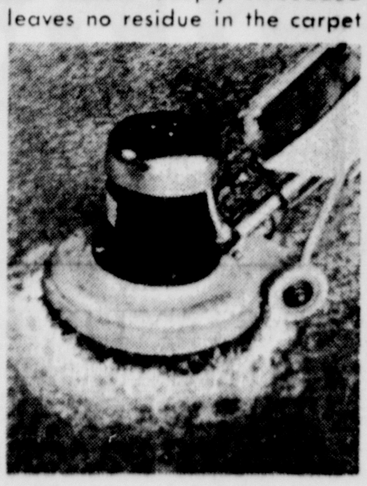
DEEP STEAM Wall to Wall Carpet Cleaning

This unique new process cleans deep and yet treats the finest carpet with loving care...

DEEP STEAM removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing. Since no brushes or scrubbing action are used, there is no distortion of the carpet pile. The powerful extraction action of the DEEP STEAM process lifts matted pile to "like new" appearance. The need of frequent professional cleaning is reduced because deeply embedded soil is removed and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt.

OLD

The old equipment with brushes, using liquid detergent or powder, scrubs the soil DEEPER into the fabric . . . and even with the help of a vacuum fails to remove soil or residue. The detergent or powder left in the fabric soon attracts more soil and it is not long before the soil works back to the surface. Soon your carpets appear more soiled than before!



THIS DEEP STEAM PROCESS IS GUARANTEED TO BE COMPLETELY SAFE ON ALL FABRICS UNDER ALL CONDITIONS!

The advantages of DEEP STEAM CLEANING are obvious!

Ship Captain Free In Embassy

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —A Russian captain charged with operating his fishing vessel in "clear cut and obvious violation" of U.S. territorial waters was free today in the custody of a Soviet embassy official pending a plea to the federal charge.

The trawler skipper, brought here to enter his formal plea in federal court, has denied the charge.

Capt. Nichmolai Zernov said in Kodiak yesterday his 187-foot trawler was not fishing a mile of the Alaska coast, as the Coast Guard charged, but had moved close to shore to make engine repairs.

Bolinas Lagoon Discussion On Agenda For Supervisors

Extension of a freeze on development in and around Bolinas Lagoon and discussion of methods of promoting development elsewhere in Marin will be topics before county supervisors tomorrow.

The board meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

Freeze on Bolinas development was established under an emergency ordinance 90 days ago. Tomorrow's hearing at 2 p.m. will be on extension of the freeze for up to a year.

At 3 p.m., county administrator Alan Bruce will remind supervisors that they must decide how the promotion and development budget will be set up and administered.

The board decided several weeks ago that the job of economic development director should be abolished May 1, but there was no provision made for alternate operation. Bruce has recommended that the budget be administered by his office.

At 4:30 p.m., the supervisors, with two city representatives, will sit as directors of the Marin Transit District to consider a request for $5,000 to launch a study of "balanced transportation" in Marin and review bridge engineer Arthur C. Jenkins' review of consultants Cloverdale and Colpitt's review of commuter bus service in Marin.

The transit board is also to consider Supervisor Peter H. Behr's suggestion that buses use the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way as reversible, exclusive lanes.

Candidates For Boards To Talk

Candidates for trustee boards in Kentfield, Tamalpais High School and Marin Junior College will speak at Wolfe Grade School Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The candidates night preparatory to the April 18 election, is planned by the three Parent-Teacher Associations of Kentfield School District. Kentfield Supt. Tony Bacich will be host and moderator.

Questions will be invited after brief talks by the candidates. A coffee session to meet the candidate will follow, according to Mrs. John Streiff, chairman.

Auto Safety Bill Readied

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Frederick J. Bear, D-San Diego, planned today to introduce a bill requiring annual inspection of automobiles two years or more old.

Bear said his measure also would qualify California for federal funds to help support a highway safety program.

The legislation provides for inspection of automobiles by privately-licensed garages, service stations and authorized insection stations. Each motorist would have to pay $2 each year for inspection of his car.

Bear said a California Highway Patrol random inspection of 304,000 cars last year found that 39.5 per cent of the vehicles were defective. "Such a large number of defects clearly establishes a need for regular annual vehicle inspection," he said.

Roof Damaged

An overheated fireplace set fire to the roof of the home of Patrick J. Hunt, 25 Corte Precita, Greenbrae, yesterday at 7:55 p.m., causing damage estimated at $200, according to Larkspur fire department.

Seal pups weigh 60 to 70 pounds at birth.

Minor Accident Injuries Sustained

Jessie Taylor, 63, of 10 Gilbert, Street, California Park, suffered chest bruises and a nose bleed when his car failed to negotiate a southbound turn off Highway 101 into the Belvedere-Tiburon ramp and struck a guard rail at 5:25 p.m. Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Taylor was treated at Marin General Hospital.
